M'GOVERN WINS NOMINATION; VOTERS CRUSH 'ORGANIZATION'

Today

This Is Boston.

Strange Manicure Lady.

An Engineer Police Manager.

And Manager Curley Plays Golf.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 17.

RETAIL MERCHANTS from many cities, here, discussing retailing and its problems find the spirit of Massachusetts cheerful, with the end of the unseasonable hot weather promising better business.

AT 8:30 O'CLOCK yesterday Gov. Ely, of Massachusetts, expressed at breakfast the definite opinion that conditions are better and will continue getting better.

The first Democratic governor Massachusetts has had in a long time, he looks to one who has seen many governors like an able individual.

He has a good gray eye, a strong chin, a well developed back head, and no objection to a fight if anybody suggests it.

Boston says he has made good appointments.

ONE of the Governor's ideas for employing the idle will interest other states. He has spent $250,000 fighting mosquitoes in Cape Cod. Every dollar goes in wages to men that dig narrow drainage ditches. The mosquitoes are discouraged, and the state will get it all back in increased land values and taxation.

YOU SEE strange things in Boston. A manicure lady in the Copley Plaza barber shop wears spectacles with heavy horn rims. She isn't even a brilliant blonde, and her dark hair has no permanent or other wave.

The New York cloak-and-suit type man who was having his finger nails made an unnatural pink was having a dull time.

UNUSUAL also is Boston's Police Commissioner, Eugene C. Hultman, an engineer, not a politician, and interested in making it possible for the citizen who wants a policeman to get one.

He says "unless a citizen anywhere in Boston can get a policeman within two minutes after all my new signals are in working order, I shall consider myself a failure." This writer at police signal station pulled down a little hook, and this happened.

Three policemen came on motorcycles, a patrol wagon rolled up, two policemen came in an automobile, carrying a re extinguisher, and all in less than three minutes. Mayors and Police Commissioners of other cities may want to ask Commissioner Hultman and Mayor Curley of Boston about that.

IT WAS ONE of Mayor Curley's many busy days, and you would not willingly disturb him. He was presenting prizes on the municipal golf links, with a mellifluous speech with each prize. Later he played a round with Ouimet as his partner against Chauncey Williams and Fred Wright. Mr. Williams is the Sears Roebuck manager, Mr. Wright is an expert player. The odds were on Mayor Curley AND OUIMET.

IT IS PLEASING, as you pass Mayor Curley's red brick residence on Jamaica way, to observe an indestructible shamrock hanging in each window.

WHEN YOU VISIT Boston, secure if possible, on your explorations, the companionship of Police Lieut. O'Dea. Two police motorcycles go ahead of him, traffic and obstacles melt away.

If Dante had had such a guide in the place of Virgil, he would have seen Paradise, Purgatory, and the infernal regions with Satan at the bottom, in half a day.

BOSTON POLICE are carrying their revolvers on the outside in a belt. A "gun" in a hip pocket, hard to draw, makes it easy for the criminal to shoot first. Other cities should adopt that plan.

MASSACHUSETTS is talking a good deal about "Coolidge for President in 1932." Five or six hundred automobiles drive every day to his simple village house, look at it and hope they will see him. It is not as big a crowd as the one that visits Lenin's embalmed body on the Red Square in Moscow. But Mr. Coolidge happily is not dead, far from it.

HIS VERY intimate friend that went to school with him and is supposed to know "all about Calvin Coolidge" says Mr. Coolidge will surely be a very receptive candidate. He knows it "by certain signs; Calvin is always a little restless when he means to start something."

THE FACT is nobody knows ALL about Mr. Coolidge or in fact ANYTHING about Mr. Coolidge.

And Mr. Coolidge knows the difference between traveling on a prosperity wave and dragging the toboggan uphill after it has struck bottom.

THERE WAS mild excitement in this neighborhood over the recent execution of a Mr. Hurley who murdered a policeman while on a robbery expedition. He had murdered Joseph P. O'Brien, a policeman, and was the first man to be executed for such a murder. Gov. Ely, who had commuted sentences of some others convicted of murder, did not like the fact that Hurley shot the policeman down with one bullet and then sent three more into his body.

Hurley at first had scoffed at religion "and man-made laws" but spent his last hour praying with Father Ralph W. Farrell, prison chaplain. Opinions on religion change when death comes close.

GOVERNOR TO CALL SESSION

Will Ask $10,000,000 in 'Prosperity Bonds' for Assistance to Jobless

Associated Press

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—(AP.) — Gov. Pinchot today announced he would call an extra session of the Legislature to consider the unemployment problem. The time for the calling has not yet been decided, he said.

The extra session will be held before the end of this year and will be for no other purpose than relief of unemployment, the Governor said.

The Governor said that when he previously announced that he would call an extra session on utility legislation no one could foresee the unemployment situation developing into a "nation-wide catastrophe." He said:

NEEDED LEGISLATION

"This is no time to complicate urgently needed legislation for unemployment relief by the long struggle which would be brought upon us by the inclusion of the public utilities issue, important and necessary as consideration of it unquestionably is."

The Governor said he would recommend to the legislature authorization of long term "prosperity bonds" contingent upon the adoption of a validating constitutional amendment. The amendment would be passed under the Governor's plan in the extra session and in the next regular session and then would come before the electorate in 1933.

ASKS $10,000,000

The amount of the bonds has been set tentatively at $10,000,000.

The proposed bonds would have no real value at the date of issue. Their purchase, in an effort to

LINK WOMAN IN KANE DEATH

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT

International News Service.

HAMPTON, Va., Sept. 17. — The case against Elisha Kent Kane, former Bradford (Pa.) educator and University of Tennessee language professor, held here in connection with the death of his pretty young wife, Jenny Graham Kane, took a startling and sinister turn today when Coroner George K. Vanderslice appeared in State Circuit Court and charged that "another woman" had suggested to Prof. Kane that he get rid of his wife.

Mrs. Kane was drowned in Chesapeake Bay while swimming with her husband and the circumstances were such that the local authorities are holding the professor for murder.

The other woman, Coroner Vanderslice charged, is "Betty Dodd," who signed her letters to the young professor with the initials "E. H. D."

Commonwealth Attorney Roland D. Cook said Miss Dodd was an employe of the United States liner America.

On the basis of the Coroner's accusations, Judge C. Vernon Sprately again denied bail to Prof. Kane, and he was remanded to jail for another hearing tomorrow.

The letter which the Coroner said contained the suggestion that Mrs. Kane could be got rid of was not produced in court by the Coroner. He did, however, produce another letter which he said "Betty Dodd" had written Kane, suggesting that they "would go

ARMSTRONG TRAILING BY 2,629 VOTES; 5 DISTRICTS OUT

By MARK SHIELDS

Except for the election of Magistrate William J. Soost to City Council and Sheriff Robert Cain as County Treasurer, the wreckage of the City-County Republican organization in Tuesday's primary election appears to have been complete.

Returns late this afternoon, with five districts missing out of 932 in the county, showed Senator William D. Mansfield and County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern the two Republican nominees for County Commissioner. County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the county board for eight years, czar of county politics, trailed McGovern by approximately 2,600 votes, and Senator James J. Coyne, co-boss with Mayor Kline of the city organization, lagged in fourth place, his hopes blasted by voters outside of Pittsburgh.

McGovern's lead, early this morning totaling almost 5,000, had dwindled to 2,629 when all but five districts had been reported. The late tabulations showed:

Mansfield	178,332
McGovern	139,916
Armstrong	137,287
Coyne	133,175

The districts yet to report were comparatively small, and representative of territory favorable both to McGovern and Armstrong. Mansfield was certain to be high man, with a margin of nearly 30,000 votes over McGovern.

ARMSTRONG HOPES FADE

Early this morning supporters of Armstrong predicted that outstanding districts would enable him to pass McGovern, but as reports trickled in the hopes of the "Old Gray Mayor" faded, though he declined to concede defeat.

McGovern's lead was cut by more than a thousand as missing districts of Rankin, Homestead and Coraopolis turned in big majorities for Armstrong, but a scanning of the totals showed that a higher ratio of difference would be required. A Wilmerding district turned in a McGovern majority.

Mayor Kline, supporting a four-man councilmanic slate in a battle for "vindication" of his administration, found the people turning thumbs down on all but one of his entries, and that one, Soost, was in fourth place.

Former Councilman P. J. McArdle and Councilmen Robert Garland and Charles Anderson, running as independents, their platform almost wholly an attack on the Kline government, led the ticket. After Soost came Councilman Robert Alderdice and Representative James P. Rooney, Kline men. John D. Houston, independent, was seventh and Councilman John M. Phillips, on the Kline slate, brought up the rear.

COUNCIL VOTE

In the councilmanic race, with 27 districts out of the city's 406 missing, the standings were:

McArdle	79,417
Anderson	76,088
Garland	75,268
Soost	73,310
Alderdice	70,682
Rooney	70,137
Houston	66,847
Phillips	57,280

McGovern late this afternoon declared he was certain of elec-

ASK IMPOUNDING OF BALLOTS

The Independent Republican party, headed by County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, late this afternoon was filing petitions in Common Pleas Court asking that ballot boxes of seven city wards, all of Homestead, and most of Braddock, McKees Rocks, Rankin and Wilmerding be impounded, where the Independents fear fraud may be prepetrated either by "stuffing" or fraudulent counting.

The seven city wards are the First, Second, Sixth, Seventeenth, Twentieth, Twenty-second and Twenty-third.

More than 100 ballot boxes had been impounded previously.

With the official count scheduled to start at noon tomorrow, six election boards worked until the early hours this morning tabulating their districts in the Sheriff's office. They were brought in because of interference after protection had been asked.

Three were from the Sixth Ward, one from the Eighth, and one from the Twenty-first. The board from the Fourteenth District of the Twelfth Ward had not completed its count late last chairs in a Common Pleas Court jury room, resuming their labors this morning.

While the Sheriff guarded the election boards, watchmen from the Independent Republican headquarters and city police guarded the hallway of the Elections Bureau, sixth floor of the Bride and Ex-Actor Plan Honeymoon In Canada

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Sept. 17.—Ward McCallister, 39, an actor, who gave up the grease paint for the grime of a garage which he started here four years ago, and Irene Reynolds, 18, daughter of a mill worker, are in New York preparing for a Canadian honeymoon, the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Reynolds, learned today.

McCallister, whose stage career included work in early "movie" thrillers and Broadway dramatic roles, and the girl have been friends since he first came here.

About a week ago Irene disappeared from her home, leaving a note:

Interviewed in New York about the elopement, McCallister said:

POLICE DOOMED FOR VOTE SLIPS

The taste of Tuesday's crushing defeat at the polls still bitter, Mayor Charles H. Kline today was formulating plans for a drastic police shake-up in an effort to rebuild his shattered vote organization.

This became known after Public Safety Director James M. Clark and Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh were called to the Mayor's office this morning for a long conference.

Clark leaves tonight for a five-week trip to Europe. Walsh becoming acting director. Walsh is expected to make the first wholesale dismissals, promotions and transfers about October 1.

FAULKNER MAY GO

Among those reported slated for dismissal were:

Police Inspectors Dennis Hennessey, of the South Side, Joseph Elsner, of the Strip, and possibly

Mather's Son Kills Self In Grief for Mother

PAINESVILLE, O., Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Discarding a theory of accidental death, Coroner O. O. Hausch, of Lake County, today returned a verdict of suicide in the death of Samuel Livingston Mather, Jr., 15, son of S. Livingston Mather, prominent Cleveland financier.

Despondency over the death of his mother, Mrs. Grace Mather, last June 24, and a prolonged illness with asthma, were given as the causes for the suicide by Coroner Hausch.

Young Mather, who was a grandson of Samuel Mather, Cleveland philanthropist, died in his room at the home of his father, Mt. Glen Farm, Mentor, O., yesterday. The death was not reported by members of his family for several hours.

The youth's body was found dangling from a belt which had been fastened to the top of a door in his room. He left no note to explain his action.

CHERBOURG, France, Sept. 17.—(INS.)—S. Livingston Mather, president of the Cleveland Cliffs Corporation, was shocked almost speechless today when International News Service informed him of the death of his son. Mather had just come from the United States for a tour of Europe.

Gandhi Warns Britain, 'Fish or Cut Bait'

By CHARLES A. SMITH

International News Service.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Mahatma M. K. Ghandi today sharply demanded that the British government make some concrete proposals with regard to the future status of India for the India round table conference to discuss.

Gandhi, who on Tuesday presented a demand for complete political and economic independence for India, declared the round table conference had turned into a debating society.

Unless the government could make some concrete proposals for the conference to discuss, they were wasting the time of men who had traveled a long distance to attend the conference, he said.

The Mahatma's declaration was considered little short of an ultimatum to the government to "fish or cut bait."

Meanwhile, undismayed by threats against his life, Gandhi made preparations today for a visit to the Lancashire cotton mill area, hard hit by his campaign in favor of home spinning by natives of his country.

$1,250,000 Fire Threatens Leeds

LEEDS, England, Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Fire which for a time threatened complete destruction to the business district of Leeds, one of Britain's largest industrial cities, was brought under control shortly before noon today after almost 12 hours of effort.

An entire block of shops, a warehouse and extensive office property were destroyed by the flames. The damage was estimated at $1,250,000.

HOOVER CITES FAVORABLE SIGNS FOR NATION'S BUSINESS

HELP FOR LABOR SEEN IN 5-DAY WORK WEEK

Proposals Probably Will Be Put Up to Committee Led by Aide of Gifford

By MERCIER S. RUKEYSER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A visit to the White House reveals that President Hoover is unimpressed with the validity of prevailing pessimism concerning the economic outlook. A student of economic history, the chief executive recalls that in past depressions a climax of blueness frequently came just before the process of recovery was visible. He knows that the country emerged from the depression of 1873 like a thief in the night.

At the executive office it was learned that the engineer-in-command pooh-poohs that small business units are currently enjoying abnormal prosperity that big business units which are standardized. This difference is ascribed to the capacity of small business men, who dominate their own concerns, to turn about quickly and to adapt their operations speedily to changing conditions. The comparatively favorable state of trade in New England, where small units prevail, is cited.

HIDDEN TALENTS SHOWN

Until the panic there had been [illegible] noteworthy drift of [illegible] toward big business at the expense of little business. But the depression has disclosed that the capable small business man [illegible] resources in mobility and quick adaptability.

The first concern of the administration in touch with economic conditions through frequent recent conferences with industrial and financial leaders recognizes that there is a fundamental challenge in the present maladjusted economic situation. The President, it is understood, perceives the need of examining the whole question of the redistribution of leisure among the working population.

He leans to the view that perhaps the supply and demand for human workers could be better balanced through adoption generally by business of the five-day week, for example, but sees a practical stumbling block in the disposition of organized labor to insist on six days' pay for a five-day week.

TASK FOR COMMITTEE

The administration is disposed to refer the question of the practicality of suggestions for shorter work weeks and work days and other fundamental proposals concerning labor management to a committee headed by Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago banker, who is operating under the general aegis of Walter S. Gifford, head of the Bell Telephone System and generalissimo of the Hoover relief forces.

Public emphasis has been given chiefly to the charity co-ordinating roll of the Gifford setup, but the President, it is understood, regards it as an economic general staff to consider all ways and means of restoring prosperity.

The President is understood to be keeping an open mind on the question of taxation, and will not commit himself until the new budget is prepared and there is more precise information as to the probable income and outgo.

The President is refraining from making predictions concerning the near term future of business, though he is confident of ultimate recovery.

STRIKING 'TARS' FACE BRITISH MAILED FIST

Admiralty Warns That 'Kid Gloves' Will Be Shed In Forestalling Mutiny

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The British government has done with handling striking or mutinous seamen of its navy with kid gloves, and any further resistance against orders will be met with an iron hand, Sir Austen Chamberlain, First Lord of the Admiralty, intimated today.

Rising in the House of Commons when the question of the "passive resistance strike" of the enlisted men of the British Atlantic fleet was raised for discussion, Sir Austen said:

"Any further refusal by individuals to carry out orders will be dealt with under the naval discipline act. This order will be promulgated in the fleet forthwith."

Meanwhile, temporarily victorious in their unprecendented "strike" for cancellation of recent pay cuts, some 12,000 sailors of the British Navy were en route to their home ports from Invergordon, Scotland.

Sixteen ships of the Atlantic fleet held in Invergordon Harbor since the trouble developed a week ago, weighed anchor and proceeded to Portsmouth, Devonport and Chatham to await fulfilment of the government's promise "to make proposals for alleviating hardships."

Departure of the various battleships and battle cruisers including some of the largest and most modern fighting vessels in the world, was marked by another demonstration on the part of the resentful Jack Tars aimed at showing they were still "masters of the situation."

Were it not for the fact that really serious economic considerations on behalf of the sailors are involved, the disaffection thus far would appear to have been of the comic opera variety.

Each show of resistance to orders has been preceded by a call for lusty cheers for the King, designed to show that the seamen are in no way disloyal to the flag or to the crown.

AIMEE'S MATE ANSWERS LOVE SUIT CHARGES

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17.—An answer to the charges of Myrtle H. J. St. Pierre's $200,000 breach of promise suit was on file in Superior Court here today in behalf of David L. Hutton, newly wed husband of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton.

The answer was in the form of a categorial denial of all the accusations contained in Miss St. Pierre's suit. The 29-year-old nurse contends that Hutton betrayed her under promise of marriage several months before the baritone choir singer eloped last Sunday with the evangelist to Yuma, Ariz.

SCORNS SETTLEMENT

Meanwhile, Miss St. Pierre today reiterated her willingness to make an out-of-court settlement. But, from San Francisco, where Hutton and Aimee are en route to a revival campaign to be held in Portland, Ore., came word that the baritone would refuse to negotiate for any settlement. Hutton said:

"The only settling I am going to do is to settle down happily married with this marvelous woman I have married."

Supplementing her formal charges, Miss St. Pierre told newspapermen additional details of her alleged romance with Hutton. She said she met Hutton last January at a dinner party, adding:

"He held my right hand so much during the dinner that I was forced to eat most of the time with my left hand. As soon as I was introduced to him he said to Mrs. Anthony (the hostess): 'What an adorable girl—such a gorgeous creature! Why haven't I met her before?'"

STILL HOLDS HAND

After the dinner, Miss St. Pierre said, Hutton followed her into the parlor of the house and continued to hold her hand. He drove her home from the party, she said, and "put his arms about me."

Hutton was chivalrous, according to the nurse, who explained:

"He would rise when I entered the room. He would always open the door for me. I loved those little things."

Miss St. Pierre admitted two marriages, each ending in divorce. She said her first husband was B. F. Herrington, Jr., a Pasadena lumber man, and her second was George Street, Jr., a Long Beach tire merchant.

BANKS TO EASE CREDIT TERMS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—(INS)—A more liberal policy by the Federal Reserve banks, which has for its objective the restoration to active business of several billions of dollars in frozen assets, was in prospect today as a result of the conferences President Hoover has had this week with bankers intimately connected with the workings of the country's credit system.

Mr. Hoover has held the opinion for some time that one of the chief causes for continuance of the depression has been the tightness of credit, particularly banking credit, for legitimate enterprise. This has been brought about, it is held, by the large number of banking failures and general public timidity, which has caused upwards of $4,000,000,000 to be "frozen" in various ways.

Studies conducted by financial experts have revealed, it is said, that some $1,500,000,000 is tied up in banking institutions that have failed. Another $1,500,000,000, according to figures supplied Mr. Hoover, has been frozen in defaulted real estate bonds, and more than $800,000,000 is estimated to have been withdrawn and "hoarded" in various ways by depositors.

First Autumn Fog Brings Ship Crashes

HAMBURG, Germany, Sept. 17—(AP)—The first autumn fog tied up shipping and caused some collisions in the Elbe Estuary during the night. The German steamer Dalaelven, bound in from Leningrad, rammed the Danish steamer Meteor. Both were damaged, but no one was injured.

VOTE COUNTERS NEAR COLLAPSE

Nearly exhausted, three women and three men constituting the election board of the Fourteenth District of the Twelfth Ward, today resumed their duties at the courthouse, hopeful of completing their tabulation before another night. The board was brought to the courthouse Tuesday night, when it asked protection of the Sheriff, because of intimidation.

Protesting their treatment at the hands of courthouse attaches, members of the board declared their only rest since early Tuesday morning had been a brief nap in hard chairs in a jury room, while they might have slept in clean beds in jurors' quarters thrown open to them by a court order. They charged courthouse attaches with deliberately ignoring the court order.

Grave Revolt Seen In Portuguese Navy

LONDON, Sept. 17.—(INS)—Serious revolt was reported to have broken out in the Portuguese navy today, according to messages reaching London today from Oporto and Lisbon.

Martial law was reported to have been declared in both cities.

TICKET NAMED BY DEMOCRATS

David L. Lawrence, county chairman of the Democratic party, and Thomas A. Daugherty, jury commissioner, won the Democratic nominations for County Commissioner, according to returns today which gave them leads of about two to one.

Donald C. Anderson is the party's nominee for District Attorney, while James A. Murtha, Leo G. Stone, P. J. DeMas and William Barclay Foster are the party's choice for the four councilmanic seats.

Other nominees are City Controller, E. R. Frey; County Controller, William Driscoll; County Treasurer, M. D. Salvards; Clerk of Courts, Julia Doyle; Prothonotary, George H. Reike; Register of Wills, John Murphy, and Poor Directors, Agnes R. Joyce, Charles P. Schenot and J. H. Ake.

LETTER DESTROYED

"In addition to his letter, to which I have referred, suggesting that 'we go unusual places and see unusual things,' I have knowledge of another letter in which this woman suggested to this defendant a way of getting rid of Mrs. Kane.

"This letter said it was 'just a question of a little nerve and a very little time.'"

Percy Carmel, counsel for Kane, jumped to his feet and demanded to know if the coroner could produce this letter. Vanderslice retorted:

"No, because it has been destroyed. But I can and have produced the other."

Today's hearing was upon the question of admitting the professor to bond, but after listening to the coroner the court speedily continued the case another day, refusing to liberate him.

FATHER IN CAPITAL

Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane, physician father of the defendant, who has been here since Tuesday, planned to leave Hampton today for his home in Kane, Pa. He expected to go by airplane to Washington, and take a train from there. Whether he will stop in the capital in connection with the case of his son had not been determined.

The father succeeded in getting his testimony to the effect Mrs. Kane suffered from heart trouble into the inquest records before his departure.

He declared he had often been called to his daughter-in-law's bedside to treat her for a heart attack. It is his theory that Mrs. Kane died from heart failure when she fell into the water at Grand View Beach, near Hampton, Friday afternoon.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 17—(AP)—Elisha K. Kane, University of Tennessee professor held for investigation in the drowning of his wife at Hampton, Va., has written of himself that "I am modest, quiet, dignified, staid and devout."

It was in an autobiography published by the Knoxville News-Sentinel, April 6, 1930, Kane's article about his career was entitled: "Autobiography Told With Frank Dishonesty." He wrote:

"I banged about the world drinking deep on whatever experience had to offer and it seems to me that experience then was not quite as dry as it it now.

"Some time back—I got married and sobered up—marriage does that, you know . . .

"I lived a normal boyhood; that is to say, I disobeyed my parents on all occasions, fought, lied, stole, swore, played hookey and ran away from home. As I grew older I continued this wholesome existence. I was expelled from five colleges and two universities. It was my chief glory that I was invited by the registrar not to come back to Cornell."

LINK CAPONE IN LINGLE DEATH

CHICAGO, Sept. 17—(AP)—The supposed slaying of "Mike de Pike" Heitler, underworld figure, had an aftermath today in a letter supposedly dictated by him purporting to expose police graft collections and to reveal the motive for the gangland killing of Jack Zuta, slain about a year ago at a Wisconsin summer resort.

Mention was made in the letter of the slaying of Alfred J. Lingle, crime reporter, fatally shot a year ago last June, with an intimation that Capone antipathy was responsible for Lingle's death.

The State's Attorney's office reported to have received the letter, denied its receipt. Likewise Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the State's Attorney, said his department had never received any such letter.

Young 'Teddy' Denies Candidacy Rumor

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(INS)—Asserting he "was not a candidate for any office," Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of Porto Rico, today had put thumbs down on reports he would seek the Republican Vice Presidential nomination.

U. S. Foreign Trade Lowest in 15 Years

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(INS)—American foreign trade during August fell to the lowest point in more than 15 years, it was disclosed in Commerce Department figures today.

Exports totaled $165,000,000, as against imports of $166,000,000, leaving an unfavorable trade balance of $1,000,000.

Alfred Sze Slated As U. S. Minister

NANKING, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Authoritative sources disclosed today that Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to Great Britain, was slated to return to become Chinese minister to the United States, succeeding Dr. C. C. Wu, who resigned recently and joined the insurgent government at Canton. Sze was China's envoy to Washington from 1922 until 1929.

Senator Scores Dry Law, Urges Repeal

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 17—(INS)—Declaring that "the present situation is intolerable," United States Senator Frederic C. Walcott, of Connecticut, today had withdrawn his name as one of the sponsors of a proposed "dry" national newspaper, and declared for "ultimate repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment."

Ambridge Boy Dies As Canoe Capsizes

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Sept. 17.—The body of Edward Brockus, 19, of Duss avenue, was recovered today by Ambridge and Aliquippa firemen. Brockus was drowned yesterday afternoon when the canoe in which he was riding upset in the river. His companions swam to shore.

Victim of Air Crash Honored by France

PARIS, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The cabinet today awarded the decoration of a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor to Rene Mesmin, who was killed with Joseph Lebrix when their Paris-Tokio flight ended in a crash near Ufa, Russia. Lebrix already held the decoration.

'Bluebeard' Broke, Goes On Prison Rations

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 17.—Harry F. Powers, West Virginia's matrimonial bureau "Bluebeard," charged with the murders of two women and three children, today went on prison ration. He told his jailers that he had no more money and could not buy his meals from a nearby restaurant, as he has done heretofore.

Police said today that they have additional evidence that "Powers" is the son of Wilko Drenth, Dutch immigrant farmer of Fairbanks, Ia.

The Rev. T. K. Gainer, Powers' spiritual adviser, said the latter told him he had a sister married to "a man named Schroeder."

Fagged Election Board Still Counting Vote Today

Let Bankers Help U. S., Not Europe, Says Gerard

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(AP)—James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, arrived today on the liner Paris, saying Germany was now in "apple pie order" and that American bankers ought to begin helping America. He said:

"In Germany, I have found, it seems to have been good business since 1924 to 'go bust.' They have paid 10,000,000,000 marks in reparations, and their public and private borrowings amount to about 18,000,000,000, so they are about 8,000,000,000 ahead, but are still complaining about how poor they are.

"Germany has built stadia, swimming baths and all sorts of magnificent housings on borrowed money, and the balance she has lent to Russia. It is time that American bankers aided America. If we are to do business with Russia, let us do it directly and take the profits, and not do it through Germany."

Fourth Victim Dies In Navy Plane Crash

PANAMA, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Roy J. Miller, radio operator of the Navy airplane that crashed and burned yesterday near David, with the death of three of its crew, died of his burns last night.

Army airplanes that went to the scene were held up by bad weather, but will return with the bodies today if conditions improve.

2 in East End Fined As Theater Pickets

Charged with disorderly conduct, William Humphrey, 29, of 805 Brushton avenue, and William Terry, 42, of 7011 Upland street, were each fined $25 or 30 days in jail today in East End Police Court. The two men, said to be members of a motion picture operators' union, were accused of picketing a motion picture theater in Brushton.

JEALOUS WIFE ADMITS INSTIGATING MURDER OF HUSBAND

CHILDREN GIVEN RUM BY MATE, WOMAN SAYS

Youth Confesses Slaying Manufacturer Because He Alienated Fiancee

Universal Service.

PARK RIDGE, N. J., Sept. 17.—A meek-looking housewife who tried every other means to hold her philandering husband, and then resorted to lead, faced New Jersey authorities and calmly admitted instigating his murder.

Her confession came after an all night grilling, and followed the breakdown of George Flannard, undersized youth of 21, who told of firing the volley which Tuesday night dropped Otto Ziegler, 40, silk manufacturer. Ziegler died on his own lawn.

Flannard said that he shot out of sympathy for Mrs. Ziegler.

DOUBLE MOTIVE

He admitted that he was the more willing to kill because the other woman in the case, Mrs. Ruth Herring Proudhon, beautiful brunette divorcee, had been his sweetheart before Ziegler allegedly won her from him.

Mrs. Proudhon was held as a material witness. Mrs. Ziegler said:

"My husband deserved what he got."

Confessions of Mrs. Ziegler and Flannard, according to detectives, show that when Ziegler walked into the ambush his wife was seated on the porch waiting tensely for the crash of her fellow-conspirator's shots.

GAVE CHILDREN RUM

She was quoted as saying:

"My husband was mean to us. He gave the children whisky.

"He got drunk and beat me up. He tried to make me leave him. He offered me $25 a week to take the children and go away."

These arguments, coupled with Flannard's own resentment over being jilted by Mrs. Proudhon, won out. But Flannard told police:

"I would have killed him anyway.

"Ziegler got what was coming to him. I don't care anything about what happens to me."

The shooting of Ziegler, partner in the firm of Gould & Ziegler, which has plants in Park Ridge and West New York, brought to light a weirdly tangled skein of love and jealousy.

ROMANCE BROKEN

Flannard and Mrs. Proudhon were employed by Ziegler. According to police, Flannard went to Mrs. Ziegler last Monday and complained to her that Ziegler was courting Ruth and that the latter had given Flannard back his ring.

Ziegler had frequented roadhouses with Ruth, Flannard said.

When Flannard informed Mrs. Ziegler that Ziegler and the girl planned to take a trip to Canada, police say, the wife was enraged.

Mrs. Ziegler told detectives that when she confronted her husband with the report he was going to Canada with Ruth, he told her it was "none of your damned business."

MOYLE, ALLEN READY TO FLY FROM NORTH

May Take Air Today; Plane of Rescued Pacific Airmen Refueled by Ship

SEATTLE, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—Turning up safely aboard a little Russian ship in the Bering Sea after having been missing nine days subsequent to their takeoff on a projected flight from Japan to Seattle, Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, California fliers, today radioed a call for the services of a publicity man and announced they were ready to fly some more.

The United States naval radio station on St. Paul Island, in the Bering Sea, last night received a wireless from the Russian steamer Buriat, saying Moyle and Allen had landed on Navarin Island, Siberia, when their fuel and oil gave out.

SHIP PROVIDES FUEL

The Buriat reported she had supplied the gasoline to refuel the Moyle-Allen plane, and that the fliers were planning a take-off today, weather permitting. The ship said both men and plane were in good condition. However, it reported high winds and heavy seas at Navarin.

The message said neither the fliers nor their plane were hurt when they landed. It said Moyle and Allen might start for Seattle, but added they might go back toward Tokio.

The message failed to say whether the plane was brought on the steamer to Miano, on Tilgino Island, where the little ship set the fliers ashore yesterday after having picked them up at Navarin.

FRANCE GETS MESSAGE

Navarin Island is off Cape Navarin, Siberia, about 2,200 miles north of Samushiro Beach, Japan, from which the fliers took off September 7. It is several hundred miles north of the circular route they had mapped.

The message telling of their safety, sent from the Buriat yesterday, and addressed to Miss Frances Bresson, fiancee of Moyle at Riverside, Cal., said:

"Landed on uninhabited island. Everything all right. Have Frank put publicity man on job. Will be in Seattle September 22."

By "Frank" the fliers presumably meant Frank Bresson, brother of Miss Bresson.

Mrs. Kane, wife of Prof. Elisha Kent Kane, 37, University of Tennessee, whose drowning at Hampton, Va., has been considered by authorities as of "mysterious circumstances." The husband, son of famed Dr. Evan O'Neil Kane, Kane (Pa.) physician who once operated upon himself for appendicitis, is held for investigation.

YACHT VICTIM MURDERED WITH MILK BOTTLE

Battered to Death on Deck; Testimony of Wife Barred As Possible Defendant

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Benjamin P. Collings was battered to death as he lay, partly on his stomach, on the deck of his cruiser, the Penguin.

The murderer committed his crime with a milk bottle which shattered in a thousand pieces as it fractured Collings' skull and led Mrs. Lillian Collings, cowering in the little cabin below, to believe that a window in a porthole had been smashed.

A certain sinister group of facts" which has come into the knowledge of District Attorney Alexander G. Blue this morning led him to postpone until tomorrow the inquest in Collings' murder, which was to have been held today.

A huge police net has been thrown over New York, Connecticut and New Jersey, which, it is hoped, will net the two pirate murderers, the one a burly gray man with close-shaven white head and heavy-beetling black eyebrows, the other, a thin, nervous lad of 17 or 18.

District Attorney Blue bluntly announced this morning that he will not call for the testimony of Mrs. Collings either before the grand jury or at the inquest "for the simple reason that a possible defendant cannot be made to testify against herself."

Mrs. Collings is lying in her home in a state of complete nervous collapse. Two physicians are attending her. One of them is Dr. H. T. Collings, father of the man whose body was rolled up on the beach yesterday.

MUSIC STRIKE AT 4 THEATERS

Having failed to reach an agreement with owners and managers of the Penn and Stanley theaters, musicians will stage a "walkout" after the closing performances tonight, it was announced today. The Alvin and Nixon, which have not yet opened for the season, also are affected by the strike.

Officials of the union refused to discuss the strike. M. E. Johnson, president of Local No. 60 of the American Federation of Musicians, declined comment. Managers of the theaters, however, revealed the contracts expired Sept. 1 and no agreement was reached. They expressed confidence that terms would be reached soon.

Officials of the theaters said there would be no orchestra music on the programs until the trouble is settled.

ACCUSE PASTOR IN MURDER

LAMAR, Mo., Sept. 17.—(AP.)—An eye-witness account of the slaying of the Rev. George Rider, Kansas City, evangelist, supplied the principal testimony for the state today in the trial of the Rev. J. A. Brown, former pastor of the Christian Union Church at Hailey's Bluff, on a first degree murder charge.

The story of the shooting and events leading up to it was related by the evangelist's widow after the state opened its case yesterday. She testified that Mr. Brown, the 67-year-old defendant, had done all the fist-fighting which preceded the shooting.

Defense attorneys indicated they would base their plea on self-defense. Mr. Rider was shot April 4, when he called upon Mr. Brown, whom he had recently succeeded as pastor of the church, requesting Mr. Brown to preach the Easter Sunday sermon so that he might attend the funeral of a relative in Kansas City.

SEVEN RESCUED FROM FLAMES

Four children, two women and a fireman who collapsed during the rescue work, were carried from a burning home in Whitaker early today.

Four other firemen were overcome by smoke.

The fire damaged the double dwelling in Whitaker street $1,500.

Firemen carried out Mrs. Elmer Keller, her son, Kenneth Keller, 9; Mrs. Edgar Critchfield and her sons, John, 1; Edgar, 6, and Dorsey, 4.

Wife Gives Up Hope For Flier Husband

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 17.—(AP.)—Living seriously ill at the home of her parents here, Mrs. Oliver Louis Pacquette today had given up hope for the lives of her husband and Parker D. Cramer, lost trans-Atlantic fliers.

Mrs. Pacquette, who suffered a nervous collapse yesterday, received word last night that wreckage of the plane used by Pacquette and Cramer had been found at sea.

Confesses 35 Fires; Hangs Self in Cell

LEAD, S. D., Sept. 17.—(AP.)—William Cothern, of Haywood County, N. C., hanged himself in the Lead jail last night after confessing that he helped start 35 forest fires in the Black Hills during the last week.

Police today were seeking six alleged accomplices named by Cothern. Officials said all were members of the "I. W. W."

Pittsburghers Get Army Commissioners

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—Two Pittsburgh men have been commissioned as second lieutenants in the Army Reserve Corps. They are: Joseph J. Galik, 3109 Mission street, assigned to the Coast Artillery, and Edward K. Thompson, 4403 Center avenue, Quartermaster Corps.

Graf Set to Start New Ocean Flight

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—Capt. Ernst Lehmann, who will command the Graf Zeppelin on her third trip to South America, said today that if the weather is good he will leave tomorrow.

There are to be 10 passengers. A tentative list includes Harold Knight, of New York, and a Mr. Vittie, of Chicago. Dr. Hugo Eckener will not make this flight.

Blames 'Triangle' On Mother-in-Law

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Suit for $100,000 damages has been filed by Mrs. Emma Yerkes against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Gray Yerkes, charging alienation of the affections of the plaintiff's husband, George Yerkes, and also with encouraging him in attentions to another woman.

The plaintiff recently caused her husband's arrest on charges growing out of his alleged interest in the other woman.

Planes Fail to Find 3 Atlantic Airmen

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Hope faded today for the safety of three fliers in the German Junkers plane which left Portugal on Sunday for New York. The plane, with Wilhelm Rody, Christian Johanssen and Fernanda Da Costa aboard, was last sighted Monday afternoon off Newfoundland.

Episcopal 'Alms Basin' To Raise $1,000,000

DENVER, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—A great golden alms basin reposed here today for the triennial united thanks offering of the women of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Members of the woman's auxiliary of the Church, here in the fiftieth general convention, assembled for corporate communion service and presentation of the offering, which church leaders estimated would total more than $1,000,000.

Meanwhile, church liberals prepared to push their attempt for liberalization of the canons regarding marriage and divorce. Echoing expressed sentiments of Bishop Perry, the Rt. Rev. Michael Bolton Furse, lord bishop of St. Albans, England, in the opening sermon before the convention, took a definite stand against any modification.

It was indicated, however, that conservatives predominated in both the house of bishops and the house of deputies, and that the proposed canon liberalizing the rules regarding remarriage of divorced persons had scant chance of passing.

The amendment being prepared for submisison to the house of bishops and house of deputies calls for the establishment of an ecclesiastical court in each diocese to pass upon cases of remarriage of divorced persons. Under present rules, pastors may remarry a divorced person only in the event the person is the innocent party in a divorce.

EDISON SLEEPS LESS THAN HOUR

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 17.—(Universal)—Although Thomas A. Edison was reported to have slept not more than three-quarters of an hour at any time on Tuesday night, it was stated that he seemed to have felt no ill effects from the lack of rest. A bulletin to this effect was issued by Dr. Hubert S. Howe, one of the physicians attending the aged inventor.

Mr. Edison was noticeably paler, particularly so, it was said, because prior to the beginning of his present illness, he had had a vigorous color.

He still spends part of every day in his study and receives frequent daily visits from his sons, Charles, Theodore and Thomas A. Edison, Jr. Mrs. Edison is near him at all times.

Weather Conditions.

Light to moderately heavy rains were quite general over the northern states and there is still considerable cloudiness over that section. The disturbance that caused the rainfall is now centered over Eastern Ontario and the rain has about ended except in New England. A ridge of high pressure stretches from Alberta to the east Gulf states. There was little change in temperature over the eastern half of the country, but over the northern plains and the Canadian Northwest there was a marked drop in temperature. Frost occurred in North Dakota and was quite general over the Canadian Northwest where the temperature is below freezing. The lowest reported was 28 degrees at Calgary and Edmonton. Maximum temperatures were high again yesterday over the Middle West.

Lutheran Editors Rename Abrahamson

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Dr. J. C. Abrahamson, of Rock Island, today stood reelected as president of the National Lutheran Editors' Association, following a meeting here. Dr. N. R. Melhorn, of Philadelphia, was named vice president. Edward W. Schramm, of Columbus, O., was re-elected secretary.

Despondent, Shoots Self in Garage

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Sept. 17.—Max N. Otto, 60, of Eastvale, ended his life today by shooting himself through the heart in a garage at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Weekley, here, the Coroner's office reported.

Otto was despondent because of ill health, it was said.

FIVE MURDERED IN GANG WARS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 17.—(AP.)—Harry Volpe, said by police to be a notorious bootlegger and informer for federal agents in this city, and formerly of Detroit and vicinity, was found slain in an automobile this morning. He also had been employed as an "undercover" dry worker in Pittsburgh and other cities.

DETROIT, Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Arrest of every hoodlum in Detroit was ordered today following the massacre of three alleged "hijackers" after they had been kidnaped and herded into a fashionable South Side apartment house where they were lined against a wall and mowed down with revolver shots.

Nine persons have been taken into custody. Those killed in the massacre were Joseph Sutker, Hymie Paul and Joseph Leibovitz, all known police characters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—The death ride, born of gang feudism, dumped another mystery on the police doorstep today when a body, tentatively identified as that of Meyer Shapiro, big time alcohol racketeer of Brooklyn, was found inside the basement door of a Manhattan street tenement. He had been shot to death.

$15,000 More Asked To Fight Mine Fire

Fifteen thousand dollars is needed to extinguish the Shane coal mine fire in Baldwin road, Council was notified today when the city solicitor presented a resolution for the appropriation of that amount. Part of the expense is being borne by Crafton Borough, which has been working with the city to extinguish the fire. To date the city has spent $26,000, and the fire is not out.

Beer Greatest U. S. Need, Nominee Says

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Four per cent beer is what the country needs most to end the economic depression and unemployment, Edward Lowber Stokes, congressional nominee, declared today. Stokes, an investment broker, was nominated Tuesday for the vacancy in the second congressional district caused by the death of George S. Graham.

Farm Economists Urge Price Leveling

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—The necessity for leveling prices in order that the American dollar might again be placed on its 1926 basis was in the process of advanced discussion today by farm leaders, economists and editors of agricultural publications.

Church Bars Wet Mayor As Bible Class Head

ATLANTA, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—The Rev. Robert Z. Tyler, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, today said relations of Mayor James L. Key as teacher of a men's Sunday school class there had been terminated "in the interests of peace in the church" as a result of the Mayor's anti-prohibition utterances.

The action came last night after the Mayor and church officials had conferred.

Tyler said the Mayor had been requested to refrain from further criticism of prohibition. Mayor Key refused. The minister said the Mayor then was informed he might no longer teach a class at the church.

Mayor Key's views came into national prominence when, during a tour of France with a party of American mayors, he said prohibition was "corrupting the government," that it could not be enforced as its friends had hoped, and was a failure.

It was [illegible] lative approval to the Governor's assistance fund and he frankly argued that [illegible] they have been made and only now is a constitutional amendment on its way through the Legislature.

ISSUE NOT DROPPED

The Governor pointed out however that the submission of the public utility issue in the extraordinary session does not mean that he has dropped this issue. He said that he would see to it that the public utility issue is raised in every district in Pennsylvania at the primary election of 1932 as well as in the general election which follows.

The Governor reiterated his stand in recent speeches that federal aid is needed to meet the emergency adequately and said that his plea to the national administration to call an extra session of Congress has apparently gone unheeded. He said that regardless of the action taken by the federal government the commonwealth of Pennsylvania and all its municipal sub-divisions must bear their full and fair quota of the responsibility.

GOVERNOR'S STATEMENT

The Governor's statement declared:

"Before the end of the year, at a date to be fixed by proclamation, I shall call the General Assembly of Pennsylvania into extraordinary session to consider measures for the relief of unemployment and for no other purpose. As the constitution directs, the proclamation will define the subjects which Article IX, Section 4, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania provides:

"'No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the state, except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue, repel invasion, suppress insurrection, defend the state in war, or to pay existing debt; and the debt created to supply deficiencies in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate, at any one time, $1,000,000.'

"Article III, section 18, of the constitution of Pennsylvania, provides:

"'No appropriation, except for pensions or gratuities for military services, shall be made for charitable, educational or benevolent purposes, to any person or community.'

"Article XVIII, section 1, of the constitution, provides that amendments to the constitution can be made only after a resolution proposing an amendment has been passed at two sessions of the General Assembly and approved by the people at an election.

"These provisions make it impossible either to appropriate directly for unemployment relief or to amend the constitution in time to meet the present emergency. But since money will be needed in large amounts to meet the responsibility of the commonwealth, another method must be found.

LONG-TERM BONDS

"Accordingly, I shall recommend to the General Assembly that it authorize the issuance of long-term bonds, principal and interest to be guaranteed, contingent upon the adoption of a validating constitutional amendment, by the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I shall recommend that these bonds be called prosperity bonds because the expenditure of the money provided will not only relieve distress, but help to bring back prosperity in Pennsylvania.

"In order to lose no time I shall cause to be introduced in the extraordinary session and in the regular session to follow it a constitutional amendment to that effect. If it passes these two sessions it will come before the people for final action in 1933.

"This plan for 'prosperity bonds,' and other plans which the state administration has in mind, will be prepared in the form of specific bills, ready for submission to the Legislature on the day it meets, and in such form that it should be easily possible for the General Assembly to dispose of them and adjourn within four weeks."

Mine Jobs Pledged By Coal Operators

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Members of the Smokeless Coal Operators Association agreed at a meeting here today to furnish all possible employment. Besides employment the members discussed freight traffic.

Ohio Labor Unions Ask Legalized Beer

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The Ohio Federation of Labor was on record today as favoring modification of the Volstead act to permit sale of beer. The change was urged in a resolution adopted unanimously at the closing of the annual convention here yesterday.

Family Victory

MRS. MARY E. CRIST

FRANCES E. CRIST

TWO IN FAMILY NOMINATED

Two members of the Crist family in Thornburg were nominated to public office in Tuesday's primaries. Mrs. Mary E. Crist, of 1125 Cornell street, mother of five children, was nominated as a school director; her eldest son, Frances E. Crist, 27, of 513 Hamilton avenue, as an auditor.

Mrs. Crist is a member of the Thornburg and Crafton Women's Clubs. Her son is connected with a brokerage firm. This is the first time either of them has ever run for public office. Besides Francis, Mrs. Mary Crist has three daughters, Alice, Janet and Mimi, and another son, Richard, at home.

TWO AWARDED SCHOLARSHIPS

Robert W. Downing, of 241 Dickson avenue, Ben Avon, and Monroe E. Wenger, of Mercersburg, Pa., have been awarded Frank Thomson Memorial scholarships, each valued at $800 annually, by the Pennsylvania Railroad, following competitive examinations.

The scholarships are provided from a trust fund established in 1907 by the children of Frank Thomson, former president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, as a memorial to their father. Those obtaining the scholarships are enabled better to fit themselves along technical lines for service with the railroad.

'Riders' Threaten Tobacco Planters

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Warnings from a group calling themselves Caballeros De La Noche, riders of the night, that life and property would be destroyed if a new tobacco crop was planted caused American concerns today to place special police guards over their warehouses.

Two American cigar manufactories were threatened by letter that the night riders were about to begin operations against their properties. Fifteen tobacco drying baths have been burned recently after growers were warned not to plant.

Violinist Awarded Slovakian Medal

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Milan Lusk, the violinist, today was the possessor of the revolutionary medal of the Czechoslovakian republic in recognition of his services during the World War. It was presented to him yesterday by Dr. Jaroslav Smetanka, Czechoslovakian consul general in Chicago. During the war, Lusk gave more than 50 concerts in behalf of the Czechoslovakian legionnaires.

American Shot Dead In San Salvador

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Advices that Ralph Welford Wells, 28, was accidentally shot and killed in San Salvador, have been received here by his mother, Mrs. L. Wells, but no details of the shooting were given.

ROOSEVELT AID PLAN FOUGHT

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(AP)—The Republican legislative majority has decided to fight Gov. Roosevelt on unemployment relief legislation and thereby has defied the wish of Republican State Chairman W. Kingsland Macy.

The majority party will pass its bill placing the governor's relief commission under the direction of the State Department of Social Welfare. The governor has let it be known that this will not be acceptable and there has been a threat of another special session as soon as the Legislature adjourns.

The Republicans have decided also against an upstate investigation along the lines of the New York City inquiry at this time.

Auto Kills Cyclist Riding to School

ZELIENOPLE, Pa., Sept. 17.—Arthur Brandenburg, 16, of Pomeroy, died in the office of a physician here shortly after he had been struck by an automobile driven by J. D. Flescher, of Beaver County. The youth was riding a bicycle towards Zelienople where he was attending high school. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brandenburg.

Fess to Address G. O. P. in Allentown

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Senator Fess, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican National Committee, has accepted an invitation to speak Saturday at the Republican meeting in a grove near Allentown, Pa. The invitation was extended by State Treasurer Edwin Martin, who is Republican state chairman.

Children Will Can 1,000,000 Jars of Fruit for Relief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Children of America are to be urged to help can and save food for the unemployed.

James L. Fieser, acting chairman of the Red Cross, today announced the plan which calls for enrolling pupils in 30,000 public and private schools through junior Red Cross groups under direction of local chapters.

Officials estimated 1,000,000 cans of foodstuffs tagged "not to be sold" would be produced.

Older pupils will play their part in the cooking, canning and drying, while youngsters collect empty tin cans and donations of fruits and vegetables. Each community's production will be distributed locally, the surplus to be sent to other sections.

NAVY ABANDONS CURTISS RACE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The Navy, which for some years has conducted the annual Curtiss Marine Trophy race for seaplanes, will not participate this year, if any is held.

Efforts to reduce expenditures resulted in a decision by officials to dispense with participation.

Whether the race will be held this year rests with the National Aeronautic Association as it either conducts or assigns the privilege of conducting the contest to some organization.

In the time the Navy has conducted the races contestant planes have been limited to service types. Relatively few airplane manufacturers specialize in the seaplane type.

SIMON BRASLEY DIES IN WEST

Word has been received of the death Tuesday in Glendale, Cal., of Simon Brasley, 72, for 50 years a prominent shoe merchant of Pittsburgh. His body is being brought back for burial. Funeral services will be held Sunday morning at the home of his son, Attorney Ben Paul Brasley, 6338 Stanton avenue. Another son, Albert A. Brasley, advertising director of the Sun-Telegraph, died August 7.

Mr. Brasley

Mr. Brasley had a wide acquaintance among the business men of Pittsburgh. He had been in ill health for several months and was visiting in the California city at the time of his death. Besides his son, he leaves three daughters, Mrs. Bertha Zaslaff, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Bessie B. Cohen and Mrs. Isabella Kabaker, of Long Beach, Cal.

Erie Incumbents Lose in Balloting

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Incumbents in most of Erie County and city offices failed to gain renomination in the primary, unofficial returns indicated.

James P. Rossiter, a Democrat, who ran for the mayoralty nomination on both the Republican and Democratic tickets, won both nominations and is assured of election in November. Orphans Court Judge Henry Clark was running behind Orin Waite for the Republican nomination to the Orphans Court bench.

What we might do—
What we don't do—
What we DO do—
and WHY

We might sell much more fruits and vegetables if we sold this class of food products on our parking lot in open air stands or out on the sidewalks at our store..... } But we don't

We might violate the Pure Food Law of the State of Pennsylvania, providing for the protection of the public health, which law says it is unlawful to sell or expose for sale any "animal or vegetable substance . . . kept in a way or manner that would render the article diseased, contaminated or unwholesome"..... } But we haven't

We might, for the sake of additional fruit and vegetable business and some extra dollars of profit, overlook the fact that it is not for the public welfare and benefit to sell fruits and vegetables which are displayed out on the sidewalks exposed to all kinds of contamination; the dust, the absorption of the noxious fumes, gases and odors of a busy downtown street, flies, insects, germs, etc. In our eagerness to get more fruit and vegetable business we might conveniently forget that such foods may be a pernicious menace to the public health... } But we won't

BECAUSE

As purveyors of foods to the public we feel a keen and deep sense of responsibility for the wholesomeness of our foods and the selling of same in a sanitary manner according to the best hygienic rules, so..... } We're doing it

We have very definite ideas about food quality—the best it is possible to obtain at the price is none too good for our customers—our cardinal principle is "never to knowingly sell anything we would not eat ourselves" and so } That's what we sell

Isn't it wise to buy your foods at a magnificent food store, which is unequalled in the choiceness of its food products, in the completeness of its assortments, in the fairness of its prices—isn't it safest and best to buy your fruits and vegetables within such an establishment rather than at outdoor fruit and vegetable stands on open air lots and sidewalks..... } We're sure of it

There's no such thing as standing still nowadays if one is determined to march at the head of the procession, so..... } We're on the move

ARREST BARES GOLD HUNT

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 17.—(AP.)—The story of a scramble by several groups of men to retrieve a fabulous gold cache from the wasteland of Lower California has emerged from investigation of the arrest of Richard Wallace Kingsbury, 22-year-old Taunton (Mass.) youth, near Ensenada, Mexico, last month on a smuggling charge.

Behind the dash for the treasure lay a tale harking back 20 years to the ill-fated revolution led by Capt. Ap Rhys Price and a group of adventurers, which resulted in the looting of Tijuana and villages along the west coast of Lower California.

A death-bed statement made last year in Oakland by a man named Potts sent the gold seekers into Mexico. Potts was reported to have declared that he was the only survivor of a group of 15 men who deserted the main body of rebels, taking with them all the loot. Potts said 13 of his companions were slaughtered in ambush after the loot was buried.

Hurley Talk 'Vague' Filipinos Declare

MANILA, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—Slight rumblings against Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, investigating Philippine conditions, were heard today among members of the Lower House of the Legislature.

The secretary at a banquet tendered him by the American and Philippine chambers of commerce this week said he had "a profound admiration for the aspirations of the Filipino people," but the remark today was termed "superficial and vague."

French Tax Revenue Exceeds Estimates

PARIS, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—Francois Pietri, minister of the budget, told the cabinet today that for the first five months of this fiscal year the national income from taxes surpassed the estimates by about $8,000,000.

WARRANTLESS RAIDS BANNED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(INS.)—No change in the Federal Prohibition Bureau's policy of raiding private dwellings only with search warrants, obtainable through strong evidence of commercial violations of the law, will result from the decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis sanctioning warrantless raids, it was learned today.

Officials called attention that in 1928 the late Chief Justice Taft wrote a decision which provided in effect that "a man's home is his castle," and that it may not be entered without a search warrant by officers.

Legal experts said that though a man may be observed through the window of his dwelling making what appears to be home brew, a search warrant cannot be obtained unless it can be shown for certain that the product is of an alcoholic content of greater than one-half of 1 per cent.

Bok Estate to Pay $3,609,070 U. S. Tax

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 17.—(AP.)—The federal government will collect a tax of $3,609,070.58 from the gross estate of $23,718,381.36 left by Edward W. Bok, philanthropist, on the basis of an estate tax appraisal filed yesterday.

The tax was computed on the gross estate, less $2,638,722 deductable for various exemptions. Pennsylvania's share of the tax is $2,866,730.31. Maine and New York will receive normal taxes of $510 and $16.50 respectively.

U. S. to Honor 40 Men Killed in Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(AP.)—The names of more than 40 Americans who have lost their lives while serving the government on peaceful missions in various parts of the world are to be inscribed on a roll of honor. They were members of the diplomatic corps and consular service, many of whom died while performing heroic roles during times of disaster and danger.

As Mansfield drew far ahead, the only question was whether second place would go to Armstrong or McGovern, and the uncertainty was maintained until late this afternoon.

COURT FIGHT LIKELY

In view of the circumstances surrounding the election, the disorders, theft of ballot boxes, fraudulent assessments and questionable registration, it was considered probable today that court action would be resorted to by some of the candidates. Already the courts have been asked to intervene in some of the close fights for minor offices throughout the county and city.

The return board, to be appointed by Common Pleas Court, will begin a canvass of the vote tomorrow. McGovern plans to have investigators present to observe the entering of the returns officially.

EXPERTS SCORE PINCHOT PLAN ON BONDS

Flotation Before Legal Authority Is Granted Assailed as Impractical

Gov. Pinchot's plan to float an issue of "prosperity bonds" subject to the adoption of a validating constitutional amendment was ridiculed by members of the Bond Club of Pittsburgh at their first bi-weekly luncheon of the present season at the William Penn Hotel today.

The investment bankers asked to comment on the plan were unanimous in the belief that it would be impossible to market an issue of bonds before clearing up all the legal details of authorization.

COMMENTS ON PLAN

Harris N. Townsend, president of the Bond Club:

"It would be impossible to dispose of such an issue."

W. E. Ballard, member of the firm of Ballard & Townsend:

"The Governor would not have a chance in the world of putting over such an issue of bonds."

HELD IMPRACTICAL

The attitude of most of the security experts was that the proposal was unreasonable from an investment standpoint to be deserving of serious comment.

The general opinion was that bonds could not be sold previous to the constitutional authorization and the funds were to be deposited in escrow. The money would not be released until final authorization of the bond issue was complete and this, they said, probably would be too late to help the present emergency.

ASK IMPOUNDING OF BALLOTS

...Coyne's Building. They were there by authority of a court order signed at his home last night by Judge Elect W. Marshall.

SON GUARDS BOXES

President Judge James B. Macfarlane early last night told members of the Allegheny County Bar Association Election Fraud Committee that he was without jurisdiction to sign such an order. No work was done in the bureau.

It was a "field day" for guarding this, that and the other thing. State Senator Joseph G. Armstrong Jr., was on guard all night in the Sheriff's office. He was there, he said, to see that there was no "funny business" in the Sheriff's office with the ballot boxes impounded by State Senator James J. Coyne, erstwhile candidate for County Commissioner. The boxes brought in by Coyne were from County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong's districts.

Impounded boxes were from the following districts:

Eighteen from the Fifteenth Ward, 11 from the Sixth, two from the Twelfth, one from the Fourteenth, 10 from the Seventeenth, Armstrong's home ward, 7 from the Nineteenth, 15 from the Twentieth and 10 from the Twenty-first.

FRAUD CHARGED

Charging fraud was committed in the computation of the votes, marking of ballots and the conduct of the election, Judge Joseph M. Swearingen signed an order for the impounding of the ballot boxes of the Fifth and Sixth districts of the Twelfth Ward, where Alderman W. A. Means, incumbent, on unofficial returns, defeated Michael DeRosa for the office by 160 votes.

Attorney Hyman Schlesinger obtained the order and said, on account of the vote being so close a recount of the districts was desired. The attorney reports one district of the ward is missing.

LORD FERMOY WEDS PIANIST

By CHOLLY KNICKERBOCKER,
General Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Today one of the lifelong ambitions of the now white-haired Mrs. Burke Roche will be realized.

The one-time Fanny Work, daughter of that 101 per cent American, the late Frank Work, is to have a daughter-in-law.

Across the seas, her son, Lord Fermoy, will take as his bride Ruth Sylvia Gill who, in the dispatches sent from London at the time of the announcement of the engagement, was described as "a well known pianist."

Lord Fermoy and Miss Gill will be married at a quiet ceremony in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, and I suspect Mr. Burke Roche will be regally attired for the event.

It has been more than 20 years now since the mother of the Burke Roche twins first endeavored to assist them in the selection of help-mates, and it is an open secret that Mama had arrived at the conclusion her sons would remain bachelors until the end of her days.

METER AWARD LET BY CITY

The Pittsburgh Equitable Meter Company today was notified that their low sealed bid for furnishing 10,000 meter parts had been accepted. Col. W. R. Dunlap of the Department of Supplies, announced. The bid, which amounts to approximately $42,000 annually, is the same submitted more than a year ago when the Neptune Meter Company of New York successfully fought the Pittsburgh concern's contract award in Supreme Court.

The only other bidder was the Buffalo Meter Company, of Buffalo. It was rejected because no bond was posted.

Plans are now on foot for the Neptune Meter Company and the Gamon Meter Company, of Chicago, who objected to the Pittsburgh Equitable Meter Company for using their type of Neptune and Gamon meter, now in use in the city.

1931 Fall Prices Are Lower at Horne's

That full satisfaction which comes from having the best, can be yours this fall at the lowest cost in years. The substantial price reductions that present markets offer in practically all commodities are reflected just as positively in the Horne grade and kind as in other lines. More and more people are becoming cognizant of this fact and are buying dependability as it is found in Horne merchandise. They are practicing true economy by buying the best, for the best is inevitably the cheapest in the long run.

For those whose incomes have been curtailed, the present proportionate, if not greater, reduction in retail prices permits the continued enjoyment of the kind of things to which they have been accustomed.

To take that gray look out of your wash

BY MARY LEE WORK

An Easier Way To Wash Clothes —And Do Various Other Hard Jobs in Half the Time

Here's a new method of washing clothes that takes the drudgery out of washday. Everywhere you go, women are using it because it makes living so much easier—so much more worth while. With it, you do any kind of washing—from the stoutest linens to delicately-colored children's clothes; costly lingerie—in half the time it takes you to do it now—or less.

And—you banish and avoid entirely streaks, spots, that ugly gray look women complain of. And fade of any kind. In careful laboratory tests a man's blue shirt for instance, was washed 75 times without appreciable fade. This is probably twice the washing the average shirt gets before it is worn out.

How To Do It

You get a package of a preparation called Climalene at any grocery store for a dime. Put 2 tablespoonfuls in a washtub of water. Use the same kind of soap you ordinarily do. But use only ¼ the amount you now use. That is all. Then see for yourself the amazing results.

Climalene acts by making water—whether it is hard or medium hard—soft as rain water.

For that reason you use only ¼ the amount of soap you now use. And thus end "soap-eat" and fade of fine things.

Then, due to mildly cleansing properties of its own, it dissolves grime and dirt instantly, thus cutting washing time in half—either in the dishpan or washtub.

Shop With The Time Saved

Consider what you can do with the time you save. Thousands of women shop, go to the movies, enjoy life with the time they save this way. Do the things you now think only a woman with servants can do.

And have hands carressingly smooth and lovely. For Climalene acts as a beautifying agent to the hands.

Marvelous For Dishes, Too

You use Climalene too, to wash dishes in half the time and have them shine and sparkle marvelously—just as they do in shop windows.

Use too, to clean silver, to remove "bathtub ring", to make scrubbing, scouring, cleaning of all sorts, far simpler and quicker. Full directions come with every package. Try it. Find out what it can do for you.

PUBLIC THANKED BY MANSFIELD

Thanking his friends and supporters, Senator William D. Mansfield, leading nominee on the Republican ticket for County Commissioner, issued a statement saying:

"I am thankful to the people of Allegheny County for permitting me to appear as one of the principals in the wonderful victory in the county primary. I take the result to be a tribute to my friends and to those who believe in my service as a public official.

"An analysis of the vote would indicate that the voters approve of my method of campaigning, a method I have always used, namely, to present my own candidacy and refrain entirely from making attacks upon my opponents. The nomination came to me without my having any entaglements whatever that would interfere with my giving the people of Allegheny County the same unhampered service in the County Commissioners' office that I have been giving them in the Senate of Pennsylvania."

SCHNEIDER HELD IN VOTE CASE

Constable Jack Schneider, defeated candidate for constable in the First Ward, today was held for court charged with violating the election laws. Five other men and a woman also were held for court trial on the same charge. One was held for violating the Snyder act and another was held over. All the arrests grew out of the political fight in the First Ward, where Schneider was defeated by Paul Walsh, son of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh.

Schneider did not appear at the hearing before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court this morning. He had been released on bail.

Others held were John Kaiser and his wife, Mary, of 1503 Fifth avenue; George King, 1408 Forbes street; Peter Bowers, 1528½ Penn avenue; James Kelly, 412 Rochelle street, and Louis Fisher, 5 Pride street, all on election fraud charges. Adam Karich, of 3 Cherry way, was held on a liquor charge, and the election case against John Doyle, 5 Marion street, was continued.

'HAPPY, TIRED,' SAYS M'GOVERN

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, confident that he has won the nomination as one of the majority commissioners, at his headquarters was smiling the "Roosevelt" smile. He said:

"We have an accurate check on the returns. I am certain that I have enough to win. I'm happy, but I'm also tired. It's been a tough battle."

Equally confident were lieutenants of Commissioner Armstrong, who predicted that the official returns will nominate him. Late last night James E. Poutley, assistant chief clerk in the Commissioners' office, Gilbert C. Cloonan, head of the Elections Bureau, and other lesser lights expressed confidence that Armstrong would win.

Wealth Conscription Urged by Archbishop

CINCINNATI, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Archbishop John T. McNicholas, of the Catholic diocese of Cincinnati, today issued a pastoral letter on unemployment in which he advocated a conscription of excess wealth as "wholly in harmony with the principles of Christian social justice."

TAKE LUNCH TOMORROW IN OUR NEW TEA ROOM . . . BALCONY

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

OUT AT THE Atlantic Beach Club last Sunday Mr. Lou Holtz sat upon the sands and remembered a story. It concerns a certain racketeer in this fair town.

It wasn't so long ago that the racketeer sat in a night club and looked upon Miss Millicent, one of the prettiest show girls in the game. Miss Millicent was not with him. She was sitting with an escort some three tables away. But that did not prevent the Broadwayite from looking and scanning and smiling. That, I guess, is what night clubs are for.

He called the waiter over to his table.

"Jack," he said, "I appreciate that girl is not for me. She's obviously gone over about [illegible]. What's her name? Can you introduce me?"

The proprietor shook his head, and smiled.

Frank seemed jaunty.

"What are you saying?" he asked. "Suppose she is one of Ziggy's prettiest beauties. What's that going to do with me? I've been out with plenty of them. So what?"

The boss shrugged his shoulders. "Sure, Frank. But aren't you the racketeer who has been around with pretty girls? I don't know a man in town who has been around with prettier girls than you. But this dame is entirely different. She's got a social complex.

"If I introduced you to her she'd order your own name. You wouldn't stand a chance in the world. She's of a social connection she doesn't want to know you.

"Take my tip, Frank. Stay away and save yourself a lot of embarrassment. And if you want to know how I know so much I might tell you that I tried to date her up myself once."

"Jack," he said, "I appreciate your advice, and even tho I don't think I'll follow it, I suppose it's for the best. Can you make one more favor for me? Can you get me her telephone number?"

The boss nodded.

"That's you, Frank. Just step into the office, as your way. But I'm telling you the same thing as I told you before. You're wasting your time."

The following afternoon, Miss Millicent received a terrific call.

"Miss Millicent," said a pleasant voice, "this is Frank Steinway. Sorry I neglected to call you before. How have you been since we met last?"

The beautiful one was a trifle perplexed.

"Frank Steinway?" she repeated. "Frank Steinway? I'm terribly sorry, but I can't seem to remember you."

The voice seemed rather hurt.

"Oh, Miss Millicent," it said, "you're making me feel very badly. Surely you remember dancing with me at the Mayfair two Saturdays in a row? See if you can't remember the name. Steinway. Frank Steinway. Manufacturers of the Steinway pianos."

"Oh," she lied beautifully, "I

A short time later three came and took the piano away. The racketeer, it seems, had merely borrowed it from a second hand dealer!

ARMY TO HONOR 3 STUDENTS

Miss Doris

Miss Beatrice

Three Pittsburgh Negro people who will leave soon for New York to enter the Salvation Army Training School will be honor guests tonight at a musical in the auditorium of the Salvation Army Building, 425 Boulevard of the Allies.

They are Doris Jeane Fowle and Beatrice Fowle of Mt. Washington, and H. W. Thompson of Brookline. All have been members of the Pittsburgh Corps No. 1 band for several years. The Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh will participate in the entertainment.

Man Sues Golf 'Pro' After Fight on Links

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 17. As a sequel to a fistic encounter on the new golf course of the Sleepy Hollow Country Club, Oliver G. Stauffer of Franklin, brought suit on $1,000 against Thomas E. Sullivan, golf pro of the club.

Because of an alleged assault, Stauffer, former course manager, claims he suffered pain, loss of time and was compelled to spend money for medical treatment. Sullivan was released on $1,000 bond. The case is docketed for trial in November.

[illegible] over James B. Weaver and Judge Daniel J. Snyder led Harold E. Ball. Jack Reed led the Commissioners with James J. Torrance a close second and Elmer L. Risse third. William H. Barnes had a lead of an even 100 over William P. Nowe for Sheriff. Dr. James Harkins led R. A. McMurray for Coroner.

In Arnold, Whitten, Snyder, Hobbs, Torrance, Nowe and Harkins were the leading candidates for Judge, Commissioner, Sheriff and Coroner.

GIRL ARRESTED IN ALIEN RING

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (Universal).—Seven men, two of them attorneys, were arraigned before United States Commissioner O'Neill as members of the $100,000,000 alien smuggling ring charged with conspiracy to violate immigration laws.

The day's activities ended with the arrest of an internationally-known criminal and a pretty young Hungarian woman.

The criminal is Joseph Belasco Morales, wanted in Spain and Italy and already convicted four times in the latter country. He was identified as being one of the ringleaders of the smugglers and was at Ellis Island as steps were taken to deport him.

The pretty young woman was Franciska Tempfli, 24, arrested at the Shelbourne Hotel, Rockaway Park, N. Y. Federal officials charged she was smuggled in and afterward worked for the ring. She was to be taken to Ellis Island today.

RETAILING HELD U. S. PROBLEM BY BRISBANE

Famous Editor Declares Newspapers Companions Of American Merchants

Universal Service.

BOSTON, Sept. 17 — The retailing problem of this country is the problem of every person in the United States because it is affected by unemployment, and the newspaper is the merchant's retail companion, Arthur Brisbane, famous American editor, declared in an address before the conference on retail distribution at the University Club. He said:

"In retailing, there are two important things to consider. First, you must have what the people want, and second, you must tell them that you have it.

PROBLEM FOR ALL

"Newspapers in their retailings endeavor to deliver information. Merchants endeavor to deliver their products.

"The newspaper, in a sense, is the retail companion of the merchant, because ours is a retail business. We deal in many more commodities, perhaps, than does the average merchant, but still we retail.

"The retailing problem of the United States is the problem of every person in the United States, principally because the great problem is affected by unemployment.

URGES ACTUAL RELIEF

"On the number of men admitted at the back door of the factory or mill, as you understand, depends the number of people who come in the front door of the store, or the shop—or who find it possible to come in the front door of the store or shop.

"If there is congestion at the back doors of the country's stores, mills and factories, then there is movement of merchandise into the stores for those who can buy. If there is not this congestion at the back doors, you cannot expect the problem of unemployment to be solved.

"It is all very well for generous men and women to join committees for the relief of unemployment, but the actual relief of unemployment would be far better."

'Third Degree' Probe Launched in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 17 (AP)—Chief of Detectives Alfonso Labastida was suspended today pending investigation of charges that prisoners have been subjected to torture in the federal district jails.

Wilson Funeral

Funeral services for Lawrence H. Wilson, 54, for 30 years a signal supervisor for the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, who died Tuesday in his home, 401 Thirty-fifth street, Beaver Falls, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Beaver Falls. Burial will be in Grove Cemetery. He was born in Newburg, W. Va., and was a member of Beaver Valley Lodge No. 478, F. & A. M.; New Castle Consistory, and the United Spanish War Veterans, Camp 59. He was an elder in the church. He leaves his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Fred C. Cooke, of Beaver, Pa.; a step-daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Biddlestone Baxter, of Glassport; two sisters and two brothers.

George H. Vant

Funeral services for George H. Vant, district sales manager of the Carnegie Steel Company, at Cincinnati, killed Tuesday in a fall down an elevator shaft in an Indianapolis garage, will be held tomorrow in the chapel of Homewood Cemetery. He was born in Ithaca, N. Y., in 1879. He was a reporter on the Ithaca Daily Journal, later coming to Pittsburgh. He joined the staff of the Carnegie Steel Company in 1906. He leaves his wife, Ada Jenks Vant, and a son. He was a member of numerous clubs and the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Frank W. Hanitch

Funeral services for Frank W. Hanitch, 70, native of Dayton, O., and resident of Pittsburgh for the past 40 years, who died Monday, September 14, will be held at Dayton, O., on Friday, September 18. He was a pioneer in suburban development here, being associated with the Wood Harmon & Co. in the promotion of Melrose in 1892. Interment will be in Dayton, Friday.

McCready Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert A. McCready, who died yesterday in her home at the Schenley Arms Apartments, will be held in the T. B. Moreland funeral home, North Highland avenue and Rippey street, at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Interment will be in East Liverpool, O., of which city she was a native. She leaves a daughter, Gayle Hiss.

Nautilus Cruising Through Storms To Bergen

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 17 (Universal)—The submarine Nautilus of the Wilkins-Ellsworth Arctic Expedition passed Bodoe en route to Bergen, Norway, from Spitzbergen. Sir Hubert Wilkins radioed that his craft is encountering storms.

AVERS WOMEN SLEW TEACHER

FORT MORGAN, Col., Sept. 17 (AP)—John Schopflin, 21-year-old farm hand from the witness stand in his murder trial has named two married women as the alleged slayers of Miss Enid Marriott, Wiggins, Col., school teacher.

Schopflin yesterday repudiated previous confessions that he killed the young teacher and testified Mrs. Mina Gilliland, 38, the mother of five children, had told him she and Mrs. Edna Mate shot Miss Marriott to death last November.

The defendant said he had been in love with Mrs. Gilliland and that the teacher had threatened to expose him. Schopflin asserted Mrs. Gilliland told him she and Mrs. Mate took the teacher 2½ miles west of Wiggins and shot her to death.

Pittsburgh Woman Freed in Auto Death

WINDSOR, Ontario, Sept. 17 (AP)—Miss Theresa Bellanti, of Pittsburgh, yesterday was acquitted of a reckless driving charge arising out of an automobile accident in which one woman was killed and another injured. Her car was in collision with one driven by J. L. Hailey, of Sandusky, O.

WATER METER CONTRACT LET

The Pittsburgh Equitable Meter Company has been awarded a contract to supply Pittsburgh's water meters for five years, Director W. H. Dunlap, head of the city Department of Supplies, said today. The award was on bids received by the city August 3. Only two bids were received.

At the time the bids were received protests were filed by the Gamon Meter Company and the Neptune Meter Company. The Worthington Pump and Machine Company returned its bid call without comment.

The total amount of the contract awarded the Equitable company was not made public by city officials, who said it would depend upon the number of meters and parts purchased by the city and private users under the unit prices. It was indicated, however, that the amount might exceed $100,000.

PHILCO RADIO

$1 Delivers The New PENTODE SCREEN-GRID BABY GRAND

She's Lost her Patience . . . and Hurts the ones she Loves!

"Don't speak to me," she cries. "I'm all upset and want to be alone." How often have you felt just this way yourself?

Irritable, Grouchy Wives!

"DON'T speak to me," she cries. "I'm all upset and want to be alone."

Why is it . . . as soon as a woman's nerves become excited she hurts the ones she loves.

She has no patience with anybody. Everything seems to make her unhappy . . . despondent.

No husband can understand the reason why! What has changed her into a silent, moody woman . . . always grumbling and flying into a rage over a trifle?

Those dreadful headaches and backaches . . . that bearing-down feeling and fits of dizziness . . . these things only a woman knows.

Yet your happiness is threatened. Your husband's patience may end. What are you going to do about it?

A simple, household remedy has helped literally thousands upon thousands of women during these particularly difficult times . . . young women . . . mothers before and after childbirth . . . middle-aged women at menopause.

It's Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound . . . and if you are not feeling well you should try it.

It strengthens you through its tonic action. Comforts and helps you over these trying times.

Letters from grateful women flood our mail every day . . . praising this medicine . . . thanking us, and offering to tell others about the miraculous benefits it has wrought.

Yet you go on suffering . . . your life hardly worth living . . . and you haven't tried Vegetable Compound?

Go to your druggist today. Ask him for a bottle of either the liquid or the tablets. Let this strengthening medicine help you.

BOMB AT TENT RITES PROBED

JONESBORO, Ark., Sept. 17 (AP)—Explosion of a tear gas bomb in the tent tabernacle of the Rev. Joe Jeffers, crusading Baptist evangelist during the services last night was under investigation here today.

The explosion threw the congregation of about 4,000 into confusion causing most of them to flee the tent. Jeffers, center of a church controversy attributed it to the chief of police or persons from Jonesboro State College.

Officers said they believed the bomb was stolen from the National Guard detachment here composed largely of college students. Friction resulting from Jeffers' attempts to oust the Rev. D. H. Heard from the pastorate of the First Baptist Church caused the calling of National Guardsmen last week.

Stock Losses Balked $10,000,000 'Spender'

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (INS)—C. Harold Smith, millionaire carbon paper manufacturer who gave a prize for the best suggestion of how to spend $10,000,000 for the benefit of mankind, did not mention the plan which will, it was revealed today. Heavy stock losses reduced his estate to $4,003,00 and made carrying out his scheme impossible.

Smith died in London in August. His widow and seven adult daughters received the bulk of the estate. Bequests were made to 65 employes.

YOU are cordially invited to visit this latest of the Childs Restaurants. Early Spanish Renaissance in style and delightfully luxurious in appointments, it is one of the most charmingly picturesque eating places in Pittsburgh, destined to become the meeting place of lovers of good food and good cheer from all over the city.

Around this spacious dining room are vaulted arcades with rustic lamps high overhead casting their mellow light on the tables below; and directly off these arcades are cozy little booths where one may dine with friends in comparative seclusion.

Whether you wish a full course dinner or a light luncheon at the soda fountain, whether succulent bivalves fresh from the oyster bar or afternoon tea served by dainty maids, you will find your heart's desire at this delightful eating place.

COMING HERE THIS FALL

GRAHAM M'NAMEE BILL MUNDAY TED HUSING

The prize sport announcers of the networks will come to Pittsburgh this fall to describe football games at The Stadium. McNamee will handle the Notre Dame-Tech struggle on Saturday, October 31, for an NBC red network; Ted Husing will bring his powerful binoculars to The Stadium once again for the Pitt-Army setto on Saturday, November 14, and Bill Munday, of "crap-shooting" formation fame, will make his first appearance in this city on Thanksgiving Day for the Pitt-Nebraska battle.

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Though loyal to oldtime music, the lords of the loudspeakers have provided little activity to the musical comedy stars of other days.

Save for Julia Sanderson, Weber and Fields and Frank Moulan and for a brief period Marie Cahill, none of them is heard. Where are the Lulu Glasers, and Louise Gunnings and Ann Swinburnes and Olga cooks and Virginia Earls? And for that matter, where are Richard Carle and Jeff DeAngelis and Joe Cawthorn? Radio has yet to ferret them out. They are as silent as a stock promoter, yet in their day they charmed the nation from Gotham to the Golden Gate.

The first of the old-time stars to enter the radio corral, Moulan contributed much to building up a vogue for Roxy's Gang. Julia Sanderson is one of the half dozen leading feminine entertainers on the microphone. Today she is as definitely associated with radio as once she was with the girl-and-music shows of Charles Frohman. She came to the loudspeakers with her youthful chuckle, her wistfulness in acting an amorous ballad, and clicked at once.

It took Weber and Fields longer to establish themselves in the new field. They had to feel their way along, had to learn what type of comedy to discard, what type of jokes brought the most enthusiastic letters. Good old fan mail! Chief sustenance today 10,000 performers.

It is said that the fan mail pouring into Weber and Fields was largely responsible for the network contracts recently given the comedians. Anyway, they are now in the heavy sugar, helping to hold the eardrums of the land for cigaret cheerleaders.

* * *

No better evidence that American civilization is getting jazzier can be offered than the association of Weber and Fields with cigarets. From an amusement period standpoint they belong to the stogie, cheroot, five-cent cigar era.

There May be Poison in your Intestines!

STEP out tomorrow morning with the fresh buoyancy and briskness that comes from a clean intestinal tract. Syrup Pepsin—a doctor's prescription for the bowels—will help you do this. This compound of fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other mild ingredients will clean you out thoroughly—without griping, sickening or discomfort.

Poisons absorbed into the system from souring waste in the bowels cause that dull, headachy, sluggish, bilious condition, coat the tongue, foul the breath; sap energy, strength and nerve-force. A little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will clear up trouble like that, gently, harmlessly, in a hurry. The great difference you will make in your feelings over night will convince you of its merit.

Dr. Caldwell studied bowel troubles for forty-seven years. This long experience enabled him to make his prescription just what men, women, old people and children need. Its natural, mild, thorough action and its pleasant taste commend it to everyone. That's why "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," as it is called, is the largest selling laxative in drugstores everywhere.

Before Baby Comes

Turn the months of waiting into ease and comfort

THE birth of a child is a beautiful sacrifice the mother-to-be makes for the world . . . inconveniences, discomforts and pains are endured and borne without complaint.

You owe it to yourself and your unborn child to employ reasonable and harmless means to relieve yourself of needless suffering, pain and nervousness as well as the possible excessive disfigurement this the formation of the striae gravidarum, those minute breaks of the skin and tissues which usually attend this condition.

For generations mothers have used and recommended to their daughters Mother's Friend—a skin emollient which is gently massaged, externally of course, to loosen the skin and abdominal tissues during the stretching and distending process.

Mother's Friend by its relaxing and softening properties, aids in bringing ease and comfort. It also helps to prevent "caking," thus being of great assistance in nursing.

This time-tried aid—the prescription of a physician long used in his practice 60 years ago—is an external and harmless massage medium gratefully and enthusiastically endorsed by mothers and recommended by many physicians and nurses.

For your own comfort and ease of mind, do use it in these trying months. It may be conveniently secured from any druggist in the U. S. in the inexpensive $1.25 size, or, if you prefer, mailed direct on receipt of price.

To those unfamiliar with Mother's Friend we will be glad to mail a testing trial size without charge. You will be delighted with the physical pharmaceutical beauty of the preparation itself. Its use will bring you comfort and happiness.

We Now Present

By Darrell V. Martin
Radio Editor

TWO MORE STADIUM football games were added to the broadcasting schedule this afternoon the Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame struggle on Saturday, October 31, and Pitt's annual encounter with Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day, November 26, will be described over the NBC by Graham McNamee and Bill Munday with WCAE serving as the key station . . . these broadcasts will supplement the already scheduled CBS relay of the Pitt-Army game with Ted Husing at the microphone on Saturday, November 14 . . . further broadcasts of other tilts are pending, bringing to realization the hope of this column and its readers that the entire schedule be put on the air this fall . . . we thank those readers who co-operated with us in writing letters to Stadium officials, the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Darrell V. Martin

NBC took a poll of features that visitors to the Radio World's Fair would like to see in action in a glass encased studio . . . and lo! Moonshine and Honeysuckle led all the rest!

* * *

Suggestions:

Ruth Etting gives "Shine On Harvest Moon" a rest tonight and sings another old timer, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" for Rudy Vallee fans on WCAE at 8 . . . Massenet, the French composer whose poetic music usually centered itself about famous women in story and legend with exotic, passionate, fiery creatures like "Thais" and "Salome," is the hero of the Dramatic Musicale on WCAE at 9 . . . when Massenet met a beautiful singer, it was his habit to immediately sit down and compose an opera for her . . . his glorious "Elegie" and the Mirror Aria from "Thais" are on tonight's Musicale . . . John Charles Thomas, famous baritone, bids his radio audience "Auf Wiedersehen" on KDKA at 9:30 . . . a Show Boat Medley in full score should attract many listeners to WJAS at 10:45.

* * *

Question a Day:

Is it true that radio stations are not allowed in Egypt, and if so why not?—Gertrude U., Monongahela, Pa.

Answer—Egyptians have a superstition about broadcasting and refuse to allow any stations to be built there, although the British have often proposed erecting a powerful station in the Libyan Desert.

Theodore (Ted) Epstein, WCAE announcer who prepared for his bar examinations by reading law cases between station standbys, would rather hear Schubert's "Serenade" than any other bit of music . . .

There are 41 college radio stations in the United States . . . Network sponsors usually distribute packages of their product to musicians after the first broadcast . . . when it's cigarets about half of the musicians take their gifts to a nearby drug store and trade them for their favorite brand . . .

James Ayres of the CBS "Show Boat" is recovering in a New York hospital from that automobile accident in which his companion, Elvira Underwood, vaudeville star, was killed . . .

WJAS has scheduled Dave Rubinoff for 6:30 tomorrow night . . .

Frazier Hunt was smart in signing Calvin Coolidge for the opener of a new series of "Great Personalities," due on NBC-KDKA about Tuesday, October 6 . . .

Well, we'll have to admit that we didn't hear Mahatma Gandhi on CBS-WJAS Sunday . . . so charge up an error, folks . . . and forgive us too, for the Boswell Sisters passing up "Star Dust" after they had particularly asked us to mention it.

Frederick G. Rodgers is in Boston for the tenth anniversary celebration of WBZ tomorrow night at 11 o'clock . . . Boston has graduated some excellent announcers, among them Fred Weber, John S. Young, Kenneth MacGregor, Howard Petrie and Alwyn Bach . . .

The Polly Moran broadcast on WJAS next Monday has been canceled due to the musicians' strike . . . that also kills the KDKA Dinner Party tomorrow night and the Theater Party Monday night . . . unless something happens . . .

Jack Banky, of the "Blues Chasers," has had to buy a hymn book . . . listeners like sacred music to the extent of 15 letters a day to KQV . . .

It's "Waltz Night" for Jesse Crawford, organist, on WEAF (660kc.) at 11:15 . . .

F. M. T. Sewickley—Paul Whiteman and his bride are in New York on a belated honeymoon . . . Paul is expected back at KYW on Saturday, September 26 . . . thanx heaps for the encouraging letter.

Today's Tid Bit:

Lois Sartwell, of 303 Nicholson avenue, Ellwood City, writes:

"I am just adding another namesake to Glenn Riggs' list. The proprietor of an army store in Brookville, Pa., has the same name but not the same laugh."

Well, that makes 10 "Glenn Riggs" with a few more precincts yet to be heard from.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, or laxative ready to start sluicing you and scaring them to make you suddenly sweet and hilarious and full of vim.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement does not get at the cause. The reason for your down and out feeling is your LIVER. It ought to pour two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just remains in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Your skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel sick and weak. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts. Amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't take for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name. Carter's Little Liver Pills are the well-known Carter's substitute. Take as directed. © 1931, C. M. Co.

WOODVILLE RECORDS SCANNED IN POOR BOARD QUIZ

COUNTY HOME FINANCES IN SPOTLIGHT

Visitors Survey Deeds and Minutes of Directors; Appeal Steps Undecided

Members of the visiting committee appointed by Judge James H. Gray to investigate the business methods of the Allegheny County Board of Poor Directors have started their probe by delving into records of the County Home at Woodville.

Voucher records showing all payments, minutes of the proceedings of the directors since 1923, insurance policies and deeds are being scanned.

On the visiting committee are Attorneys E. H. Wicks, G. M. McDonald and Paul E. Hutchinson. They were met at the County Home yesterday afternoon by J. W. Donaldson, treasurer and head bookkeeper, and A. F. Smith, purchasing agent, who turned over all records for their inspection.

The committee plans to resume its investigation this afternoon. The directors' room at the Woodville home was in use this morning for the regular meeting of the Poor Directors.

Harry W. McIntosh, counsel for the present Poor Board, which includes Maj. J. Clyde Miller, Dr. W. L. Henderson and H. H. Dixon, said last night no decision had been reached on the possibility of carrying their appeal to the State Supreme Court. Judge Thomas J. Baldridge, of Superior Court, yesterday refused an appeal for a supersedeas from Judge Gray's decision.

HOMEOPATHS END MEET

Those elected are: President, Dr. H. Malcolm Read, of York; first vice president, Dr. George G. Shoemaker, of Pittsburgh; second vice president, Dr. William Doebels, of Huntingdon, Pa.; secretary, Dr. C. F. Kutteroff, of Philadelphia; treasurer, Dr. Anna Johnston, of Pittsburgh, and directors, Dr. John D. Kistler, of Pittsburgh; Dr. William M. Hillegas, of Philadelphia, and Dr. E. H. Douds, of Beaver Falls, Pa.

Dr. Kistler, who heads the directors, is retiring president. Papers on eye, ear, nose and throat were heard from leading physicians.

Woman Takes Poison Because of Illness

Mrs. Letitia Kain, 27, of 1533 Brighton road, was in Presbyterian Hospital today from the effects of poison swallowed in her room late last night. The family with whom she and her husband lived returned from an automobile trip and found a note from the woman saying she had swallowed the poison, police said. Ill health was given as the reason for the act.

Grasshoppers Give Democrats Campaign Idea

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Mr. Hoover is leaving the Rapidan River for his other camp on Pennsylvania avenue.

Jim Watson, of Indiana, says you might as well blame Herbert for the grasshopper invasion as the business slump.

Never thought of that. But it's an idea for the Democrats to work on.

Jim also praised the Farm Board. Say, those farmers who have been yelling about their mortgages had better come to New York and see a real one.

The Rockefeller boys have just taken a $65,000,000 plaster on Radio City. Al Smith has a $27,000,000 poultice on the Empire State Building.

There's a couple of mortgages that are mortgages. If a farmer had one of those things on his barn he would go to college to study how to pull a shotgun trigger with his big toe.

WINS OFFICE IN ETNA

DR. BERTHA L. BERGER . . . FRIENDS SEND CONGRATULATIONS

ETNA ELECTS FIRST WOMAN

Dr. Bertha L. Berger today holds the nomination for school director in the Borough of Etna, and is the first woman to hold public office in her community.

Believing that the schools of the borough should have modern developments—mother instruction, kindergarten, visiting nurse, all of which Dr. Berger believes are important functions of school curriculum—she told the people of her plans.

The majority agreed with another idea she talked about: that school boards should be made up of both men and women.

Dr. Berger lives at 29 Freeport street.

North Side Woman Cut, Husband Held

Walter Kane, 29, of 212 East Robinson street, was held by North Side police today following the cutting of his wife during a fight in her home, 948 North Lincoln avenue, according to a police report. The wife, Martha Kane, 27, was treated at Allegheny General Hospital for cuts on the head and later released by police after they had placed a charge of disorderly conduct against her. Police said that Kane also chased May Greer, a roomer, from the house.

Drag River for Body Of Ambridge Boy

Ambridge police today were dragging the Ohio River for the body of Edward Brokos, 16, of 420 Duss avenue, Ambridge, drowned yesterday when a canoe in which he was riding overturned. He was riding with Edward Urban, 18, of 505 Glenwood avenue, Ambridge, and Joe Blankey, 16, of South Heights.

FOOD SUPPLY BIDS ASKED

Bids for furnishing foodstuffs for the City Home at Marview in compliance with new specifications today were asked by Col. W. R. Dunlap, director of the Department of Supplies. They will be opened September 21.

The new specifications stipulate exact quantities and specify delivery dates. Bids opened recently by Col. Dunlap were rejected after John D. Houston, investigator of the investigation into the Supplies Department which resulted in the indictment of Mayor Charles H. Kline and his deposed supplies director, Bertram L. Fuccop, protested the bids were unfair.

Schools Observe Constitution Day

The one hundred and forty-third anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States is being generally observed today with programs in public and parochial schools.

Pageants showing the historic figures who had a part in the making of the constitution have been arranged in a number of the primary grades. In the high schools, discussions regarding the constitution and its modern applications are being featured.

Conspiracy Charges Up Tonight Before Alderman; Morrow Bond Not Asked

The Registration Commissioners will be given hearings tonight before Alderman W. A. Headley, on charges of conspiracy to violate the election laws.

Alderman Headley today said he would not require a bond of John K. Morrow, chairman of the board, despite insistence by the complainant that he be placed under bail. Morrow and the other three members are at liberty on their own recognizance.

Morrow and the other members were arrested Tuesday on complaint of Mrs. Mary F. Green, of Jackson street. She charged Morrow conspired with Edward Sullivan, candidate for constable of the Twenty-fifth Ward, to strike from the lists names of persons opposed to Sullivan. The latter was defeated by Frank Perris, city detective.

CADETS TO PASS IN REVIEW

Twelve hundred West Point cadets will arrive in Pittsburgh Saturday morning, November 14, to attend the Army-Pitt football game. They are scheduled to arrive at the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Station at 9 a. m. The team will get in town Friday morning, November 13.

The cadet corps will be reviewed downtown at a location not yet determined, by well known military men and persons of national importance, it has been announced.

Provision for and entertainment of the cadets will be arranged by H. L. McGrath, president of the Benny Haven's Club of West Point graduates in Pittsburgh. He will be assisted by Maj. Philip Mathews, managing director of the Allegheny County Emergency Association and a member of the club, and by Don Harrison, graduate manager of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh.

Miss Ruth, one of the three of his own children who, with seven other Pittsburgh pupils, were subjects at the U. S. Bureau of Mines, Forbes street, for a series of experiments headed by Perry C. Houghten, 1136 Murray Hill avenue, to seek out proper heat and moisture conditions.

CARNEY RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Richard J. Carney, of 3302 Niagara street, for eight years chief investigator of the County Department of Public Works, who died yesterday, will be held in St. Agnes' Church at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Prior to his services with the Public Works Department, Carney served under Coroners Heber McDowell, Jesse McGreary and Joseph G. Armstrong, and for four years was chief clerk of the Department of Charities, and later with Armstrong in the County Treasurer's office.

13 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The City Department of Health reported 13 new cases quarantined today, three of scarlet fever, one of diphtheria, two of measles, four of whooping cough and three of pneumonia.

Watchdog Looks On as Intruder Ransacks Shop

While a watchdog looked on, a Negro robber early today ransacked the butcher shop of Mary A. Deiss, at 2466 Wylie avenue, and escaped without loot.

The robber, evidently a familiar figure in the neighborhood, was not molested by the dog as he searched the store.

Lloyd Hallett, who lives next the store, told police he accosted the Negro as he left the store, but permitted him to escape when he made a motion as if to draw a revolver. He furnished police with a description of the fugitive.

Woman Takes Poison For Headache Pills

Mistaking poison pellets for headache tablets today caused the serious illness of Mrs. Hazel Miller, 37, of 5630 Hays street, according to attaches of St. Francis Hospital, where she was taken. Mrs. Miller's condition has not been determined.

CHILDREN USED IN HEAT TEST

Metabolism tests on school children, including three of his own, will be explained by Perry G. Houghten, of 1136 Murray Hill avenue, director of the research laboratory of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, before the sixtieth annual meeting of the American Public Health Association in Montreal today.

Mr. Houghten

The purpose of his investigations was to enable engineers to provide more healthful and comfortable schoolroom conditions as to heating and ventilating. The tests were made at the research laboratory at the United States Bureau of Mines.

Better Age Forecast In Scharff Address

A new and better age will follow the present economic state, Maurice R. Scharff, president of the Main Aeronautic Company, predicted in an address before the Pittsburgh Chapter, National Association of Cost Accountants, at a meeting in the William Penn Hotel last night.

The "most valuable member" trophy for service to the chapter was awarded to Frank Knight, accountant of the MacBeth-Evans Glass Company, at a meeting preceding the dinner.

Motorcyclist Dies Of Crash Injuries

Edward Logue, 25, mechanic, of Elizabeth Township, died last night in Homestead Hospital as a result of being struck by an automobile while he was trying out a motorcycle in Interberg street, Lincoln Place, Tuesday. He had been engaged to repair a motorcycle of the Glassport Police Department and was testing the machine when he was struck by a car driven, police said, by R. J. Buckner, 25, of Lincoln Place.

HARRIS GROUP MAY ACT FOR PROSECUTIONS

Conference of Committee Scheduled While Sleuths Hunt Damage Suspects

The Voting Machine Committee of Allegheny County, today will sift charges growing out of the voting machine situation, while county detectives are pursuing their hunt for the "fillers" who, it is alleged, participated in a plot to disconnect the machines and cut off 19 ballots in the Tuesday primaries.

Holding affidavits charging violations of the voting law, as well as considerable information on voting machine performance, the committee will consider plans for further investigation this afternoon. Headed by State Senator Frank J. Harris, the committee has handed affidavits to the District Attorney for prosecution. The course will be decided today. The meeting will be held in Senator Harris' office in the Clark Building.

'REPAIRMAN' MISSING

No trace has been found of the mysterious L. Funk, reported discharged for putting in disrepair machine he was hired to repair.

Representatives of the company making the machines said they would find him when they found it convenient to prosecute.

The results of a survey of the vote machine performance in the third class cities and the first four wards of Pittsburgh were in the hands of the committee today. Summaries and specific data will be discussed.

SCOPE WIDENED

While the charges of tampering and other irregularities are being investigated at the order of District Attorney Andrew T. Park, the committee will primarily deal with other phases of vote machine operation.

The dual investigation by the District Attorney and the committee follows on a checkup of the machine by 100 watchers assigned by W. D. Grimes, Judge candidate.

Included in reports on the machines was that of Mrs. Sophie Nottz, who charged as well in an affidavit that city employes, one of whom she said did not live in the district, violated election laws in the Second Ward. Miss Margie Sullivan swore that two members of the board in the same ward had operated the machines from morning until afternoon, whether asked to give assistance or not.

Fire in Folding Bed Blamed on Cigaret

A cigaret butt was blamed by firemen for a blaze which started in a folding bed in the apartment of Harry Herrick, first floor of 8 Citron way, this morning, causing $300 damage. Herrick had left for work and Mrs. Herrick summoned firemen. The fire was restricted to one room.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

So Mayor Walker stood Mahatma Gandhi up and went to a night club instead. As our Southern mothers always said, "Raising will tell."

Will Rogers

Gandhi on viewing Buckingham Palace all illuminated said, "What an extravagance for a country trying to balance its budget."

Mr. Hoover has just appointed a "home building conference." Why not call a moratorium on the mortgages of the ones we got?

ROUTED BY FIRE IN ANCIENT CHURCH

SPIROS TOUNTAS — MRS. HELEN LAMOS — MRS. FREDA VASSON

Members of the two families routed by fire in abandoned Morningside Presbyterian Church building, Butler street, built about 75 years ago. The fire, rating two alarms, destroyed it.

Actress, Architect Secretly Married

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 17.—(INS)—The secret marriage of Anne Cornwall, stage and film actress, to Ellis Taylor, architect and sportsman, was revealed today. The couple disclosed they secretly eloped to Yuma, Ariz., three weeks ago.

FIRE DESTROYS OLD PADLOCKED CHURCH

Seven Butler Street Residents of Adjoining Building Flee to Street

The old Morningside Presbyterian Church, a two story frame structure at 7325-27 Butler street, built about 75 years ago and abandoned when the congregation built a new edifice 30 years ago, was destroyed by fire early today.

Two alarms sounded within 10 minutes brought a half dozen fire companies which prevented the flames from spreading to nearby frame dwellings. The first floor, until eight months ago was a confectionery. It was padlocked for dry law violations in it. The lock and sign remained intact when the door was battered down with fire axes.

SEVEN FLEE FLAMES

Seven persons living in an adjacent house at 7331 Butler street were routed when the flames threatened. They were Peter Vasson, his wife, Freda, 23, and their two children, Mary, 3, and James, 1; Mrs. Vasson's mother, Mrs. Helen Lamos, and two roomers, Spiros Tountas and Louis Poulos.

Fire Chief Richard L. Smith, who estimated the damage at $2,000, said the cause was undetermined.

ROOF LIKE BONFIRE

When firemen arrived the flames were shooting through the shingle roof and illuminated the neighborhood at Heth's Run Bridge.

The confectionery was vacated when the government padlock was placed on the door. The other parts of the building had been vacant for several years, neighbors said.

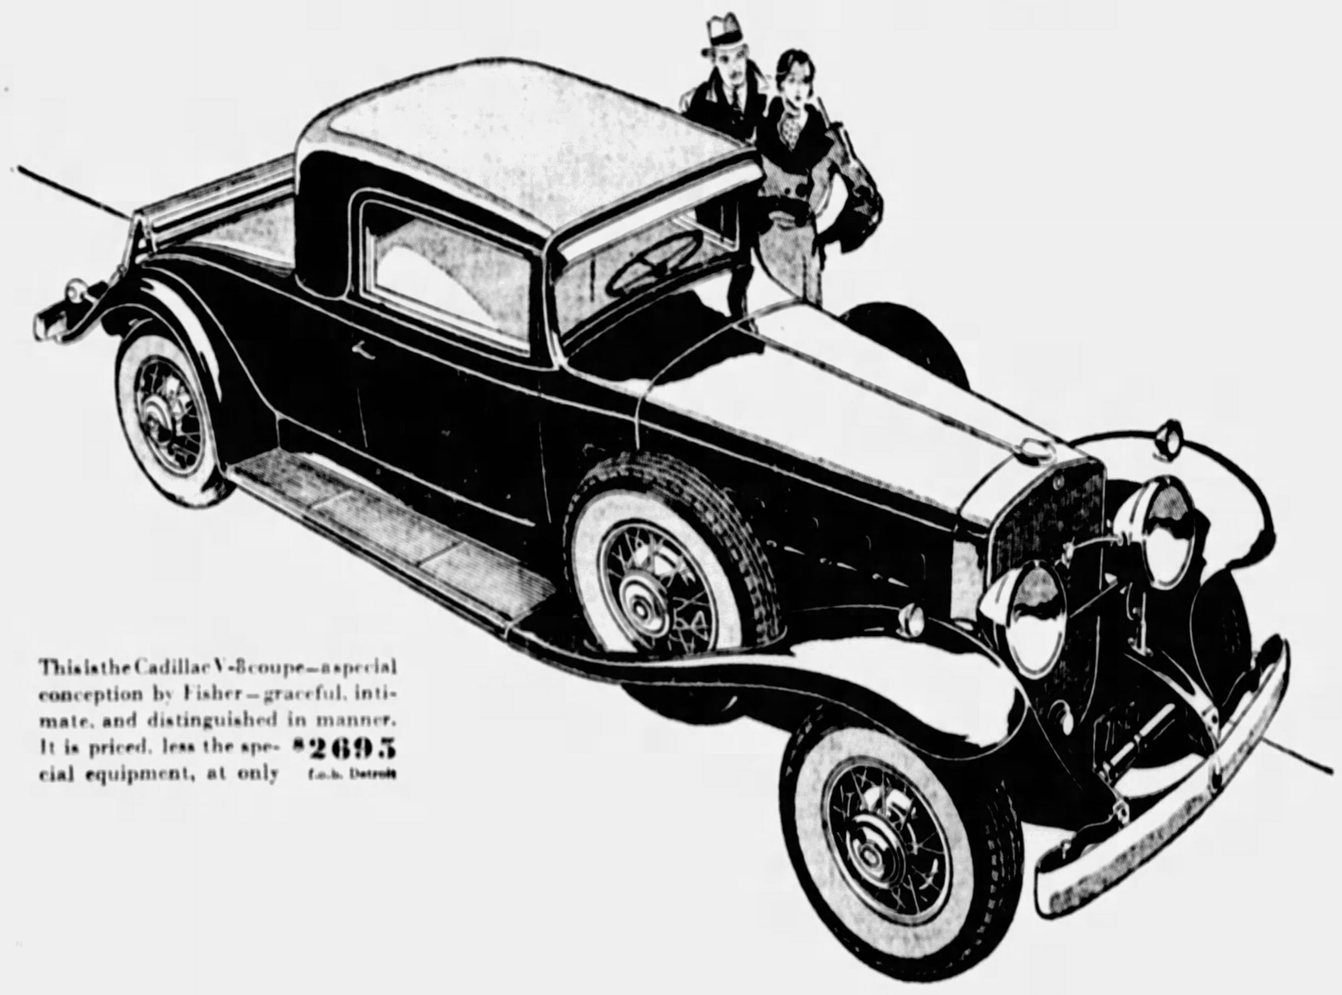
Cadillac V-8



This is the Cadillac V-8 coupe—a special conception by Fisher—graceful, intimate, and distinguished in manner. It is priced, less the special equipment, at only $2695 f.o.b. Detroit

The finest V-8 Cadillac ever built

. . . yet only $2695, f.o.b. Detroit

For many years, the Cadillac V-8 has been one of the most eagerly sought-after commodities in the world—for with it has gone a measure of prestige and distinction provided by few other possessions a man could acquire.

So obvious has been this fact, and so universally acknowledged, that men and women have seldom considered price when the time has come in their lives for Cadillac ownership.

And even in this day of value-seeking, such continues to be the case. The family that is ready for a Cadillac, buys it without much thought of the cost.

Certainly, however, it should be a matter for additional satisfaction that this distinguished car is now so modestly priced.

Since the inauguration of Cadillac's broadened manufacturing program, Cadillac V-8 prices have been lowered hundreds of dollars on each model. Actually, V-8 ownership is now almost as inexpensive, from every standpoint, as that of a medium-priced automobile.

Yet, the car that carries the V-8 emblem today is the finest V-8 that Cadillac has ever built—finest in engineering, finest in materials and finest in workmanship.

Won't you come in and drive a Cadillac V-8—today? Prices now range upward from only $2695, f. o. b. Detroit.

Ground is to be broken Tuesday for the United States government's memorial at Fort Necessity, the site of George Washington's first battle, in 1754. Addresses will be made by Acting Secretary of War Frederick J. Payne and Congressman Sol Bloom, president of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

Ceremonies are to begin at 4 p. m. The program is under the auspices of the Fort Necessity Chapter, the Daughters of the American Revolution, American Legion and Penn-Lincoln Federation. Governor Pinchot is expected to attend.

Grain Men Score Farm Board Delay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(AP)—A charge that the Farm Board would not aid traders to prevent solution of the wheat surplus problem while the wheat farmer perishes was made today by a group of Pacific Northwest grain men.

The group, headed by Peyton Sammons, Pasco, Wash., grain dealer, visited Secretary Hyde yesterday was notified he could abroad. He attended the board conferences on proposed International Congress Against Alcoholism in Switzerland.

SCOUTS TO HEAR HIGH COURT JUSTICE

Owen J. Roberts Scheduled Speaker for Regional Banquet Next Wednesday

At the annual meeting and banquet of Region No. 3, Boy Scouts of America, Wednesday night in the William Penn Hotel, Justice Owen J. Roberts, of the Supreme Court of the United States, chairman of the board of directors of the Chester County Scout Council is to be the guest of honor and principal speaker. He will talk on "Youth and the Law."

Delegates from Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia are expected to attend the banquet which will close the two-day program of the eleventh annual meeting of the region.

Other speakers will include Dr. F. R. Weidlein, director of Mellon Institute, and Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive.

VOTE COUNTERS 'SWEAR OFF'

Some election boards are completing their tabulation today. Others who finished in the late hours of the night or early morning in a state of near collapse today are voting "never again."

The enlarging of the precincts due to the adoption of the voting machine, the heavy vote and the numerous candidates added to the burdens of the election officials even where there was no trouble.

Decisions in many local contests were not known until today, while the complete vote in county and city fights, too, was retarded. Many boards were forced to "cat-nap" between counts for various offices and all welcomed the finish of the arduous tasks incident to the primary that will go down in history as one of the most hectic in county annals.

Soviet Timber Trust Head Put on Trial

MOSCOW, Sept. 17.—(AP)—A. P. Kanutin, head of Sevvostles, one of the largest Soviet timber trusts, was on trial with eight fellow officials of the trust in the Soviet Supreme Court today on charges of having caused a 30,000,000 ruble loss through mismanagement.

The trust's operations cover 22,000,000 acres and it employs 126,000 workers.

CITY TO HONOR OLD MILITARY ORGANIZATION

Mayor Sets Aside Two Days as Duquesne Greys Open Centennial Fete

Mayor Charles H. Kline has issued a proclamation designating tomorrow and Saturday "Duquesne Grey" days in honor of the centennial of this historic military organization. He urges that the National colors be displayed throughout the city to supplement the planned military display, parade and review.

A regimental review of the 28th Field Artillery, Pennsylvania National Guard, commanded by Col. William R. Dunlap, will be held at Pitt Stadium at 8 p. m. Saturday. Following the review Maj. Gen. William G. Price, Jr., commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard, will deliver an address.

A feature will be presentation of new uniforms and equipment of the six periods of service of the Duquesne Greys, Mexican, Civil, Spanish-American wars, border service, World War and present day service.

Stop this theft of Coffee Flavor!

Beware of Oxygen, that light-fingered thief of flavor, now known to attack coffee the instant roasting is complete.

(1) Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in nine days after roasting.

(2) Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in nine days after roasting.

All due to the attack of Oxygen!

Think of it! Forty-five to sixty-five per cent of the flavor gone from nine-day-old coffee. Even vacuum packing, a definite improvement over old-fashioned methods, removes only part of the air from the can, leaving sealed in enough Oxygen to cause flavor loss and deterioration.

The new Vita-Fresh Process removes the air so completely that the most rigid chemical analysis reveals no trace of Oxygen in the Vita-Fresh can after packing.

Remember—Oxygen is the destroyer of coffee freshness and flavor. The Vita-Fresh Process alone gives full protection to coffee goodness. Maxwell House and Maxwell House only gives you this guarantee of full flavor, full value in every pound.

Try a cup of fresh coffee—it will amaze and delight you

After trying Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee, if you and your family do not agree that it is the finest coffee you have ever tasted—simply return the can with unused portion to the grocer from whom you bought it and he will gladly return the full purchase price.

Others are H. F. Bond, Mrs. John Barclay, Sr., Mrs. [illegible] Coulter, Mrs. [illegible] Dravo, Mrs. D. W. [illegible], Mrs. P. M. [illegible], Mrs. A. C. Ma[illegible], Mrs. Geo[illegible], McNary, Ross [illegible], A. [illegible] Humphreys, William A. [illegible], Henry W. Coulter.

Miss Katharine Walker has taken a box and so has Mrs. Mortimer Miller. Mrs. E. [illegible] Mellon, Mrs. G. R. Nutt and Joseph I. Miller.

Others whose reserved parking space are John Grabowsky, Harry H. Hughes, Mrs. Edward Heilman, Clifford Beegle, James M. Cook, Dr. W. W. Dermitt, [illegible] Turner, John Satler and W. W. Robinson.

There was a wedding [illegible] East yesterday at [illegible] And Bellaire Presbyterian [illegible]. The bride was Bessie Bell [illegible], and the bridegroom, Foster Wallace Hinds. Harold [illegible] Jr., son of the William Henry Hannas of New York.

The ceremony took place in the garden of the summer home of the bride's parents, the George Howard Bellises of Sprucedale Lake, N. Y., and a reception at the home followed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore floor-length bridal gown of [illegible] taffeta, puff sleeves and a long train. Her veil of tulle fell from a cap of lace and orange blossoms and her flowers were [illegible] lily.

Lyda Platt Cuff as maid of honor and Margaret Ritter and Lucie Alcott, also of New York, as bridesmaids, wore old-fashioned hydrangea blue taffeta frocks made over ruffled foundations of peach taffeta. The sleeves were puffed and the bodice made tight-fitting. They wore peach-colored felt hats and deltoid plumes of the same shade and carried old-fashioned hosegays of talisman roses, delphinium and Alsatian daisies.

Richard Kleinhans of Newark and John Antonia of Mount Lebanon were ushers. The bride is a Dobbs Ferry girl, and Mr. Hanna is a Princeton graduate.

Mrs. Frank S. Willock and Ruth Willock have returned from Bar Harbor, Me., and have been at the Barclay, New York. The Frederick I. Merricks have been there too.

Miss Margaret Scott Weds Jersey City Man

Miss Margaret Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Scott of South Euclid avenue, Bellevue, became the bride of Herman H. Johnson, of Jersey City, N. J., at 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday, in the Scott home. Officiating was the Rev. Dr. James M. Ferguson of the Bellevue United Presbyterian Church.

The bride wore an afternoon gown of brown transparent velvet with a brown Empire hat and a corsage of talisman roses and lilies of the valley. The bride was unattended, and Thomas Warrenhausen, of New York, served as best man.

Miss Rectenwald Becomes Bride In Church

Lewis Rectenwald, of Mt. Oliver, announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Katherine Rectenwald, to James Keeley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Keeley, of Ulysses street, Mt. Washington, which was solemnized Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in St. George's Church. Officiating was the Rev. F. G. Schmidt.

The bride wore a gown of blue chiffon with a blue velvet hat and carried tea roses. Her only attendant was Miss Dorothy Beck, who wore green chiffon with a hat of black velvet and carried tea roses. Charles Patton, of the East End, served as best man. The wedding breakfast was served in the Keeley home.

After September 25, Mr. and Mrs. Keeley, Jr., will be at home in Brownsville road, Carrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Crowder sailed on the City of Norfolk from Baltimore this afternoon for Haiti and Hamburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Stemple, of Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, have returned from the West Indies and South America. In New York they were met by Mrs. Stemple's mother, Mrs. W. S. Hart, and flies motored home.

Miss Alice Tuttle Duff, of Riverview avenue, North Side, will be hostess at an after-vacation party for Pittsburgh alumnae of Irving College on Saturday, September 27.

Miss Duff will be assisted by Miss Nell Gochring, Miss Pearl Weller and Miss Anna Watts Arthur.

Cards Announce Margaret Cuff Wedding in Valley West

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Cuff, of Friar street, Squirrel Hill, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gladys Margaret Cuff, to Robert J. Blose, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Blose, of Rural Valley, Pa. The ceremony took place at 12:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, September 8, in the Cuff home before an embankment of fall flowers. Officiating was the Rev. Charles M. Sherbourne.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Hazel Cuff, as her sister's maid of honor, wore a gown of green taffeta and carried pink roses. Another sister, Miss Arthur Helen Keown, played the wedding music. Raymond Blose was his brother's best man. Only the families attended the wedding and luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Blose left for a lake trip and after October 1 will be at home in Windsor street.

Zelienople Girl Weds Carrick Man in Indiana

Miss Anne M. Scott, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Scott, of Zelienople, Pa., was married to A. August Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Smith, of Carrick, on Tuesday in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Wesley Covalt, of South Bend, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in Brownsville road, Brentwood.

Miss Hall Elected College Club Head

The College Club has a new president, Mrs. J. Brooks Huff. Mrs. Huff, who has been first vice president, was named by the board to succeed Mrs. Ralph E. Davis, resigned. Mrs. Davis is sailing for France next week to place her four children in school there. She expects to be gone for a year.

Individual Responsibility, Need For Doing Today's Task at Once Stressed at Tea

Individual responsibility and the necessity for doing today's task today were stressed by Mrs. T. M. Stahlman, Congress of Clubs president, in the brief talk she gave yesterday at the tea in her honor.

The program, which came at 3 o'clock, included piano solos by Miss Georgia Orwig; soprano solos by Miss Alberta Irvine, with Mrs. Nellie Risher Roberts at the piano, and a group of readings arranged in appropriate sequence, by Mrs. J. Charles Wilson.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Stahlman, three of her predecessors, Mrs. John S. Sloan, Mrs. Carl E. Closlowsky and Mrs. Ralph W. Johnston. Miss Helen Grimes dropped in later, and nearly all the officers and board of directors. Mrs. H. C. Breidert, who is convalescing, sent a basket of gorgeous flowers which was placed on the console table in the hall. Mrs. S. J. Corbett, Mrs. G. W. L. Price and Mrs. Edward Eynearson were also kept away by illness or absence from town.

The clubhouse was lavishly decorated largely with flowers from Mrs. H. G. Taylor's and Mrs. George J. Campbell's gardens.

Flowers Given

The tea table was spread with an exquisite Italian linen, lace and cutwork cloth, a gift from the social-hospitality committee to the house. In the center stood a silver bowl of mixed flowers. Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. W. H. Francies, vice presidents, poured.

Mrs. Stahlman is to be hostess at a bridge and bake sale which the directors will have on September 30.

SERVICE!

What does service mean, aside from convenience, to those living in apartments? The apartment-wise will tell you it means a great deal.

At Schenley Apartments, where there is every advantage of high-type suites, location and exclusiveness, the service itself is a commodity, justifying a considerable percentage of the rental check.

Those accustomed to good living will find it necessary to make many expenditures outside of the rent unless they live where the service is adequate to every conceivable requirement.

Those who know Pittsburgh apartments will tell you that Schenley Apartments service is in a class by itself. It could not be equalled without a duplication of the physical plant.

In the apartment service system alone there are 125 employes. Added to this are the complete service facilities of the excellent Hotel Schenley, adapted to apartment requirements. Then, too, there are the Schenley shops, which may be considered a salient part of the service system.

An apartment service on the plane of high-class hotel service means everything to good living and the aggregate of savings it makes possible accounts for a substantial portion of the rental check.

PHILLIPS AIDS WELFARE DRIVE

Frank R. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia Company and a member of President Hoover's Committee on Unemployment Relief, has accepted the post of chairman of this Corporation Committee in the coming Welfare and Emergency Associations Joint campaign to $3,500,00 this November, it was announced yesterday.

Mr. Phillips

Mr. Phillips will preside at a dinner to be given at 7 o'clock tomorrow night in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association to which 78 industrial and business leaders of Allegheny County have been invited.

The joint campaign of the Welfare Fund and the Emergency Association scheduled for November 9 to 23, extending throughout Allegheny County, is to be the medium through which with national backing, the county under local leadership is to bring together the tremendous sum necessary to meet local needs in every part of the county.

100 LIVES LOST IN HURRICANES

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 17. (AP)—Upwards of 100 lives were lost in hurricanes that ravaged the Lower California peninsula over the week-end and descended on the Vera Cruz gulf coast yesterday, it was estimated from dispatches today.

A report to the National Telegraph said more than 50 persons were killed at Santa Rosalia, Lower California, and dispatches from La Paz, capital of the southern district of the peninsula, said many were lost when small vessels in the gulf were wrecked.

BELIZE, British Honduras, Sept. 17. (INS)—New aid for survivors of the hurricane and tidal wave which took a toll of 1,500 lives in Belize was on hand today following the arrival of a British warship with food and medical supplies from Jamaica. Burial and cremation of bodies of the victims continued as hundreds of survivors left by boat.

CHINA NEW GOAL OF LINDBERGHS

FUKUOKA, Japan, Sept. 17. (AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here today after a 300-mile flight from Osaka. From here they will proceed to China in continuation of their aerial vacation tour of the Orient.

The Lindberghs arrived from Osaka, Japanese industrial city. They were escorted along the inland sea by a Japan air transport company plane requested by the Colonel to avoid the possibility of crossing fortified areas, an offense for which Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., American fliers, recently were fined.

The Lindberghs will spend the night here. They expect to take off on the more than 600-mile flight to Nanking, capital of China, early tomorrow.

Washington Society Referee Appointed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (INS)—"Who sits where" at the White House and elsewhere in the elite circles of officialdom, today had a referee for the first time in months.

Warren D. Robbins, of Brooklyn, N. Y., until recently minister to El Salvador, took over his duties today as chief of the protocol of the State Department. His duties almost exclusively have to do with seeing that the White House gets off right foot foremost in social affairs.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

There's quite a story to "Shine On, Harvest Moon" . . . After 20 years, the grand chune now is among the best sellers—because Miss Etting revived it and made a platter of it, too . . . Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth wrote that song when they were married and adored each other . . . They made it the hit of the 1907 "Follies" and today it remains the hit of the current "Follies" . . . Poor Nora . . . Before the ink dried on she thought she left enough coin to take care of everything . . . Those three adopted children, for instance . . . They'll be taken care of a little better now, I suppose . . . Now that her song is so popular again . . . There was the complaint some time ago that Nora's remains were placed in one of those "waiting vaults" until plans were made for a firmer resting place . . . Nora is still waiting . . . All because of Money Trouble, I prefer to believe . . . And now looka . . . The song she helped author is a wellnoune hit and royalties to her estate are pourine in . . . Beauty leaving a beautiful memory, Nora also left a beautiful song . . . It is nice to know that some money is coming to those she loved so . . . For Nora gave so much of hers away to this charity and that one, black and white.

The row in the foyer between Lew Brown, the author of "Scandals," and Cleave White, the producer, was exciting while it lasted . . . It wasn't temperament, it was "nerves," and those of us close to the constants realize why the lads exploded . . . So much was at stake . . . Brown and Henderson were told by dopes that they could not achieve success without Buddy De Sylva . . . Is that so? . . . Well, the premiere of "Scandals" revealed that no show ever had so many remarkable and beautiful songs, and no "Scandals" was ever more comical . . . Brown and Henderson's big problem henceforth will be to "top" their current success . . . Too bad about Charlie Meccarin. He broke his tiny toe, from kicking himself around, one presumes . . . Wonder if it is true what they are saying of Bobby Crawford? . . . They say he's one man who ran $2,000,000 up to a shoestring? . . . When I ran her secret marriage months ago she denied it so . . . I mean that member of the four Gales in "Scandals" to Matty B. . . . The Big Denier?

Wonder when Claire Windsor will confess that she intends to marry A. C. Read, Jr., her latest heartbeat—within six months? . . . Funny gag Jolson tells . . . Of the guy who rushed up to his broker and ordered 500 shares of Warner's at Nothing!

It remained for Buffalo, N. Y., to do Something About The Depression . . . If only the other leading cities and even the smaller towns did a carbon copy of it . . . One day recently Buffalo pulled itself together and the town merchants, restaurateurs, et al., plotted "Buffalo Day" . . . On that day the trolley lines reduced their fares. The restaurants slashed prices, theaters reduced admission fees, furniture stores, grocers, barbers, beauty parlors, druggists, lunch-wagons and everybody trimmed their prices for one day to learn if the people had coin to spend . . . Instead of Dog Eat Dog everybody got a break . . . The townsmen and women went on a spending spree and over five million dollars were spent on that one day . . . Naturally a lot of people bought things they won't need again in a long spell, but the Big Idea was to put coin back in circulation . . . The Minds who thought it up are to be braved . . . And so are the Buffalo newspapers, all of which donated free page ads to promote it . . . Buffalo must be a Big town.

That new machine-played baseball game is the most fascinating pastime . . . You pull a lever—it releases a tiny steel pill at your opponent whose lever-manipulated steel bat swings—if it's timed well . . . You may get a single, a double, a triple or a homer—and then again, you can be fouled out or hit into the outfield gloves which your opponent has to use fast with another paw . . . Thrilling? . . . Won $20 from that tin-typer the other night playing him the amateur! . . . One game was particularly exciting—the game that took 12 innings . . . I singled and then tripled—for $20, where? . . . It was 8 in the morning when we quit, but now we have some place to go after the so-called gay places close at 3 . . . You attract an audience, too, and their excitement is like any baseball fan's . . . I only wish Nick the Greek and those others wouldn't make me so nervous, though . . . They stand there and make $500 wagers that you won't score.

You come across the unusuals in the Broadway places . . . That show girl, frinstance, who confessed how her grand sideline works . . . She married a musician and carried him on tour with her . . . But she always told him it would hurt her chances in the profession if they knew she was a bride . . . So he agreed to remain in the background and never questioned her hours, routine, etc. . . . Her racket is to employ "The Motherly Interest" angle on men in every town . . . After sizing up a new victim she goes speakeasying with him, gets him silly and then, while stroking his hair, she coos: "Why on earth does an intelligent man like you waste his money and health in places like these? You are such a fool. Promise me that you will keep better hours and stop squandering your hard-earned money this way, won't you, dear?" . . . The victim as a rule is so startled at meeting a woman who isn't trying to make a sucker out of him, he sobers up and says to himself: "What a girl! A regular guy. She's what I've been waiting for!" . . . So he promises to be a goody and showers he with gifts and money . . . The woman has been receiving money every week from seven different chumps in as many hinterland towns . . . She gets her mail at General Delivery and always does the long-distance phoning at reversed charges . . . This, she explained the other night, is to prevent her unsuspecting hubby from accidentally answering a call and frightening her gold mines away . . . Her men are happy, she's happy and so is her husband . . . A slip of the tongue isn't as dangerous as a slip of a girl.

It amuses me a lot the way that snobbish society writer scolds the Bluebloods about this and that . . . And he dwells in a tenement home! . . . Like the guy who can't get on himself, who is incessantly telling others where to get off . . . It is a good try, anyway . . . I mean the stunt planned for Friday by that newspaper publisher and several of the locally prominent men . . . Who are going to Mr. Hoover in Washington and try and convince him how necessary it is to bring back light wines and beer . . . They might as well take a flying tackle at the Paramount Bldg. . . . Wonder when they are going to wise up to that dead-shot from the West who just opened a shooting gallery for cops to practice their sharpshooting—and after hours he rents it to mobsters so they can polish up on their marksmanship? . . . Very funny to me about how the Fox Film execs handled James Dunn . . . The star of "Bad Girl" was such a bad boy, his bosses sent for his mother to come out there . . . Rudy Vallee does very well in the new "Scandals," but all his clothes fit him like potato sacks . . . Marvelous story the rags missed . . . Five machine gunmen stuck up two political clubs, one on 118th St. and the other on 996th St., the other night . . . They took everything from dollar watches to bankrolls . . . The victims could not complain to the police, ironically enough, because those clubs are mainly gambling houses and "horse" rooms . . . Broadway—a place where Max Gordon's name is in lights with his unknown show, "Cat and the Fiddle"—and where Lunt and Fontanne are starred over "The Guardsman" in the Lights and Mohan's name isn't even mentioned.

Vets Urge Butler Run for Congress

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, who will retire from the Marine Corps October 1, has been invited by the War Veterans League of Delaware County to become a candidate for Congress from the Eighth Congressional District (Delaware County) in the April primaries.

Butler, who will live in Delaware County after his retirement, will be the second of his family in Congress provided he accepts the invitation and is elected. His father, the late Thomas S. Butler, represented the old Delaware-Chester County District.

'Triangle' Slaying Termed Justifiable

YAKIMA, Wash., Sept. 17. (AP)—A coroner's jury has returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide if homicides is ever justifiable" in the slaying of Charles L. Santee, 65, real estate dealer by Deputy Sheriff W. B. Mahan, 48.

Mahan, surprising his wife and Santee when he returned to his home for his revolver and handcuffs Tuesday night, shot Santee four times and then called an ambulance and surrendered himself.

SAKS-FIFTH AVENUE'S
MODERN SHOE SALON
AT
GIMBELS, PITTSBURGH

Madame, Beware of Pasted Shoes!

When next you buy a pair of shoes, ask your salesman if it is a "pasted" or a sewn model. If you are in Saks-Fifth Avenue's Shoe Salon, your salesman will reply promptly (and truthfully) that it is entirely sewn, for there is not a pasted shoe in our stocks.

Putting your foot into a pasted shoe is like putting it into a plaster cast. Your foot cannot breathe. It is neither healthy nor comfortable. The pasting process is a quick, slapstick, vastly inferior and very, very cheap method of shoe construction.

There is not a pasted shoe in our entire Saks-Fifth Avenue stocks. Every shoe is made by master craftsmen, who sew the leather onto the soles entirely by hand. We know the woman of today is interested in new and lower prices, but we firmly believe that she is intelligent enough also to demand quality.

SAKS FIFTH AVENUE SHOES — SECOND FLOOR

The Fenton Shoe with the strap-and-buckle, and perforated decor. In black kid, black or brown suede.
15.50

15.50

The most famous shoe in the world. Saks Fifth Avenue's Fenton Opera Pump in patent leather, black calf, black or brown suede, brown or blue kid. Complete with a new buckle.
12.50

12.50

14.00

12.50

Sewn footwear at Saks-Fifth Avenue's Shoe Salon at Gimbels costs no more to buy than pasted footwear elsewhere. For Saks-Fifth Avenue quality is now fully in line with the feeling that "economy is now smart socially".

Jack Gilbert Going Overseas; Maybe Alone and Again, Maybe Not

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17.

Later this week Jack Gilbert, who came here with a short time to remain, plans a trip to Europe. [illegible] months.

Jack Gilbert

All I know, he says, is that I'm going to New York as soon as I finish some retakes. Then I'm sailing for Europe. I haven't any definite plans beyond that. Maybe I'll go over with somebody. It would be more fun. Or perhaps I'll go alone and just travel about.

Subsidies for Dramatists Will Never Produce Great Plays

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Some leaders in the Actors' Equity Association are bringing forward what they think is a new idea to help the theater. Their plan is to subsidize dramatists—young dramatists, of course, because established dramatists are well able to subsist [illegible]

George Seibel

[illegible] won't write more or better plays if supplied with cakes and ale. The American theater is not suffering from lack of young plays a much as from lack of managers to put them on and theatergoers to see them.

The practice of "grub-staking" will continue among managers who want plays and dramatists who can write them. But that's not a subsidy; that's a speculation.

ACTRESSES TURN AUTHOR

Player folk have gone in for fiction during the past and both Clare Moore, who wrote "A Tree of Crown" and Elisabeth Roberts, with "The Magnificent North," marked fairly high as novelists. Now a new group of performers is growing in the stars.

PEG: Imagine it! A nice girl like Anne wearing her underthings a second day.

FRAN: And she's so dainty in other ways...

PEG: Of course, she's awfully busy—

FRAN: But our way is so quick and easy! Lux just floats out the perspiration stains and odor... and keeps colors so lovely!

Protect your daintiness this simple 4-minute way

More than anything, lingerie and stockings need daily care to be dainty.

After even a few hours of wearing, the delicate silk fibres have absorbed perspiration that may offend. That is why fastidious women never wear underthings a second time without washing.

And Lux makes daintiness so easy—so swift—and so sure! Follow these hints...

Never rub daintylingerie with cake soap. Rubbing tends to streak colors and weaken fabrics. Tests show Lux removes perspiration acids and odor completely—yet leaves colors sparkling like new. If it's safe in water alone, it's safe in Lux.

Wash this 4-minute way:

1. 1 tablespoon of Lux diamonds for 2 pieces.
2. Dip up and down, rinse twice, squeeze in bath towel, shake out.

(Foundations washed this way retain elasticity and fit. It also protects the elastic in panties.)

Try Lux FREE. Try this wonderful care for your lingerie, at our expense. Just send us your name and address, and by return mail you will receive a full-sized package of Lux free. Write today to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. [illegible], Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Three of the singers who will have leading roles in "Three Little Girls" at the Alvin next week have had experience in opera and ain't that grand?" we broadcast breathlessly. The trio of featured glee-sters are Josephine Huston, Greta Alpert and Clifford Newdahl. The season's opening attraction for which, indeed, it is also will have the names of Stephen Mill, Harry Puck, Evangeline Raleigh, Victor Morley, Connie Graham and Clarence Bruer, whose name it seems used to be Brewer until it came under Mr. Volstead's frown. In accordance with long-established custom the matinees will be on Wednesday and Saturday.

Small Timer thinks it is all right for women not to tell their real age unless it so happens that their age begins to tell on them.

Francine Tone and Morris Carnovsky, both of whom were seen last season in Theatre Guild plays, Tone in "Green Grow the Lilacs," are members of The Group Theatre, formed by actors and directors for the purpose of establishing a permanent artistic company in New York. Sponsored by the Guild which once owned the play, the Group Theatre will make its bow in Paul Green's "The House of Connelly," September 28 in the section that bears the alias Broadway.

Small Timer says its tough for a politician who has prided himself on being a live wire to wake up and find that he's haywire.

A company of English players has arrived in New York and has begun rehearsals of a dramatization of J. B. Priestley's novel, "The Good Companions." Julian Wylie, English [illegible] has charge of the production.

Small Timer says that if all the cars in downtown Pittsburgh were placed end to end in the street it would be about as usual.

Tallulah Bankhead, it is said, owns a portable phonograph, which she carries to the studio, so she may have music wherever she goes. Well?

PROTECT YOUR CHILD from the menace of dirty handkerchiefs

School children should use only KLEENEX
Disposable Tissues

MOTHER—you dread those contagious diseases that spread so rapidly among children—but are you doing everything you can to ward them off?

Have you, for instance, taught your child to use Kleenex instead of the ordinary handkerchief—and destroy immediately after using?

That is the way to protect your child from the disease germs that lurk in dirty handkerchiefs. Almost all contagious diseases are contracted through the nose and mouth. And you know how careless children are with handkerchiefs . . . use them for anything . . . then back go countless germs to the unprotected nose and mouth, every time the handkerchief is used.

Germs in Kleenex destroyed

When Kleenex is used, germs are destroyed. And at once. The cost of these soft tissues is so low that each one need be used but once. No self-infection—no laundering—and no irritation, because Kleenex is so remarkably soft and absorbent.

Mother, think! Can you permit your child to risk the dirty handkerchief, now that this new, sanitary handkerchief has come to take its place?

Nothing like it

There's nothing like Kleenex for saving your time and temper a dozen times a day. For wiping spectacles, for applying medicines, for minor bandages, for wiping tarnish plates . . . these are but a few of the many uses for Kleenex. And don't forget that Kleenex is declared the safest, most efficient way of removing face creams by those experienced in skin care. Its superior absorbency is needed to remove all impurities from the pores. All drug, dry goods and department stores sell Kleenex.

TESTS SHOW DISEASE GERMS

That those in handkerchiefs include the Pneumococcus, Streptococcus (hemolyticus), Staphylococcus, and Catarrhalis. A handkerchief used only once during a cold was tested and found to be teeming with germs.

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

Dirty handkerchiefs are a menace to society!

AN UNUSUAL EXPERIENCE

written by the first EYE-WITNESS

The other day I visited the distributing offices of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures and was a guest in the projection room at the first showing of "SPORTING BLOOD" a new photoplay. I was frankly a bit skeptical of the theme of the picture as I am naturally familiar with all styles of screen stories. I've seen gangster pictures and war pictures and sex pictures - plenty of them. And now I was to see a picture called "SPORTING BLOOD". I wasn't excited. But - imagine my amazement when as the story unfolded I realized I was seeing one of the greatest pictures of all time! A true epic, not in the advertising sense, but in the legitimate sense - a story full of the humanity of real experience! "SPORTING BLOOD" is about horses but it can hardly be classified as such. Its story is so much more thrilling and its appeal so infinitely greater that you must classify it in the group of truly great pictures with universal appeal like Ben Hur or The Big Parade. Here's a film that rings true. When a picture reveals life with all its laughter and its tears - its loves and its hates - when it convinces you by its deep sincerity - it becomes a truly great film and stands head and shoulders above its contemporaries. It was an unusual experience seeing this great NEW IDEA in talking pictures. I arranged to put it in my theatre immediately at the cost of unusual playing terms because I think that every one of my patrons should see it.

Every Girl Knows Everything About "Class," is Fay King's Observation

FAY KING

By FAY KING

Every girl knows all about "class."

The cloudiest and the dressiest know what should be worn.

The manicurist and millionaire's daughter can get into a congenial huddle and rave over expensive hats, fur coats and evening gowns.

The little waitress and the well-known actress are equally aware of becoming marcels, square cut diamonds and silver fox neck pieces.

With an unlimited bank roll for a magic wand any Cinderella can be changed into a Princess of Fashion like magic.

Alas! She is dressed not as she would look, but as she can honestly afford.

Paint the window screens with linseed oil. It will preserve them from rust and make them look like new.

To make sweet milk sour for cooking purposes add a teaspoon of strong vinegar to a cupful milk and set it in a warm place for a few minutes.

When cutting patterns from chiffon and other flimsy material lay the material between two sheets of newspaper; either pins or basting may be used to hold the material in position and no difficulty will be experienced in cutting accurately to pattern.

The Beauty Box -:-

By HELEN FOLLETT

Loud clothes of too many designs and of coloring combinations that knock one in the eye are as vulgar as harsh laughter. Anyone who has made a tour of the famous dress ateliers of Paris has noted that the great designers themselves wear simple attire. Fabric is rich and exquisite, lines plain but graceful, colors subdued. If a girl looks all dressed up she looks self conscious and dowdy.

Some demon housekeepers ought to be told that the mistress of the home is its chief ornament. They polish the silverware and don't bother if their finger nails go dim. They scrub and clean and sweep and dust, but let their tresses get gaunt and stringy. Get themselves all hot and growly. That's not sense. Temperament of the small boss makes the atmosphere of the home and a smiling woman with sassy coiffure brightens up the surroundings. Better a film of dust under the bed than a grouchy female fatigued to the point of collapse looking like sin.

Would-be beauties who get up in the morning looking gray and peaky eyed, fearing that the bottom is about to drop out of the world are usually suffering from chemical changes going on in their insides, fermentation in the intestinal tract or depth of a tummy that longs for a balanced health-producing diet. Lemon juice and water with a dash of salt, taken before breakfast, and mineral oil at night will shake more a woman out of the doldrums.

Social Graciousness

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Kindly let me know the right way a girl should speak to a young man with whom she has been keeping company and now they have dissolved partnership. I think a girl shouldn't speak when they have stopped keeping company. I still like this boy and he still speaks but I feel that I shouldn't speak to him when he won't come back. Will you please tell me what to do? LONELY GIRL.

It is a very much disliked thing not to speak to some one you know and I strongly recommend that you maintain the dignities and the social graciousness even if you and the boy are not at the moment friends. See if you haven't enough to be a matronly friend to him. Don't let him speak to you. Don't let him even bow to you. And he never will come back to you if you don't speak to him.

Correct Salutation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please tell me the correct way to address business letters and whether we should say:

My dear Mr. Brown, or
Dear Mr. Brown:

MRS. B.

In America My dear Mr. Brown is a more formal form of salutation in writing a letter than Dear Mr. Brown. In England the reverse is true.

New Pirates Promising. Sand for Grid Lines.

SKIBOS RELY ON YOUNG QUARTERBACK

AFTER ONE OF Carnegie Tech's early training camp football games, which developed into a slam-bang affair, despite its sloppiness, various Tartan young men were sitting around nursing their bruises as well as feelings that had been injured by some caustic remarks from Judge Steffen. The players started a discussion as to what back on the Plaid varsity squad was hardest to tackle. George Kavel had plenty of supporters, because of his high knee action; many were for Capt. Armentrout, because of his combined weight and speed, but Stuart Dueger, quiet quarterback, was given just a little edge by his teammates.

Stuart Dueger

Dueger is a rugged youth, carrying 180 pounds, and the other Tartan gridders say he never gives a tackler a free shot at his legs. He always has a bony knee, a hard shoulder, or a sharp elbow between himself and a would-be tackler, and though he is not especially clever at carrying the ball, he usually comes out of a skirmish without getting the worst of it.

INCIDENTALLY, THIS KID, young passer from North Tonawanda, N. Y., is one of the chief Tartan hopes in the rebuilding process that is going on the 4 acres in the Skibo Bowl. It will be recalled that he replaced Harry McCurdy from the quarterback job last year late in the campaign, though he could neither punt nor pass as well as McCurdy.

But Dueger has the faculty of remaining absolutely cool under fire, seems to pick the right play at the right time, and is an excellent blocker. If he wins the quarterback berth this season he will not be the stand-out all-around type of Howard Harpster, but he will do a methodical, steady job of it, his supporters are confident.

THE PIRATES DID not bring up all of their good young prospects from the Wichita farm in taking Outfielder Stanley Schino, Infielder Floyd Young and Catcher Dallas Warren. Another is Shortstop Floyd Vaughan, only 19 and serving his first year in professional ball, and who has another year of seasoning coming in the minors.

It develops that Vaughan looked so good to a scout for the New York Yankees that a bid was made for him by the club, and but for Pittsburgh's prior claim the youngster would have landed in the American League. A critic in the Wichita Eagle pronounces him the best looking young shortstop Wichita ever had; big, fast, with a wonderful arm and cool, but aggressive in spirit."

"IN ADDITION TO his fielding and hitting he has made a brilliant record as the Western League's best base runner." The critic adds: "Vaughn is the speed merchant of the league, a fast man getting down to first and a flash on the sacks. He not only can run, but knows when to go. Vaughn stole three bases last Saturday against Tobin, veteran Oklahoma City catcher and manager. He also slammed a homer and did some fancy fielding around short. Of the three other players bought by Pittsburgh, Schino has been breaking down the fences recently. Warren is a big, husky player, with a free, easy, powerful swing, batting left-handed, and was voted the second best catcher in the league. Young is the best utility player in the Western, a hard worker and splendid fielder wherever he plays, and owning a great arm. Schino is hitting .330, Young, .320, and Warren, .289."

Lloyd Waner

THERE WAS a good chance that before the conclusion of today's double-header with the Braves, Lloyd Waner would complete his annual stunt of reaching the 200-mark in baseball for the season. He needed only two more blows to bring him up to the line.

The younger Waner made 200 or more safeties in each of the previous three seasons in which he played regularly as a major leaguer, missing only last year, when he took part in only 68 games. Paul, after missing in 1926, did 200 or better in each of his last four campaigns, but will fall short of the mark this year, as his total up to date is only 155.

WHILE THE CARDINALS were clinching the National League pennant yesterday through their own victory and the Giants' double defeat, the A's were cracking a major league record by scoring their one hundredth triumph and becoming the first major league club ever to win 100 or more games in a season three years in succession.

With nine games in which to accomplish it, the Cards need only four more wins to reach the century line and send two 100-game ball clubs into the world series for only the third time in history.

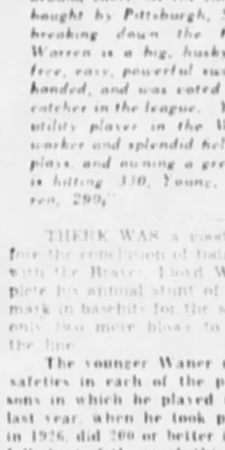
JOE SHAUTE, Brooklyn southpaw, who started yesterday's game against the Bucs, the game that just about killed Pittsburgh's last chance of crowding into the first division this year, probably could catch on with any major league club now if he were free, but last spring he was begging for a job after he had been cast adrift on account of a lame arm. He landed with the Robins because he picked out that club himself as the one on which he would have the best chance to win a berth.

DURING THE WINTER I read a lot about the Robins trying to get a lefthand pitcher from the Braves and other teams, and when they didn't get one I figured their camp would be a good spot for me," the veteran explained.

The remainder of the story is that Shaute made an impressive showing in the early drills and the job he had hoped for came his way. He was signed to a contract for $10,000, was started on a new career in the big show, and no member of the Robin slab staff has won more games. He is tied with Vance and Clark at 11 victories.

AS THE PIRATES will have four more baseball games to play at home after the Dukes and Geneva open the local football season with a night game at Forbes Field tomorrow night, it was found necessary to avoid marring the playing area with gridiron chalk lines.

So they've hit upon a new plan. Instead of using chalk or any other substance that could not be readily erased, they're going to mark off cross lines and side lines with white sand. It has worked out satisfactorily in experiments, as it does not scatter under the feet of running players and can be brushed away easily at the conclusion of play.



Berkeley Bell

WHILE BERKELEY BELL may never attain the national championship heights in tennis that Ellsworth Vines has just reached, they're giving him another title by acclamation, and that is the champion upsetter of the net world. Paul Lowry calls attention to the fact that two years in succession, Bell, who weighs only 125 pounds, has bounced the seeded players right out of the limelight. Jean Borotra came over last year as France's leading contender for the American crown, was seeded No. 1 of the foreign entrants, and was walloped by Bell in four sets in the very first round. The tennis powers forgot to seed Bell in 1930, and they committed the same error this year. Whereat Bell again sallied forth and smote down Wilmer Allison, a Davis Cup star and very much seeded. It was the same ticket—four sets. Now Lowry is wondering if the racquet chiefs will give Berkeley a tumble and seed him next year.

The scholastic football season in the Greater Pittsburgh district will be ushered in tonight when Johnny Reed sends his revamped Scott High eleven, of North Braddock, against the ambitious Scottdale grid machine at the Scott High school field.

The contest originally scheduled for tomorrow night was moved up to avoid a conflict with the night battle scheduled at Forbes Field between Duquesne University and Geneva College, which, incidentally, inaugurates the local collegiate campaign.

SCOTT IN FINE SHAPE

Despite the loss of several mainstays of last year's team, followers of Johnny Reed's eleven are anticipating another winning football machine. Coach Reed has been compelled to make a number of replacements due to vacancies caused by graduations, but the new players have shown up exceptionally well.

Scottdale, according to reports, will have a well balanced team on the field against Scott and if advance information means anything, the visitors are invading North Braddock determined to score a victory. Scott, however, will enter the contest a favorite. Seating accommodations at Scott Field are excellent and a crowd of 5,000 is expected to attend the inaugural.

OUT-OF-TOWN GAMES

Tomorrow finds quite a number of the district schools swinging into action. Carnegie goes to South Fayette, Coraopolis to New Castle, Ellsworth to Charleroi, Bridgeville to Mt. Lebanon and Sewickley to Ben Avon. The New Castle fray is a night contest and should provide Coach Phil Brindenbaugh's Lawrence Countians a real test.

SATURDAY CARD FULL

Saturday however, will provide scholastic followers with an attractive menu of really high-class contests. Coach Elmer Carroll's Wilkinsburg eleven swings into action against a time-honored rival in Crafton at Graham Field, Wilkinsburg, while Coach Earl Loucks' Greensburg machine for years a powerful factor in scholastic football, will entertain East Huntington Township at Greensburg. Coach Foxy Miller, of Tur-

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: GEORGE WASHINGTON HELD BROAD JUMP RECORD FOR 120 YEARS—At the age of 19, George Washington was a splendid specimen of manhood—6 feet 2 inches (his postmortal measurement was 6 feet 3 inches), heavily built, with hands and feet and shoulders of enormous proportions—and he excelled in almost every kind of outdoor sport. To this day a spot is pointed out in Piedmont, Va., where the youthful Washington broad-jumped 23 feet across the Rappahannock River in 1752. This record stood for more than 120 years until an Irishman, J. Lane, succeeded in jumping 23 feet 1½ inches at the Irish Civil Service sports in 1874. Sixty-two years after Washington hung up his record, sport authorities still maintained that "21 feet is extraordinary and 22 feet is, indeed, very rarely accomplished." THE FIGHTING IRISHMAN—The Battle of Sabine Pass, Tex., which established Dick Dowling as a second Leonidas, took place in the Civil War as a result of the only Federal attempt to land on Texas soil. On the Federal side 15,000 troops took part in the affray. Dick Dowling's band numbered only 42 Irishmen and two cannon. The bitle was over in 30 minutes and in that time more than 100 Federals were killed, 429 captured, two Federal gunboats, the Clifton and the Sachem, were disabled, and another gunboat was crippled. But Dowling did not lose a single man. The Federals were compelled to withdraw and never again was the attempt to land on Texas soil renewed. There is an oil painting of Dick Dowling in the Confederate Museum in Richmond, Va., and a statue also has been erected in the honor of the heroic Irishman. THE CHURCH OF NO SERVICES—At Cowichan Bay, Vancouver Island, is a lovely little church built of stone by the Quamichan Indians, which has been standing ready for service for many years, but in which no congregation ever has gathered. No one knows exactly why it never has been used. Some say it has not been consecrated and others say the Indians will not go near the building because all of those who actually built it died mysteriously. In any case, the church stands there today overlooking the bay, empty and desolate, still waiting for its first service.

The Robins have flown and with them have gone it would seem, the Pirate opportunity to reach the gates of the first division. The departure of the Flatbush Flock marked the appearance in the city of Bill McKechnie's once proud Braves. Since they were here last the Boston Tribe has staged a remarkable stagger-itis act, its sharp defection making it certain the Braves will finish sixth or worse.

Two bargain bills with the Tribe are set for this afternoon and tomorrow. Both will begin at 1:45 p. m. The Pirates have Bill Harris and Glenn Spencer ready for the dual clash of today. Harris may pitch the first contest. Skipper Bill McKechnie may use Eddie Brandt and Tom Zachary, a pair of lefthanders, against the Oaklanders. The two clubs will finish with each other by reeling off five battles in three days, the last fight to be staged Saturday.

Defeated by the Robins yesterday, the Pirates this morning had just about given up hope of overtaking the Brooklyn Birds. Uncle Robbie has a grip on fourth place amounting to three and one-half games and he has but nine games to play. The Pirates have 10 unplayed contests, they would have to win practically every fight, and the Robins would have to play in and out, beseech, to bring the Buccos over the first division battler.

HOME PITCHING POOR

Poor pitching on the part of Remy Kremer and Erwin Brame ended the Pittsburgh Goose in the farewell clash with the Robins. A victory would have pulled the Scrappers up to the .500 mark, but the team went into a typical tailspin as it has on many occasions when opportunity knocked.

Clever baserunning by Tony Piet coupled with a hit manufactured by Tony and one by Ben Sankey gave the Pirates a one-run lead as late as the sixth round, but the Robins apparently alarmed over the prospect of falling into the second division, went

WARNER IMPROVED

PALO ALTO, Cal., Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, Stanford football coach, was pronounced in better condition today after suffering from an internal disorder. His physicians said the veteran football mentor may be able to lead his team in practice within a few days.

CHARLESTON BEATS COLTS

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 17.—Charleston Senators won the opening game of the Middle Atlantic League's championship series last night by pulling across a spectacular seven-run rally in the sixth inning to defeat Cumberland 8 to 6.

Blanked for the first five innings with only two hits, the West Virginians came from behind by hammering the offerings of Chip Helmick, Colt mound ace, to all corners of the lot for seven tallies.

The rally was marked by seven hits, including a double by Gordon Johnson and a triple by Gene Byrd. The visitors batted around in the inning. Fisher and Longnecker each taking two runs at bat before the spurt came to a conclusion.

Cumberland pounded Marleau hard in the first and eighth innings for four of its runs, while in the third frame the Colts scored two unearned runs on a wild throw by Joe Longnecker.

Helmick was bumped for 12 safeties while Marleau yielded 12. Byrd was the Senators' leading batsman with a double and triple and Danny Hall l.d the home team with three singles.

The second game will be played here tonight. Tamulis and Miller

James (Red) Mason, dean of local boxing managers, and Luke Carney buried the hatchet in their old animosity (not skulls) the other night before Mason returned to Chicago, where his brother and sister are desperately ill . . . Ray Alvis, manager of a large string of boxers, will promote shows at the Coliseum in Chicago this fall and winter . . . He will operate at the popular prices of 50 cents to $2 and hopes to give the Stadium plenty of competition . . . Tony Herrera, one of Alvis' men, who boxes Joey Goodman, of Cleveland, in the main bout of the reopening show at Motor Square Garden one week from next Monday night, as first announced in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph yesterday, has just returned from California, where he treated himself to a vacation.

The death of Stanley Stasiak, the heavyweight wrestler, from blood poisoning, which developed from a broken arm suffered in a bout, calls attention to the fact that there are few fatalities in the mat sport, rough and brutal as it appears to be . . . Boxing and football, and even baseball, produce a much higher percentage of fatal injuries . . . Arms, legs and ribs are broken in wrestling bouts, but you hear of few broken necks . . . Even Jim Londos, the present champion, who has been around a long time, can recall only four men who have died from wrestling injuries . . . Automobile racing probably is the most hazardous of all sports insofar as fatalities are concerned.

Fritzie Zivic, local amateur boxing star, is about to turn pro, and will be followed by his brother, Eddie . . . They hope to travel in the footsteps of their older brothers, Pete and Jack, both of whom boxed as main bouters all over the country after exceptional careers as amateurs . . . The N. B. Carson, executive alumni secretary of the University of Pittsburgh, now in production manager for a local insurance company, giving up the old football life he learned in the Pitt athletic office? . . . Now that the pennant races are decided, how about giving the A's and Cards' players a vacation and sending their hospital lists against each other in the World Series? . . . One of the miracles of the age will be the rapid recoveries of some of these "cripples" in time to play in the classic.

Gene Tunney is going to "think over" a proposition to return to the ring for bouts with Jack Dempsey and Max Schmeling for Mrs. Hearst's New York Milk Fund that would net him $750,000 . . . SHUTE, BURKE, SMITH LEAD

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 17.—(AP.)—Young Denny Shute, of Hudson, O., today clipped two strokes off the Wannamoisett course's difficult 70 par to gain a 2-up lead on Tommy Armour, defending champion, for their first half of their 36-hole P. G. A. quarter-final match. It was the first fracture par had suffered this week.

GENE SARAZEN TRAILS

Gene Sarazen, medalist in the championship, and last year's runner-up, was 2 down to Horton Smith of Detroit, when they finished the morning round.

Sarazen outstanding competitor on the three previous days, played spotty golf against his young rival and trailed for the first time in the tournament.

Cyril Walker, of Ridgewood, N. J., and Tom Creavy, of Albany, N. Y., were even when they quit the eighteenth green. Walker's card was a 71 and Creavy had a pair of 36's, one over par on each nine.

BURKE LEADS ESPINOSA

Billy Burke, open champion, finished his morning round 2 up on Abe Espinosa, of Chicago. Neither was impressive. Burke carding a 74, after going out in par 35, and Espinosa had a 77.

Pete O'Hara, Westmoreland Country Club of Pittsburgh, was eliminated yesterday by Tom Creavy, of Albany, N. Y., 2 up. O'Hara defeated Walter Hagen in the first round.

Says Nick Altrock

Baseball's Comedian

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Connie Mack finally concedes the A's have won the pennant. That makes it unanimous. But Connie wouldn't admit it till he put a flock of auditors on the league standing and found the A's could stand a run on the bank and still stick on top.

The only American League battle is now between our Washingtons and the Yanks for second and third money. The rest of the clubs are just red ink.

Did you see what old Al Mamaux, age 38, manager and former pitcher, did Tuesday afternoon? He pitched a doubleheader for his Newark International team and won both ends. That's the first time I knew a lefty could be an iron man, too.

This is the eighth in a series of special articles written by Jess Carver, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph sports writer, dealing with the prospects of tri-state college teams. The articles are appearing with photographs of the outstanding performers in action. Next team to appear in tomorrow's issue.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 17.—It will be well for the 1931 opponents of the Waynesburg College Yellow Jackets to play their cards carefully when they line up with the Silhouettes this fall. Waynesburg has a world beater in training here in Harry Ake, the head coach has the most promising squad he's had since he took over the job here and he has a well-arranged and not particularly difficult schedule. He'll be able to nurse his team along fairly well, even though he meets his toughest foe, Penn State, in the opener.

The Jackets will not place an experienced eleven on the field but it will be a comparatively husky one averaging about 185 pounds and will sport lots of fire particularly clever performers.

Building for the future with a splendid corps of freshmen at hand Coach Wolf is cutting ruthlessly, especially in the ranks of holdover material. He's stressing fundamentals, tackling, blocking and ball handling and no matter how much of a reputation old players may boast if he can't do these things well he's either doomed for a stay on the bench or is dropped from the squad.

At that there are only nine lettermen on hand, three backs and six linemen and only about five of those are out in front in the races for their respective positions.

TWO FROSH AT ENDS

Two freshmen, a big powerful chap, Gilleske by name, hailing from Michigan and Hollabaugh, former South High of Pittsburgh and Midland, Pa., star, have won jobs as ends with Ambrose, a letterman, standing the best chance of breaking in. Gilleske looks to be a comer. He is a tall boy, weighing around 185 pounds, and so far has shown all the earmarks of an A-1 performer.

At the tackles and the jobs still are more or less open. Elliott, a letterman, and Scott, former Aliquippa High star, are clicking very well. Kearns, from Norwin, Litman, from Braddock, and Finley, of Monessen, are three big chaps who cannot be discounted. Litman rates high. Yanosh, who has had some experience is having difficulty in keeping even with the steady parade of freshmen stars.

Brngas, another Aliquippan, Butterworth, a holdover, Wiley and Mancuso, lettermen of last year, and Swanson will provide the guard material. Brngas and Butterworth have an edge at present. They are big and hard charges, important assets for a Yellow Jacket lineman.

THREE CENTER CANDIDATES

Coach Wolf has a trio of excellent freshmen center hopefuls led by a sturdy Ohioan, LaRue. Paul, who takes back-talk from no one as a tackler, and Ross, a crack defensive man, are making it tough for LaRue, but because he appears to hold a slight edge in all departments of the game the latter figures to get the starting job. Whether he'll be able to hold on remains to be seen.

The Yellow Jacket backfield won't be the best in the history of the school, but neither will it be the worst. Curtis at quarterback; Ross at a half and the veteran Demoise at fullback are sure of their jobs. Hollabaugh, a consistent kicker and a good passer, who runs well and possesses o. k. defensive abilities, along with two years experience, likely will be the fourth man in the backfield.

These men will have Berry, Wainwright, Ullom, Porter, Jacquette, Donley, Tannas, Mancuso, Call, Johnson, Conley and Patsch for reserves. Hollabaugh figures to do most of the booting. Curtis the passing.

The schedule isn't particularly impressive, not is it [illegible] light. The opening game with Penn State will be tough enough, but Wolf intends to throw every ounce of power at his command against his alma mater. It may

FACE STIFF TESTS

[illegible] with the game with State the Jackets take on Grove City, Bethany and then they rest [illegible] week. After the open date they face New River, Westminster, Slippery Rock and Huntingdon in a row.

If Penn State, Geneva and Westminster can be handled creditably the season will be rounded out a success. Grove City, of course, will be tough and New River, one of those unsung outfits that usually makes the going exceedingly rugged for a Class B opponent, will demand stern preparation. Juniata, Slippery Rock and Bethany should not cause the Yellow any too much trouble.

PITT GRIDDERS TO GET REST

CAMP HAMILTON WINDBER, Pa., Sept. 17. Today the hard-working Pitt Panthers will get their first rest from the daily scrimmage sessions unless Jock Sutherland decides that still more practice is necessary before the Blue and Gold can call itself set. There have been scrimmages every day of the week thus far and it will probably be this way as far as that branch of training is concerned.

The large squad has breezed through the work thus far in fine shape and only season shifters are conspicuous by their absence. Sutherland is satisfied with the condition of his charges and probably will limit today's practices to signals and passing and kicking.

Yesterday the Panthers went through their longest and most strenuous scrimmage of their stay at Windber. Jock had his first and second teams in there for nearly an hour and a half without making a substitution on the varsity and only three replacements for the second outfit.

Capt. Eddie Hirshberg and his mates fought for the full period without being able to score, and were forced to watch the second team tally early in the workout and then play heads up ball until Sutherland called it quits for the day. Gelzer marked up the touchdown and Curtis who replaced Alpert as the second team quarterback was wide on his attempt at the extra point.

LIONS BEAT SCRUBS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 17. (AP)—The tentative Penn State varsity football team beat a scrub eleven by two touchdowns in a practice game of 10-minute quarters yesterday. Long runs by Capt. Lasich, Sutter and Harper were high spots.

TECH TO DRILL IN SECRET

The gates to the public close at Carnegie Tech Bowl today and secret practice will be the rule from now until the season's opener with Buffalo on September 26. Large crowds have watched the Tartans going through their paces every day since camp opened. It's difficult to bar spectators from the field because it is not completely enclosed. However cordons of managers will be placed around the bowl starting today and an official pass will be required of all those who desire to enter the field.

BARRETT BACK FOR DUKES

Dr. L. D. O'Donnell, Duquesne University team physician, has pronounced Benny Barrett, crack first-string center, as able to play tomorrow night when the Dukes meet Geneva College on the Forbes Field gridiron in their annual clash. Barrett reported for practice yesterday, but will have to absent himself later in the season because of bad tonsils which must be removed. Barrett was taken ill Saturday and was said to be suffering from acute tonsilitis after being removed to the Mercy Hospital.

The Dukes' mainspring center is not yet in the best of shape, but the Night Riders need him, and he is anxious to play.

Lightweight Grid Conference Formed

Division No. 4 of the Lightweight Independent Football Conference met last evening and decided the makeup of the loop. Kreiger-Marx, Twenty-third Ward Traders, Montour, Bloomfield Civics, Evergreen Olympics and the Twenty-seventh Ward Traders were awarded franchises.

The opening games scheduled for September 27 find Kreiger Marx at Twenty-third Ward, Montour at Bloomfield Civics and Evergreen at Twenty-seventh Ward.

CARDS CLINCH N. L. BUNTING

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—The winning of its fourth National League baseball pennant was celebrated here last night but not in the boisterous, noisy manner of 1926 when the Cardinals brought the first flag to St. Louis in 38 years.

With the clinching of the 1931 pennant accomplished when Cincinnati defeated the Giants of New York in the first game of a doubleheader, fans gleefully stormed and said "they're in." Manager Gabby Street said he knew, the team would win and predicted victory for the Cardinals in the World Series with the Philadelphia Athletics, starting here October 1.

CINCINNATI ADVANCES

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The Cincinnati defending as National Amateur Baseball Federation crown eliminated Fort Wayne in a fifth round game, 10 to 5, yesterday. Indianapolis breezed into the semi-finals by an 8 to 2 decision over Omaha.

MISS HUNTER, MRS. WADSWORTH FINALISTS

OAKMONT STARS TO BATTLE TOMORROW

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Anjeanette Hunter, prime favorite to cop the gonfalon, moved into the final round of the women's West Penn golf championship tourney at the Pittsburgh Field Club today, and tomorrow will test the pioneer of district women's golfdom, Mrs. Sara Fownes Wadsworth, for the right to take home to Oakmont, their home club, the honors relinquished yesterday by Mrs. Frank E. Campbell of Stanton Heights, the defending champion.

This morning, in a torrid battle Miss Hunter, who held the coveted title in 1928, eliminated the aspiring Betty Abernathy, a clubmate, by the slim margin of 1 up.

Mrs. Wadsworth defeated her Hulton linksmate, Mrs. J. Raymond Price, titleholder in 1923 and 1925, 2 up and 1 to play.

HEAT IS HANDICAP

Both matches were played under the hottest weather of the tournament, and all of the players suffered from the heat.

Tomorrow's 18-hole final round will begin at 10 a. m., a mixed foursome tourney gets under way at noon, completing the year's championship program.

Miss Hunter was 4 under par going out in 38, and held a 3 up advantage at the turn. Miss Abernathy had used 41, one under par, for the out nine. On the third hole Miss Hunter was trapped and needed 6 before she holed out.

Coming in Miss Abernathy won the tenth to be only 2 down, they halved the eleventh and twelfth in 5's, and the defeated girl was only 1 down after winning the thirteenth with a par 4.

HALVE HOME HOLE

Miss Hunter copped the fourteenth with a birdie 3, but picked up on the fifteenth after going awry. She recouped to top the sixteenth, but was forced to pick up again on the seventeenth, yet she was up dormie 1 as they reached the eighteenth tee. They halved the home hole in par 4's. Miss Abernathy, who had not once picked up, scored an 83 for the round. Their cards:

Miss Hunter
Out . . . .
In . . . .

Miss Abernathy
Out . . . .
In . . . .

ENDS ON SIXTEENTH

Mrs. Wadsworth was 2 up on Mrs. Price at the half-way mark, being out in a one-more-than-par 43 against her foe's 46. The victor won the tenth with a 5, they halved the eleventh and twelfth in 6's and Mrs. Price copped the thirteenth with a par 4, and the fourteenth with a 4 to be only 1 down. Mrs. Wadsworth was victor on the fifteenth and seventeenth, and Mrs. Price won the sixteenth to end matters. Their cards:

Mrs. Wadsworth, out . . . .
Mrs. Price, out . . . .
Mrs. Wadsworth, in . . . .
Mrs. Price . . . .

The summary:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

Mrs. S. F. Wadsworth, Oakmont, defeated Mrs. J. R. Price, Oakmont, 2 and 1.

(Consolation)

Mrs. J. R. Rose, Allegheny, defeated Mrs. L. G. Ritz, Edgewood, 5 and 4.
Mrs. W. G. Boggs, Shannopin, defeated Mrs. Louis K. Friedman, 2 and 1.

SECOND SIXTEEN

Gertrude Daily defeated Mrs. J. M. Irwin, 6 and 5.

(Consolation)

Mrs. Charles H. Lehman defeated Mrs. W. F. McFeely, 4 and 3.
Mrs. Clark Vandervoort defeated Mrs. C. F. Lloyd, 5 and 7.

Irvin Testimonial Carded Saturday

Members of the Pittsburgh Field Club will tender Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Irvin a testimonial dinner dance at that club Saturday, with golf, dancing and entertainment features of the program. Irvin, who joined the club in 1914, and was president in 1916 and 1917, is to change his residence to New York, but will retain a non-resident membership. A. J. Diebold, chairman; L. H. Gethoefer, J. W. Henry, M. D. Kuhn and J. N. Succop make up the committee in charge. The new eighteenth hole will be opened officially for play on that day, as well.

W. VA. STARS SHINE

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 17.—A 80-yard run for a touchdown, after intercepting a pass, was made by Haddock, a substitute back, yesterday, in the hardest scrimmage yet held by the West Virginia University Mountaineers, but it was equaled shortly after when Capt. Doyle took a 30-yard toss from Parriott and ran 10 yards for a touchdown.

out and made six tallies in the seventh, mostly at the expense of Brame, who had relieved Kremer when the Frenchman was being shelled in the previous round. The final score was 11 to 6.

At the very outset Kremer showed indication of having but very little. The southpaw batters in the Robin lineup teed off on him, but Remy was able to hold the foe for four rounds after a bad start, the enemy making two tallies in the first. The Pirates tied it up in the third and they jumped two runs ahead in the fifth. Kremer folded up again in the sixth as the foe forced a drawn stake and the Easterners put the game on the ice in the next round.

Failure of Ben Sankey to field a double-play grounder in the seventh hurt the home cause.

SUHR, JENSEN STAR

The batting of Gus Suhr and Woody Jensen was sensational, but, alas, their fine hitting went for naught. Gus whacked out a homer and two singles, Jensen necking the opposition for a triple, a double and a single.

The Buccos knocked Joe Shaute off the slab in the sixth, Bill Clark relieving him. Clark had it easy after the big seventh.

No less than three members of Uncle Robbie's band were chased off the field by the umpires for their violent objections to rulings on the field of play. The victims of the officials' anger were Del Bissonette, Frank O'Doul and Fresco Thompson.

ANDY MARTIN, BOJARSKI BOX HERE

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Frankie Bojarski, of McKain, Pa., is one tough young Polish man. If you don't believe it, ask the roads up around Greenville, Pa. En route to Pittsburgh yesterday with his manager, Jack Barry, of Erie, for his fight with Andy Martin, of Boston, at Hickey Park, Millvale, tonight, Frankie was jammed up in an automobile accident when the car in which he was riding skidded on the wet road and he and Barry wound up in the Greenville Hospital.

But was he hurt and did he call off tonight's fight?

Not a bit of it. As said before, Frankie is one tough Polish hombre, and if the truth were known, the roadbed probably is dented where he cracked it. He quit the hospital in short order and resumed the trip to Pittsburgh, none the worse for his experience.

Martin is a clever performer along the lines of Archie Bell. He has boxed here a number of times, although not recently, and always has thrilled the fans with his wizardry. He is hard to hit, Bojarski may knock him out if he hits him, but if he can't catch up with Andy, well, it will be just a romp for the Italian. It ought to be a good bout, with the ideal combination, a fast, clever boxer against a fellow to whom automobile spills are just petty annoyances and who belts 'em so hard in the ring that nothing else matters. In his most recent start here, Frankie sent Charley Baxter to the cleaners in impressive fashion in two heats, and Charley since has come back to knock out Andy Andracci.

Benny McArthur, of McKeesport, boxes Eddie Hebner, of Clairton, in the eight-round semi-final. Steve Senich, of Homestead, and Sammy Burns, Negro lightweight, of the Hill, box the second bout, and Silver Montana, of Aliquippa, and Johnny Hoffman, of Scranton, are in the opener, slated for 8:45 o'clock.

Between Rounds

The 1931-32 season opens in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight, with Jarbor Fields, boxing Young Terry, Paulo Walker engaging Vincent Hamright and Sully Krieger meeting Mysullivan in three 10-round bouts.

Greensburg Horse Show Set to Open

Arthur C. Martin's Fox, which won the championship at the recent Wheeling horse show, will try for further honors tomorrow and Saturday at the Westmoreland Hunt horse show at the polo field, Greensburg. Fox is a chestnut gelding.

The runnerup for honors at Wheeling was Mrs. George A. McNary's Red Fire, which will also be shown at Greensburg this week.

BURNS GETS STAN BERKMAN

By TOM BIRKS

It appears evident that Stanley Berkman, former Thiel star quarterback, last year a member of the West View Club, will be calling signals for the Dan Burns Club of New Kensington this season in the West Penn independent conference games.

Coach Al Dunn called a special practice last evening with Berkman calling signals. Dunn was playing halfback with Ford, who is coaching at Leechburg High School with Campbell a New Kensington player, at fullback. This combination worked to perfection.

Dunn is a smart coach and should have little trouble in getting assembled a powerful line. Burns always was successful with powerful lines and in these days of college stars dominating the conference, much graduate material is available.

There were rumors Berkman would return with Muzzo at West View, but his drill with Burns indicates he has agreed to Manager Clawson's terms.

Burns has lacked a brainy captain for years. Since the passing of Billy Doll Burns has been looking for a smart signal caller and a man capable of running plays smoothly. Berkman rarely can be outsmarted on the independent gridiron and should make a great hit.

Burns has lacked a brainy captain for years. Since the passing of Billy Doll Burns has been looking for a smart signal caller and a man capable of running plays smoothly. Berkman rarely can be outsmarted on the independent gridiron and should make a great hit.

If you want a lot for your money—here are the tires for your truck. Goodyear Pathfinders—as big, as husky as any tire at any price—with the long life and extra comeback of Goodyear Supertwist cord beneath its road-gripping tread.

No motorist need put up with the worry or danger of worn and unsafe tires these days.

No motorist need take a chance on unknown or off-brand tires for economy's sake.

Pathfinder values have changed all that. Just look at the prices listed above.

Despite the fact that these prices are record-breakingly low you get a tire that is outstanding in performance and durability.

You get a great sturdy tough-treaded Supertwist balloon—handsome and massive and long-wearing and trouble-free—a tire that is Goodyear calibre through and through.

Are Salesmen Losing Their Enthusiasm?

By B. C. FORBES

WHAT A MARKET today for enthusiasm! There you have one thing commanding a premium so scarce is it.

There is a glut of fear, a glut of pessimism, a glut of gloominess. Both confidence and self-confidence are lacking. Aggression, determination are wanting.

B. C. Forbes

UNREASONING apprehension has gripped high and low, rich and poor alike. The collapse of sturdy American optimism, of characteristic American faith, of traditional American grit. The collapse of these many qualities is painfully reflected on every side. It is reflected by hoarding on a disgraceful scale. It is reflected in the abject weakness in bonds and stocks. It is reflected by the shortsighted curtailment of advertising and other sales effort. It is reflected in the absence of forward buying of essential raw materials notwithstanding that they are selling below cost of production.

In short, we are giving a sorry exhibition, sorriest of all by those occupying the places of greatest responsibility.

BUT THE SPIRIT of surrender, the spirit of timidity, the spirit of hopelessness is not confined by any means to those at the top.

It is unfortunately flagrantly prevalent among a class who now, more than ever, should be on their toes, full of eagerness and enthusiasm, and forcefulness, determined to overcome every obstacle, namely, salesmen.

LET US ILLUSTRATE by the experience of the extremely capable sales manager of a big Middle West corporation, who has been visiting New York. He tells me:

"I visited one of your finest stores with full intentions of making several purchases. From the moment I entered until the moment I left, I was used in a very indifferent manner by the salesmen.

"In the boys' department I purchased—I certainly was not sold—a pair of football pants for my oldest boy, and a helmet. If this salesman had been on his toes, he could have easily sold me a pair of football shoes. He never even suggested it. In the men's wear department I desired to purchase several pairs of socks and several neckties. When a salesman asked me if I were interested in something, I told him, 'Yes, but I don't know definitely what I will buy.' He walked away—and that is the last I saw of him. I stood for five minutes and no one came near me. I left the department in disgust.

"I WENT to the women's department to purchase something for my daughter. The saleslady informed me they did not have anything in particular for girls, that all they had was school equipment—and school equipment, of course, was exactly what I was interested in, but due to her indifference and the fact that she walked away from me, I walked out of her department.

"I then asked for the manager. I related my experiences to him and added that if these people were in my employ I would sweep the whole gang into the street and hire an entirely new staff.

"He informed me that the salaries of these people had been reduced, as if that was an entirely satisfactory explanation. I promptly asked him what that had to do with the situation and added that, with millions of unemployed, any person ought to be grateful for a position and should manifest his best ability to take care of people calling at his store."

THIS SALES MANAGER remarked to me:

"The touch of aggressiveness, the extra something that spells successful salesmanship, the extra margin that constitutes alertness, is totally missing in many establishments. We will never bring about better business through such indifference.

"There is entirely too much pessimism in New York—more than in any other place I have visited. If the great center of these United States is pessimistic, if that great city is in the doldrums, certainly it is bound to make itself felt in other regions.

"TODAY WE NEED men who are not afraid to stick their chins out and forge ahead. Every salesman should keep firmly in mind that thousands of people everywhere are in a position to buy but will never buy if the salesman fails to perform his task.

"We need someone to say 'wake up!' We need to go forth again with the determination that we are going to call on our full quota of prospective purchasers—that we are going to tell our story positively and enthusiastically. Think of the service American salesmen could render if they could be imbued with a winning spirit!"

Is he not profoundly right?

A PACKARD EIGHT

for $1885

We have just received a telegram from the Packard factory advising us to sell the Eighth Series Packard Eight five-passenger sedan for $1885 F. O. B. Detroit.

Ten other beautiful and distinguished models in the Eighth Series line are offered at equal or greater price reductions.

These fine cars, brand new and surpassed only by the recently announced Ninth Series Packards, are offered at $600 to $845 less than Ninth Series prices.

These new prices are the lowest at which new Packard cars have ever been offered.

Why not act today when the best selection of models and colors is available?

You will be surprised at the modest sum your used car allowance will leave you to pay on a new Packard—a sum that may be divided into small monthly outlays to suit your convenience.

Soldiers Overcrowd Trains On Way Back Home

CHAPTER VII

Heel tries to say a few words in farewell. But nothing will come; he has to give up. No words in the world can take the field against this lonely, empty barracks square, and these sorry ranks of the survivors, standing there in their great-coats and their boots, dumb and freezing, remembering their comrades.

Heel passes from one to another and shakes hands with each man. When he comes to Max Weil, with thin lips he says: "Now your time begins, Weil—"

"It will be less hard," answers Weil quietly.

"And your heart," Heel retorts.

"But the best," Heel replies. "What else is there?"

Weil pauses a moment. Then he says: "Things that seem feeble today. Heel looks at him.

"Kindling wood here. There aren't have the [illegible]

"No, of course," Heel says, as though he had already thought upon it, and his brow is clouded. "That's quite another kingdom. That is quite another thing. Heroism begins where reason leaves off, what life is set at a discount. It has to do with faith, with revelation, with risk—and you know it. Either it's nothing, or it's more. Purpose. Call it God, call it 'Why?' Wherefore? To what end?" Who asks these questions knows nothing of it."

RANKS BREAK

He speaks emphatically, as if he would convince himself. Up worn face works. Within three few days he has become reinstated and he looks years older. And Weil also, he has altered so rapidly. He used to be an unobtrusive sort of fellow, but then nobody could get to make him out. Now he has come suddenly to the fore and every minute grows more decided, more assured. No one ever thought he could talk like this. And the more agitated Heel becomes the calmer is Max. Quietly and firmly he says: "The misery of millions is too big a price to pay for the birth of a few."

Heel [illegible] "Price [illegible] there are your words. We [illegible] how far they will bring us."

Weil glances at the tunic uniform that Heel is wearing. And how he has brought us."

Heel turns to mock. "In a memory," he says harshly. "In a remembrance of things which at any rate are not to be had for money."

Weil is silent a moment. Then a memory he repeats, then turns and looks out over the empty square and along our scanty ranks. "Yes, ego is a terrible responsibility."

"As for us, we do not make much of all this. We are free—

Synopsis

Ernst, a schoolboy when he enlisted in the war, is telling the story of a group of friends who survived the years of trench warfare. The men are marching home, filled with forebodings as to what peace will bring. On the way news of the revolution at Berlin reaches them. Weil, a radical, hails the news rapturously. Lieut. Heel, the company commander, sees nothing but evil in the new order. Finally the troops reach the barracks square, where they are drawn up to be disbanded. They are drawn up—32 men who started out 500 strong.

Now Go On

—and we consider it unnecessary to talk. Talking will not make the world any different.

The ranks break. The farewells begin. Muller, the man next to me, settles the pack on his shoulders, clamps his bundle of rations under his arm, then he stretches his hand to me.

"Well, good luck, Ernst."

"Good luck, Fritz." He passes on to Willi, to Albert, to Kowie.

SUSPICIOUS OF PEACE

Now comes Gerhard Pohl, the company sniper, who on the march used to whip all the top front notes, pursuing the merles as occasion offered up into the clouds. The remainder of the time he would rest on his rifle, so as to be able to put his hand straight into the rain-past to dry it. His tanned face with the hard, sun-troubled look, is [illegible] pasted from Karl Broger, with whom he has played so many games of skat. That has been hard for him.

"Au revoir, Ernst."

"Auf wiedersehen, Gerhard." He is gone.

Waldenburg gives me his hand. He used to make the speeches for the friends who were killed. "Ernst, my boy, Ernst," he says, "I suppose I'll never be able to fit you up now. And you might have had a mahogany one, too. I was to become a jeweler's of piano-[illegible] for Son.

"Green time, all things must happen." Here's a greeting. "I'll drop you a line when it comes to that."

Then with stooping shoulders he trots away.

The first group has already vanished through the barracks gate. Schiffer, Tjaden, Young Looke and August Beckmann are one them. Others follow. We begin to be troubled. It is difficult at first to get used to the idea of so many fellows going away for good. Hereafter it was only death or wounds or temporary transfers that depleted the company. Now peace must be reckoned with.

We are so accustomed to shell holes and trenches that we are suddenly suspicious of this still, green landscape, as though its stillness were but a pretense to lure us into some secret, [illegible] region. And now there go our comrades, hastening out into it heedless, alone, without soldiers, without homes. One would like to run after them, fetch them back, shout to them:

"Hey, where are you off to? What are you after, out there alone? You belong here with us. We must stick together. How else can we live?

The November wind pipes over the empty barracks. Yet more and more comrades go. Not long now and every man will be alone.

FEW TRAINS

The rest of our company all go home by the same route. We are now lounging in the station waiting for a train. The place is a regular army dump of chests, cardboard boxes, packs and waterproof sheets.

Only two trains pass through in seven hours. Men hang around the doorways in clusters in swarms. By the afternoon we have won a place near the track and before stretcher are in the best position right at the front.

The first train arrives soon after midday, a freight train with blind horses. Their eyes balls are blue-white and red-rimmed. They stand stock-still, their heads outstretched, and there is life only in the nostrils, in sense of their nostrils.

During the afternoon [illegible] number that no more trains will leave today.

The station reverberates to the assembling of gear and the charge of the columns that stampede from the waiting rooms and burst in wild confusion upon the men already in the hall.

The train glides up. One window is open. Albert Trooske, lightest and nimblest of us, is heaved up and clambers through like a monkey. Next moment all the doors are blocked with men. Most of the windows are shut. But already some are being shattered with blows from rifle butts by fellows who mean to get aboard at any price, though it should cost them torn hands and legs. Blankets are thrown over the jagged glass points and here and there the boarding is already in progress.

SPACE JAMMED

The train stops. Albert has run through the corridors and now flings open the window in front of us. Tjaden and the dog shoot in first, Bethke and Kosole after them. Willy shoving from behind. The three at once make for the doors opening into the corridor, so as to close the compartment on both flanks. Then follows the baggage, along with Ludwig and Ledderhose, then Valentin, Karl Broger and I, and after clearing the decks about him once more, last of all, Willy.

"All in!" shouts Kosole from the gangway, where the pressure is becoming momently more urgent. "All aboard!" bawls Willy. Then, as if fired from a pistol, Bethke, Kosole and Tjaden shoot into their seats and cram their feet into the compartment, climb on on the luggage rack, till every possible inch of space is occupied. Even the engine has been stormed and there are fellows sitting on the buffers. The roofs of the carriages are swarming with men. "Come down out of that!" cries the guard. "You shut up! We're all right!" they shout back.

The train pulls out. Some who were not holding on fast enough fall off. Two are run over and dragged away, but others jump their places immediately. The footboards are full. The crowding gets worse as the train goes on.

One man is hanging on to a door. It swings open and he disappears clear, clutching the window. Willy clambers across, seizes him by the collar and hauls him in.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Man Succeeds in Producing Popular Comedy

The Psychology of Gag

"We gotta get more 'gag men, Morruss."

"They cost money," he said.

"But, Herman, our pictures got in them plenty of laffs," Morris argued.

"Giggles you mean, no? laffs not belly laffs and in comedies if you ain't got belly laffs you ain't got a comedy."

Morris Schelm nodded. His brother was right. He knew it well enough, but it didn't seem to him that men should get big salaries for sitting around and thinking up a number of silly bits of action to put in picture comedies, half of which were thrown out in the cutting.

The Emmess Comedies, a name concocted from the initials M. and S. as a tribute to Morris who financed the first venture, were no better nor worse than the average short picture comedies, which isn't much of a compliment.

Of late the reports had been coming in from exhibitors that patrons were complaining. The Emmess comedies weren't funny enough.

Herman, who had stepped in during the early struggles and added more of what it takes to produce pictures, produced comic reports. Morris read them.

"You can't satisfy everybody, Herman," he said, "some people would expect for 20 cents to get one solid laff for an hour, maybe. But if we need gag men, then we need 'em. Trouble is about one out of a dozen got good gags, the rest are duffers and it costs it three four weeks' good salary thrown away to learn it."

NEED NEW MEN

"Maybe you got ideas?"

"No! for gags Herman. What with business the way it is who could think up 'something funny?'"

Herman shook his head.

"Unless," Morris went on, "it is the gag men who get paid real money for doing nothing at all except perhaps now and then to remember something funny they saw once in a picture and change it over a little."

"The fact remains we got to get more laffs in our comedies, gag men is what we use for that, we need new gag men."

"Well, one advertisement for gagmen and we'll have to get out the police reserves to keep the mob in line."

Finally the treasurer came in with his report but then, despite all [illegible] Herman and Morris exchanged glances of approval at this sign promptly forgot about their new gag men and devoted their attention to the report which indicated an upward trend in their finances.

Frieda Schelm, Herman's daughter, who worked as her father's confidential secretary and worked most efficiently, had listened to the talk of her father and her uncle concerning their need of new gag men.

"Anything more, Poppa?" Frieda asked, seeing them in conference over the treasurer's report and noting that it was nearly 5 o'clock.

"No, no, run along," Morris said. Morris was a doting uncle.

"Tell Momma I'll be on time," her father said.

STARTS FOR HOME

Frieda got into her neat little roadster and started homeward, but stopped on the way at the Erasmus Book Shop. The clerk, Mr. Nathan Zimmermann, was waiting on a stout elderly lady who sought something to read that was very romantic.

"Something medieval, Miss?" he asked.

Nathan saw her and [illegible] but Nathan was a diplomat. He glanced over at Frieda and boldly kissed her a kiss.

Frieda shook a finger at him but she smiled. She was far from being offended.

Cleverly Nathan helped his fat customer to decide, made the sale and turned to Frieda.

"How is everything, dear?" he asked.

Delighted."

"I have to run now," Frieda said.

Nathan put an arm about her to escort her down the aisle to the door. On the way down he kissed her.

This did not offend Frieda in the least. Nathan watched her to see her get in her car and drive away. Then he sighed. Frieda Schelm was 19 and plump and beautiful. More than that, her father was a picture magnate and wealthy. Nathan glanced about the book shop and scowled.

Nathan called at Frieda's home that evening as requested. He had called on many occasions. Poppa and Momma Schelm liked him well enough. He was a nice boy, and as Momma Schelm said, "with so much college education in his head he has more sense than to expect to marry her Frieda."

His arm stole about her. He kissed her again. There was a moon and the odor of flowers and this beautiful girl beside him. Real romance was at hand.

"Nate," asked Frieda, "do you know what gags are?"

"G-Gags," he asked blinking and shaking his head. "What a question in the midst of this beautiful moment!"

ADMITTED TO OFFICE

"Gags. They are the little stunts in picture comedies that make people laugh like for instance a man spreads his coat over a mud puddle for a lady to walk across on."

"Sir Walter."

"Yes, I know. Listen, dear, and the woman steps on the coat and goes splash right down waist deep into a hole of water."

"Ha!" chuckled Nate.

"See? That made you laugh. That's a gag but it's old. It has been done for years. Listen, Poppa and Uncle Morris got to have gag men. They pay as high as $300 a week for them. Why don't you try it?"

"Three hundred a week? For thinking up silly things?"

"Yes, Nate."

"Would they hire me?"

"They will give you a trial. It's up to you, dear."

"I'll think about it all night, Frieda. Perhaps I could do it."

The next day Nate called at the executive offices of the Emmess Company with a note from Frieda that admitted him at once.

"Poppa," Frieda said, "I want you to give Mr. Zimmermann a trial as a gag man."

"A joke, it is?" he asked.

They assure him that it was not.

But get some sense in you, Frieda. Nathan here is a highbrow. He's been through colleges and things and got letters to stick on the end of his name. Highbrows are a total loss in the picture game and as for gags—" He shrugged.

"I think you are wrong, Mr. Schelm," Nathan argued, emboldened by visions of three hundred a week and working for Frieda's people. "I believe that psychology should solve the gag problem."

"By this here now, st— what you said there ain't a laff in it."

"How do you know, Poppa, when you can't even pronounce it and don't know what it is. Give Nate a chance."

The next two-reel comedy was finished. It didn't give promise of being a success.

If you will use five of my gags in this picture, I will pay for the cost of making them, Mr. Schelm. If the comedy doesn't sell better than any

If you will use five of my gags in this picture, I will pay for the cost of making them, Mr. Schelm. If the comedy doesn't sell better than any other you've had in two years it's my loss. If the comedy is one to create what you call belly laffs, give me a contract."

"Done, and it will do me good to see somebody else take a loss for once. Frieda, you watch this and see what a sucker a college education makes of a feller what wants to do something besides read books."

"All right, Poppa, but I know Nate is smart, he'll make his psychology do it for him," Frieda declared.

For three weeks Nathan Zimmermann was the big joke of the studio and lot. Word went out that he was to be permitted to have his gags used.

"My gawd," Director Ellis groaned, that lad hasn't seen a comedy in 15 years and he hasn't forgot any of the gags that were old then."

"Let him go ahead," Herman Schelm ordered.

"But he's got a pie throwing, a fall down stairs into a pail of whitewash, a board with a nail in it that flies up and hits Fatty in the rear, a sprinkling cart wetting a guy and his clothes shrink up on him so he can't walk, a woman losing a pair of old-fashioned what-you-call-ems, and others like it."

The picture went out. The wise lads, including the fancy-priced gag men, awaited the nation-wide "raspberry" the comedy would get. But no "raspberry" came. Good reports came, letters from exhibitors asking for more like that comedy and this convinced Schelm the biggest financial return any comedy of theirs had ever brought in.

"A greenhorn and a fool to luck," Herman said to Nathan, to keep him from swelling up. But Nathan didn't swell.

FATHER'S ADVICE

"It was psychology, Mr. Schelm. I studied what made people laugh most—all the old-time gags. If they were good enough to make them laugh a decade or so ago they were good enough now. I'd like my contract please—and permission to marry Frieda."

"What!" yelled Herman.

"Or else, poppa," Frieda said. "Nathan and me will start a producing company of our own. He's written six new comedies already—"

"It is gag psychology, sir," Nathan said.

"What is, to marry Frieda?"

"No, no, that is love psychology."

Nathan and Frieda started out.

"Where you going?" her father demanded.

"Either to arrange for our wedding or to arrange for a studio for our new comedies, poppa."

"Go see the Rabbi then," Mr. Schelm ordered.

A Blow to the Machine

There Is Cause for Rejoicing in the Setback Given the Kline Coyne Organization.

On the face of the returns the Kline Coyne machine has been defeated in its plan to gain undisputed control of the city and county.

Mayor Kline has lost a supporter in Council, Robert J. Alderdice having been supplanted by P. J. McArdle. That is cause for rejoicing, though it is not to be overlooked that the Mayor still has in Council the two thirds majority necessary to validate his extravagances and irregularities.

Senator James J. Coyne has been defeated by a rather narrow margin in the contest for County Commissioner. That, too, is cause for rejoicing.

Senator William D. Mansfield has gained one of the Republican nominations for County Commissioner. He has a large majority over all his competitors. This does not indicate, however, that he was the first choice of most of the voters. Mansfield made such a fine showing because he was the second choice of many of the partisans of his rivals. He was the second choice of numerous supporters of Joseph G. Armstrong and Charles C. McGovern, and probably also of Senator Coyne.

Senator Mansfield profited by his policy of saying nothing to offend anybody. It is not an inspiring policy. There is encouragement, however, in Mansfield's Senate record that he will make a good commissioner.

While McGovern apparently has won the second of the nominations, a number of districts were not reported as this was written, about noon today, and there is a mathematical possibility that they may give the place to Armstrong. Indeed Armstrong's lieutenants assert that they have received private reports from the missing districts and that they give him victory.

The thing that McGovern's followers and, of course, all honest citizens have to dread is that the election boards of some of the districts still holding out in machine controlled territory will "fix" the returns, or that some of those which already have reported may alter the record so as to overcome McGovern's majority.

While the Kline machine has suffered reverses, nearly all the organization candidates for county offices have been successful. Moreover, the Kline machine polled a vote which, if honest, was very impressive in view of the machine's crimes and misdemeanors and the fact that the Mayor is under indictment.

The three Poor Directors, against whom serious charges have been made and whose management is under court investigation, are nevertheless leading all their rivals, possibly because the strength of the opposition was scattered among too large a number of candidates.

Another discouraging thing is the success apparently won by Mike De Rosa, Jr., a former slot machine racketeer and election crook whose criminal record led Judge Gray in a recent court decision to denounce his "brazen effrontery" in offering himself as a candidate. De Rosa has either been elected, or come very close to being elected—the outcome is in doubt because of the charge of fraud—alderman of the Twelfth Ward. And the Twelfth Ward, mind you, is not in the Strip or in the Hill district or in the machine-controlled North Side or South Side territory, but in East Liberty!

There is satisfaction in the apparent smashing of the slate of the Common Pleas Court judges seeking election. Thomas M. Marshall seems to have broken the slate.

The winners of the nominations for the County Court bench are of high caliber. It is a satisfaction to the Sun-Telegraph that Judge Sara Soffel and M. A. Musmanno, whom it indorsed, led the field.

The election has taught some important lessons. One is that the machine is formidable even when it has been proved guilty of serious crimes. It has an enormous following which sticks with it through thick and thin.

This should not discourage honest citizens from voting. It is all the more reason why everybody who has the slightest regard for decency and good government should take an active interest in politics.

A Menace to Democracy

Arrest and Prosecution of Election Criminals of All Kinds Are of the First Importance.

There is a serious threat to democratic government in the efforts made by various persons in the primary election to thwart the free expression of the people's will by criminal means.

It is doubtful if Allegheny County ever before experienced such an orgy of election lawlessness. In addition to every variety of perjury and forgery, the people had to contend with bandits, vandals and thugs.

Bandits forced their way into a room in which a South Side election board was counting the votes, and stole the ballots, numbering about 600.

Thugs atacked voters in some of the precincts.

The arrest and prosecution of all these criminals, and especially of the higher-ups who hired them, are of the first importance. District Attorney Park should put it at the head of his list of jobs to be done.

In Full Retreat

Australia didn't like them, and chased them out.

Now all the judges in Finland have asked them to depart and never to return.

That leaves only the United States, for a very limited engagement.

Some day, we hope, the unhappy beast and his ungainly driver will find themselves back in the Sahara, where a camel can always go eight days without a drink.

More Prohibition Fallacies

By Brand Whitlock

(Copyright, 1931, by Brand Whitlock.)

THE reformer is determined to regulate by law the personal habits of other people whose tastes offend his prejudices. As a matter of fact, nothing has more potential energy, and once let loose nothing is more powerful and devastating than a prejudice. It has to its credit more victories by far than ever principle had.

Of course, the reformers would retort that it is not their prejudices but their principles that they are trying to inculcate. But, even so, there are other principles besides theirs—and other prejudices.

And, in any event, even the possession of a principle does not confer the right of forcible interference with everybody who does not share it. The doctrine of free speech is intended to protect merely the right of harangue; there is a corollary to it—the right not to listen.

And one may be permitted to doubt whether the reformer is invariably animated by a noble and altruistic purpose, and inspired solely by the emotions of love or pity. Macaulay knew what he was talking about: the Puritans condemned bear baiting not because the sport was cruel to the bear, but because it gave pleasure to the spectators.

THE earlier militant advocates of prohibition was probably moved more by resentment of the gourmet and good-fellow, than by any pity for the drunkard. And then there is the love of meddling and interference. Even though the nation were actually bone dry, that would not be enough. The knowledge or the suspicion that somewhere in France a monsieur was savoring a glass of Chateau Yquem, or that in some remote island of the sea a native was smoking his cheroot under a palm tree, would be intolerable, and the vast army of interference would have to be mobilized for action once more.

No; the true principle of these personal "moral" reforms is this: "I do not do this, therefore you must not. I do not drink, therefore you must not. I do not smoke, therefore you must not. I do not go for a walk on Sunday, therefore you must not." And so on, through a long series of human actions, innocent or vicious, trivial or foolish, which the reformer is not tempted to commit.

IN certain regions there is a prejudice against the use of wine, but apple-jack is permitted. There is a similar prejudice against cigarets; if people wish to use tobacco they ought either to chew it or smoke it in a corncob pipe.

But the sin does not consist alone in doing the things that the reformer does not do; it consists in disagreeing with him; that is the real gravamen of the offense. That is the principle which too often animates the reformer, and it is a principle that has caused more pain and trouble in the world than any other. In its name wars have been waged, cities sacked, populations decimated and provinces laid waste. In its name men have been hanged, drawn and quartered, put to the torture, and burnt at the stake.

In those days the reformers had the courage of their prejudices, and when they wished to reform anybody they took him out in the public square and burnt him at the stake. But times have changed. Nowadays—such are the enervating effects of civilization—they have the law on him.

THERE seems to be, for some odd reason, more acrid morality in our country than in any other modern nation. In no other land are there so many societies and so many leagues trying to regulate personal conduct, to make people better by law.

In no other land are there so many "probes," so many inquiries and investigations, or such a constant hue and cry after the sinner. It is our national sport. In England they hunt foxes; in Spain they bait bulls; but in America we hunt men.

In other lands they put off calling in the police until there has been a breach of the peace. Up to this point they seem to let their neighbors alone and allow them to do pretty much as they please. Perhaps it is because, long ages ago, they tried all these schemes of reforming people by law and found that they would not work. But we still lightly embark upon the old experiments, and think to provide, offhand, facile solutions for problems that have bewildered old nations for centuries.

ONE sometimes suspects that this tendency to reform may be due to the fact that so many of the early settlers came to America with a grievance, and that there is, therefore, a certain stavistic strain in us, which explains this persistent determination either to regulate the conduct of others, or to take it out of their hides.

Contemplating the disastrous results of the operations of the reforming spirit, about all that one can do is to shake one's head sadly and re-echo the old pathetic and despairing cry of Lord Melbourne:

"Why couldn't they have let it alone!"

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Leave Them Alone!

* * *

* * *

LEAVE 'EM ALONE—and they'll come home!

* * *

* * *

She must DO something! She must write him an apology! She must call him up and explain! She must flaunt a rival in his face! She must beg his pardon! She must tell him what she thinks! She must get him BACK!

At ten p. m. a woman will send a man away forever in a fit of righteous wrath—and at ten o'clock next morning she will be on the wire begging him to come back.

* * *

At midnight she will hand him his ring and his congé, and the following noon she will offer to get down and let him walk over her if he will only bring them back.

* * *

She will furiously vow never to speak to him again—and 24 hours later try to get him on the phone so they can "talk it over."

* * *

Nothing so wearies and nauseates a man as these mornings-after, revulsions, reactions and retractions. When a man wakes up with an alcoholic headache, the very thought of champagne makes him sick. And when he wakes up with a sentimental hangover, the very thought of more sentiment makes him shudder.

* * *

If a man does not love a woman, nothing on earth will bring him back to her, except a writ of habeas corpus.

If a man honestly loves a woman, nothing on earth will keep him away from her except death or jail.

* * *

* * *

Watchful waiting is a woman's best suit. The most eloquent thing she can say, the most dramatic thing she can do is—NOTHING.

* * *

Nothing so stirs a man's conscience or excites his curiosity as a woman's dead silence. Even a man who is only a little bit in love will come back to find out what she is thinking about, if she will only keep him waiting long enough. The greatest force on earth is perfect PASSIVITY!

* * *

A man never pays any attention to a clock until it stops ticking, or to a woman, until she stops TALKING!

* * *

Never call a man up after a quarrel to ask him if he "loves you still." That is the only way any man does love a woman—STILL—perfectly STILL!

* * *

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Harry Richman, whose career has been checkered with more vicissitudes than fall to the lot of the average performer, has emerged perhaps the most popular revue entertainer on the stage. Even rival producers admit he is the biggest single box office draw on the Rialto.

I first heard Richman sing to the accompaniment of his portable piano at an impromptu affair for C. B. Cochran at the old Green Room Club about nine years ago. S. J. Kaufman introduced him as "one of the future great Broadway stars," which struck me as a pleasant exaggeration.

He impressed me as a not at all unusual type of "cabaret canary" with wavy hair and a personable smile. The White Way woods were full of them. Yet the next I heard of him he was a featured player in George White's Scandals" and packing crowds in at a night club bearing his name.

Several years later we were table mates at a dinner in honor of Sid Grauman in Hollywood. Richman had been brought to the coast with a boisterous ballyhoo by Sam Goldwyn to star in a moving picture. It was at this time the Richman-Clara Bow engagement, an ill advised gesture, was announced.

From then on Richman seemed in eclipse. His movie was not a conspicuous success and the reopening of his night club in New York along with a revue in which he was appearing turned out dismal failures. After that there was a lively three weeks' Palace engagement, yet he seemed rather definitely in the discard.

Then came his Follies engagement with wiseacres wagging doubtful heads. But rebounding from the theatrical depths Richman "stopped the show." Over night he shed the glossy affectations of night clubs and in his sudden mellowness became a forthright performer.

I happened to visit the Follies the night following the deplorable tragedy on his motor boat when bandaged, in pain and without sleep for 48 hours, he showed himself magnificently "the true trouper" of theatrical fable but rarely seen in real life. He was superb.

One of the neatest practical jokes of the year had the lobby of a smart hotel as its locale. A party of motorists arrived from Kentucky after wiring for reservations in advance. A rude and insufferable clerk met them and explained impertinently the hotel "did not receive hicks as guests" and refused to let them register. After a stormy exchange of vituperation ending with one of the Kentucky gentlemen reaching toward a hip pocket, the clerk lifted his wig, knelt on the floor and cried "Mammy!" He was an old friend who lived in the hotel and heard of their coming.

And here's a chunk of canine drama of this writer's household that may at least interest dog lovers. The Boston and Sealyham have never been friendly. The 8-year-old Boston treats the newcomer with bored indifference. Late last evening the Sealyham kept running to a member of the household and then to a closed door of a closet. This continued with increasing fervor and barking until the door was opened. The Boston lay on the closet floor, semi-conscious and breathing faintly. Accidentally he had been shut in and almost suffocated.

From Chicago zips news, too, that the pug dog may come back. A kennel there has more than 100 and a kennel in Westchester has about 25. A Pug Dog Club has been formed in each city and fanciers hope to spur a nationwide interest as pronounced as that in the Gay Nineties. The bebibboned pug as a symbol of swank—used to be perched in the front seat of every carriage. The pug went out chiefly because they become wheezy and asthmatic. Their defenders say that is due solely to overfeeding and lack of exercise. Properly handled they remain as healthy and active as other breeds.

* * *

Associated somehow with pug dogs in my mind is a spinster in our town, wealthy but miserly, who was constantly pampering her pug. There was the story of her being attracted to a hat with a beautifully plumed stuffed bird as an ornament. She stepped in, asked the price and was told $20. "Twenty dollars!" she screeched. "Does it sing?"

Lisle Bell takes a somewhat obstinate view about the depression. He rather hopes it will hang on as he will feel lonely without it. "After all," he said, "it is about the only thing left for most of us."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Every time you tune in, there's Uncle Hastings holding forth, telling everybody and everything what ails 'em and how much better he could run things. Maybe it's the lunch room—maybe it's the taxi company—maybe it's the whole United States government—whatever it is, Uncle Hastings shows it up.

Finding Fault isn't just a habit with Uncle Hastings—IT'S A RACKET. Listening in, you might think he's merely peeved. But he has more than a peeve—he has a Purpose. Not so dumb, either.

Uncle Hastings longs to be a Big Shot. He yearns to have people admire him, consult him, quote him, stand in awe of him. With bitter envy he sees other people being admired and consulted. If he could only be as popular and powerful! Hasn't he brains enough? Of course he has! But Life, the old meanie, has never given Uncle Hastings the breaks. As a consequence, he has had to sit on the side lines while millions of Inferior Creatures forged ahead. All of which burns Uncle Hastings up. He WON'T be shoved aside. He WILL gain the recognition he deserves. And sure enough, he does.

Uncle Hastings finds a way to comfort his irritated ego and make himself seem important . . . a way which requires no hardship or discomfort . . . HE SIMPLY PICKS FLAWS.

Now, it is possible to pick flaws in anyone or anything. Nobody is 100 per cent righteous or smart. Nothing is perfectly done. You can, if you wish, spend your whole life finding fault—thereby making the other fellow look like thirty cents. And, oddly enough, by your very confidence in yourself you will make other people take you seriously . . . even people who know that your stuff is hokum. So that's Uncle Hastings' game. HE MAKES HIMSELF SEEM BIG BY MAKING OTHERS SEEM SMALL. He never DOES anything himself. He never takes any chances, assumes any responsibility. He simply UNDOES the other man's record—cheapens and tears down—

Always Belittlin'—that's Uncle Hastings' racket. Unfortunately, he hasn't a monopoly on it. There's an Always-belittler in every office, in every family circle. The snooty chap who tells you that you did well enough with that little building contract but you oughtta seen the Big Job he pulled off down in New Orleans . . . the sniffy dame who coos condescendingly over your last winter's hat and then tells you about her new Empress Eugenie . . . the snoopy neighbor who drops in to whisper "something for your own good, dearie" . . . they're all Uncle Hastingses. THEY ARE ALL MAKING THEMSELVES BIG BY MAKING YOU SEEM SMALL.

And even you and I, stranger, we have our Uncle Hastings moments, haven't we? How often have you and I chipped the gilt off someone's nice, shiney dream? Or knocked a mean little nick in someone's pride because our own ego was rankling. And I suppose we'll do it again—but never with the same gusto. FOR AMOS 'N' ANDY HAVE CRAMPED OUR STYLE BY BROADCASTING UNCLE HASTINGS.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

What is worse than a fidgety guest?

One who wants to keep moving all the time, insists upon doing something to help, particularly at a time when what is most desired of her is that she absent herself or keep out of the way.

Then there is the man guest who visits his host at his place of business.

He persist in talking and asking questions about the business; he talks to the employes and otherwise interferes with regular routine.

The business place visitor is still more of a nuisance when he is a guest of an employe whose time is not his own and so much work has to be turned out.

The employer cannot be blamed if a person is permitted to visit the place who makes it hard to produce the required quantity.

He makes his ride about the city disagreeable by his anxiety to make that train, after his host is well started for the place of departure. Are you in this class.

EAST BOROUGHS DISTRICT NEWS

CITY READY TO START NORTH HOMESTEAD BOULEVARD

FORWARD AVE. HIGHWAY FUND AVAILABLE

Herron Promises Residents Work Will Begin in Fall After Trade Board's Plea

Construction on the proposed Forward avenue North Homestead boulevard will start this fall, Council President Herron promised North Homestead residents last week at a mass meeting in the Swiss-School.

He said:

"The Council finally has the money to start the roadway. We do doubt will get started early in the fall."

NEED CITED

The appeal that started the city action was made by the North Homestead Board of Trade early this summer. In their petition the board declared that the boulevard was of utmost importance and should be built by the city.

The board also claimed that the improvement was needed not only by North Homestead, but also by Swissvale, Rankin, McKeesport and other communities in the Monogahela Valley.

Alderman Sol Goldstein said:

HITS FORWARD AVENUE

The proposed road will connect with Forward avenue at the intersection of Beechwood boulevard and will extend directly into North Homestead, according to the preliminary plans.

The Squirrel Hill Board of Trade and other district civic organizations have indorsed the new roadway.

NEW PROJECTS IN MUNHALL SPEEDED

Permit Sought for 8-Mile Sewerage System as Part Of Half-Million Program

Engineer F. B. Sheaffer, of Munhall Borough, has completed plans and specifications for a sewerage system to serve the borough territory along the Whitaker Run lane and Homestead Park, and application has been made by Munhall Council before the State Board of Health for permission to construct the sewer.

According to announced plans, approximately eight miles of sanitary sewering will be laid, connecting with the main trunk line on Ravine street, and permission to build an additional storm sewer across Marion street has been asked of the State Bureau of Water and Forests. These improvements are included in a $500,000 program launched by the borough council in the park district which was annexed in 1929.

The borough is nearing completion of 33 street improvements and another sewerage system along West Run. Additional ordinances have been approved providing for the pavement of four streets and two sidewalks. Paving projects are Wayne street, between Forest and Cambria streets; East Edna street to its end; Clay alley, between Ada and Grace streets, and Virgin alley, between Emerson and Walter streets.

Sidewalks will be laid on Main street, between Miller and Elizabeth streets, and East Edna street.

Homestead, Pitcairn, Oakmont, McKeesport, Wilkinsburg in Joint Relief Project

East Liberty, Homestead, Oakmont, McKeesport, Pitcairn and Wilkinsburg are included in the new unit divisions announced in the $5,000,000 campaign for the Welfare Fund. Augustus K. Oliver, president of the fund, and Frank R. Phillips, chairman of the operating committee of the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Association, have announced the new set-up for the campaign.

The most marked change from the original relief plan is the creation of 15 unit divisions, including the larger boroughs and grouping outlying territories into neighborhoods for more efficient organization.

Independent campaigns will be launched in these divisions, cooperating with the main campaign, to be staged from November 9 to November 23.

TAX WORK PLAN CONTINUED

Trafford residents will continue to be permitted to pay off their delinquent taxes by working on public improvements, the Borough Council decided last week. The scheme has been in force for some time and will continue indefinitely.

Eighty property owners, having tax bills ranging from $10 to $60, have been permitted to pay their bills with work, according to Borough Secretary Meager.

Street improvements, sewer construction and sidewalk repairs are some of the projects being advanced by "tax" labor at a rate of 40 cents an hour.

Beechwood Plot Changes Owners

W. L. Stewart has purchased a plot of vacant land in Beechwood boulevard near Wilkins avenue from the Curry estate, according to Ellis & Carr, realtors. It is reported that Stewart gave in exchange a duplex at 1820 Wightman street.

Duquesne Greys To Celebrate Centennial

A centennial celebration of its organization will be held September 18 to 20 by the Duquesne Greys at their headquarters in the Gen. Albert J. Logan Armory in Thackeray street. Col. William R. Dunlap is general chairman.

TESTS DRILLED FOR BRIDGE

Test holes are being drilled in the vicinity of West street and Seventh avenue, Homestead, for the proposed new high level bridge across the Monongahela River, which is to start near the top of Brown's Hill, terminating on a level with Eighth avenue.

The Pennsylvania Drilling Company is making the preparatory tests, with actual work on the proposed structure to begin the first of next year.

DOUBLE-FRONDED FERN CULTIVATED BY WILLIAM TURNER

Mr. Turner, Wilkinsburg botanist, produced this as one of several specimens of double-fronded fern to prove that the many reported double fronds are not so rare as their owners believe.

NIGHT CLASSES OPEN MONDAY

With registrations completed, the Peabody Evening School will resume sessions starting next Monday and continuing every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday night during the school year. Featuring this year's school courses will be a series of lectures on the elementary principles of investment, arranged by Principal John H. Saul, in co-operation with banking and investment houses in Pittsburgh and other cities.

Courses dealing with several branches of commercial, academic, industrial training and household economy are included in the curriculum.

Odd Fellows Make Pilgrimage to Home

Fifty automobiles carrying members of the 10 East Communities Odd Fellows' lodges made the annual pilgrimage to the Odd Fellows' Home at Grove City Sunday. A basket picnic was held during the afternoon on the home grounds, with District Deputy Andrew Greig in charge.

Lodges represented included Pitcairn, Wilmerding, Turtle Creek, Westinghouse Lodge of Turtle Creek, St. John's Lodge of East Pittsburgh, Swissvale, Braddock, Verona and Oakmont.

Tech Will Offer Special Subjects

Marking a change from its original plan of instruction, the drama department of Carnegie Institute of Technology will offer during its night school sessions a group of subjects especially adaptable to the needs of teachers. These subjects include:

Cypress Sisterhood Marks Anniversary

The Cypress Sisterhood, Dames of Malta, Turtle Creek, celebrated its eighteenth anniversary last Saturday with a bingo party in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Church street. Mrs. Anna Davis was chairman of the entertainment committee, assisted by Margaret Martin, Mrs. Anna Cleary, Mrs. Sarah Lawton and Mrs. Margaret Kerr.

Male Chorus Opens Season November 12

The Braddock Male Chorus will open its winter concert program with a concert in Carnegie Music Hall, Braddock, November 12 and 13. W. L. Dowler is president of the Chorus Club, with Howard Pfeil, vice president; J. H. Whitfield, treasurer, and A. G. Perschke, secretary.

SCHOOL NEARS COMPLETION

William McKinley School, Verona, Hill, Penn Township, costing $700,000, will be opened formally about the middle of October, according to an announcement made by John Hetrick, secretary of the Board of Education.

Present arrangements provide for children to attend the school from the territory north of the Sharpsburg road, including Point Breeze and Hunter road districts.

The eight rooms of the building will accommodate 320 pupils and will have a combined gymnasium and auditorium with capacity of 750 persons.

Swissvale Extends Tax Paying Limit

A 90-day extension of time has been announced for taxpayers in Swissvale, beginning September 30, the original expiration date. Automatically, the penalty of 5 per cent. to have been added to taxes after this month, will not become effective until after December 31.

Borough council approved this measure in favor of the taxpayer upon motion of Councilman Green.

Action on a transit trade ordinance has been ordered held over until official notice of approval is received from the borough Chamber of Commerce.

Standard Propeller Plant to Be Moved

The Hamilton-Standad Propeller Company, of West Homestead, which employs approximately 150 men, will be moved to Hartford, Conn., October 1, it has been announced by Eugene Wilson, president, who said that the plant would be temporarily housed in the Pratt-Whitney shops.

Leaders' Courses Start Next Month

Two Sunday school leaders' instruction courses will start next month in the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, Highland avenue, and the Second Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg. The East Liberty school starts October 1, and the Wilkinsburg school opens October 6.

Arsenal Trade Board Names 2 Committees

Two committees have been appointed by the Arsenal Board of Trade, one to make plans for a drive to secure 100 new members, and the other to arrange for a Halloween parade.

William Mathews will aid the membership campaign which is headed by R. H. Henderson. The committee includes R. H. Hencles, A. J. Schulz, F. X. Larkin, H. B. Rogers, D. J. Broderick and Joseph Krol.

Settlement Classes Open on October 5

Instruction in handcraft and sewing will be resumed at the Irene Kaufmann Settlement October 5, with many other departments in the Settlement's program opening at the same time.

Ex-Grid Star Made Chief Of Swissvale Police

Playing football and being chief of police aren't so very different. So thinks Police Chief William Cusack, 29, recently appointed to replace William N. Campbell, deposed by Swissvale Borough Council.

No so many years ago Cusack played quarterback on the state championship football team of the Swissvale Quakers. He was the best man of that team of stars. Apparently the Borough Council believed the same tactics that won football games will win in public safety work, because they voted unanimously for Cusack's appointment.

Former Chief Campbell was suspended early this month for "conduct unbecoming an officer" and "for the good of the service."

Son Through Mother Sues Father for Gift Fund

Edwin Alpern, through his mother, Mrs. Sadie R. Alpren, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against his father, Attorney J. Benjamin Alpern, of Shady avenue. The suit alleges that the boy's grandfather, Louis Ruttenberg, 5505 Raleigh street, gave him $500 for his birthday, July 20, 1926, and that the father took the money to hold for his son. The son complains that recently at a hearing in Domestic Relations Court his father admitted that he no longer was holding the sum in trust and had mingled it with his own funds.

EAST END FANS ASSURED GOOD GRID GAMES

Last Year's Tube City Team Virtually Intact; Some Club Managers Changed

By TOM BIRKS

With the installation of the Independent Football Conference now an assured fact, East End followers of the pastime are keenly interested in the makeup of the various clubs that will provide their entertainment.

East End fans will have the East Pittsburgh Pioneers and the McKeesport Olympics as their entrants in the conference, and there is every reason to feel that the East End will be very much in the race right to the finish.

All prospects that appeals have practically cinched the Tube City outfit permit to be the leading contender for the championship honors. Manager Frank Rooney is rapidly rounding his team into shape and has practically completed his lineup.

McKeesport fans, too, are expressing the best of hopes for the championship of the league. Both Boyle and Sneas Keefe have their entire roster of the 1930 season at home grounds have been strengthened from Rainbow Gardens and Olympia Park.

STRONG TEAM SEEN

Boyle will have a great Pioneer squad to choose from. Candidates are already out for backfield positions and Clair Goldberg will be calling the signals from the quarterback position and his chief opposition will be Burt Edwards, former Wa[illegible]

The new [illegible] seems to have the [illegible] and the command to [illegible] McGlashan brought Andy B[illegible]wn to the organization [illegible] and Brown's ability [illegible] listening to Brown was one [illegible] smartest financial [illegible] connected with an independent club in the district and [illegible] a chance that he will give [illegible] help to McGlashan to [illegible] club over.

32 AT PRACTICE

Last year was a lean one for the firemen, but with 32 candidates out for the opening practice there is every reason to feel that the firemen will be taking their rightful place.

Then outside of the conference the fans will have the Linwood club to watch. It is the policy of the East End management to bring only the best attractions to the Linwood field.

This is being done to obtain for the East Enders the first opening in the conference should a weak sister develop. However with teams like Rooney's club, West View, Dan Burns of New Kensington, East Liverpool, McKeesport and East Pittsburgh it is hardly possible that they will be able to edge in.

The formation of the junior conference probably will find quite a number of East End clubs in the final allotment of positions.

Wall Sunday School Names Boyd as Head

Robert Boyd has been elected superintendent of the Wall Sunday school. Other officers who were recently selected by the school are:

Assistant superintendent, Elizabeth Bumgardner; secretary, H. L. Keefer; assistant secretary, Ethel Keefer; treasurer, Edward Lowden; pianist, Mrs. Edward Lowden; assistant pianist, Luella Miller; chorister, Mrs. Emma Hughes; librarians, Reese Hughes and Arthur Hughes; assistant librarians, Frank Irvine and Lester Schuster; superintendent of primary department, Emma Boyd; assistant superintendent, Marie Long; superintendent of cradle roll, Mrs. E. A. Geyer; superintendent of home department, Mrs. Peck; superintendent of adult department, Mrs. Ed Hughes; superintendent of young people's department, H. F. Keefer; superintendent of temperance, Mrs. Edward Lowden; superintendent of missions, Mabel Plowman.

BOXING BACK AT GARDEN

The sport of the knights of the padded gloves returns to Motor Square Garden one week from next Monday night, when Joe Mazer and Matchmaker Jules Beck will present in their main bout a "natural" that has been sought by clubs in the district for more than a year.

Tony Herrera, sensational Mexican lightweight, of Chicago, and Joey Goodman, of Cleveland, will be the principals.

Both Herrera and Goodman have been consistent winners in local arenas. They are clever boxers and hard hitters and a knockout finish either way is in prospect.

The Garden plans to stage boxing shows every Monday night until some time in April. It is the biggest arena in the district and has been in operation as a boxing scene since 1919. Despite the depression it enjoyed its most successful season in 1930-31.

With the opening of the Garden, the outdoor boxing season will automatically pass out of the picture at the Meyers Bowl in North Braddock and Hickey Park, Millvale. The Bowl stages its final show of the campaign next Monday night, when Tiger Joe Weist of Brookline meets Paul Pirrone, Cleveland middleweight, in the 10-round main bout. This show was scheduled for last Wednesday, but was postponed when Pirrone contracted a cold and had to break training and asked a postponement of several days.

Chairmen Appointed By Jewish Council

New chairmen have been appointed to direct the activities of the Pittsburgh section of the National Council of Jewish Women, it was announced this week by Mrs. Leo Hall, president. They are: Mrs. Max Perlman, music; Mrs. Joseph Barach, motor corps; Mrs. Isadore R. Kreimer, religion; Mrs. Oliver Einstein, anniversary and memorial fund; Mrs. William Binswanger, by-laws and rules; Mrs. I. H. Levin, history; Mrs. M. Wilmerding High Enrollment at New Peak

Wilmerding's Union High School's enrollment this year has exceeded all previous years, with 1,600 pupils registered. Because of this number, two new teachers have been added to the school's teaching staff. Miss Agnes Huhn and Miss Helen Graham.

Nuisance Light Ordered Moved By Council

A traffic light in Pitcairn has been ordered removed because it is a "nuisance" in the opinion of the borough council. The light is to be tentatively changed from Broadway street and Highland avenue to the intersection of Center avenue and Agatha street.

It is pointed out that such a light at the proposed location would eliminate the use of a traffic officer for school children attending the high school which is near the intersection.

ARNOLD SCHOOL STARTS TERM

Arnold School, Braddock avenue, near Forbes street, began its ninth year Wednesday, with the enrollment of students in the senior school. Headmaster C. W. Wilder announced today. Students in the junior school will be enrolled September 21 and sessions will be started.

Several important changes in the faculty have been made, including the appointment of Paul Heverly, formerly of Swissvale High School, as assistant to Claude Hubbard, physical director. Mr. Heverly will have charge of Arnold's football team which has already started practice.

Sacred Heart Church Women Plan Parties

Eighteen card parties have been arranged for the winter months by the women of the Sacred Heart Church, to be held in the Guild Hall, Center avenue, beginning October 6 and ending April 26, 1932. A partial list of the hostesses follows:

Gould, worthy matron of the same chapter; Mrs. Jessie McWilliams, worthy matron of the Robert Swan chapter, and Mrs. Ruth Palmer, worthy matron of the Friendship organization. The entertainment included dancing and cards.

Commerce Group Favors Wider 5th Avenue

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce has advised City Council of its action recommending the widening of Fifth avenue between Bigelow boulevard and Dithridge street, an initial step toward widening the street from downtown to Point Breeze.

Under the chamber's plan, Fifth avenue would eventually be a six-lane street and the proposed start in Oakland would be made at a cost of less than $100,000.

CHURCH PLANS CELEBRATION

Shady Avenue Baptist Church will celebrate its forty-fifth anniversary next Sunday, with the Rev. Raymond G. Pierson, pastor, preaching an anniversary sermon and reading messages from former pastors.

The church was organized September 18, 1886, with a membership of 119 persons, when the old Penn Avenue Baptist Church merged with the new institution.

Charter members who still belong to the church include Mrs. C. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Drum, Miss Annie Davis, Mrs. C. R. Jones, Harry E. Morris, Mrs. A. C. Ramsey, Miss Jemima Rush, Mrs. M. West and Mrs. F. F. Vandervoort.

SCOUT LEADERS TO ADDRESS CONCLAVE

East Boroughs Men Among Notables on Program of Sponsors' Regional Meet

N. A. Wahlberg, chairman of East Boroughs Council Scout Leadership Training School, will address an audience of hundreds of prominent Boy Scout sponsors during the regional conference to be held September 22-23 at the William Penn Hotel.

Mr. Wahlberg, who has had years of experience as an Arctic explorer, a lieutenant in the Swedish navy and more recently as head of the local school for the training of adult leadership for scouting, will deliver a message on leadership training, a subject of vital importance to those interested in this phase of boys' work.

Assisting Mr. Wahlberg will be John Danton, chief executive of the local scout council, who will act in an advisory capacity throughout the conclave. Like Wahlberg, Danton also is widely known not only in local scout circles, but throughout a great number of states.

On the program with Wahlberg and Danton will be such men of national prominence in scout work as James E. West, chief scout executive of the United States; Owen J. Roberts, judge of the United States Supreme Court; E. B. Cooper, president of the Shenandoah Valley council; Dr. W. H. Hurt, national headquarters; Maj. Roy E. Seymore, regional scout executive; Maj. J. Lewis Evans, president of the Delaware-Montgomery council, and Ross Leffler, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Game Commission, and many others of equal importance.

SCHOOL HEADS HOLD RALLY

An educational rally was held Friday night at the Wilmerding Y. M. C. A. attended by workers in the Valley district, to explain the advantages of night and unemployed schools to be conducted in the district this winter.

Talks were given by C. W. Shaffer, of the Wilmerding schools; R. A. McPherson, manager of Westinghouse Technical Night School; Miss Jennie Monroe, principal, Pittsburgh Academy; Rocco Cerchiara, secretary of night schools, East Liberty Y. M. C. A.; E. A. Dimmick, principal, Pittsburgh Central Branch, Y. M. C. A.; C. S. Bock, general secretary, McKeesport Y. M. C. A., and Scott W. Rudy, dean, Wilmerding Y. M. C. A. school for unemployed.

Invent New Device To Salvage Subs

WASHINGTON.—(INS.)—A new device for the salvaging of submarines is reported to have been patented by a Swedish engineer, according to a report received in the Commerce Department from Trade Commissioner Basil D. Dahl at Stockholm. The device is said to consist of a number of folding pontoons which are built into the hulk of the submarine. They take only a very small space and are mechanically inflated through a pneumatic device which is operated from inside the submarine. When completely filled with air, they increase the displacement of the submarine sufficiently to cause it to rise to the surface, the inventor claims.

Girls Go to School — In Glass Building

NEW ORLEANS.—(AP.)—Sixteen hundred New Orleans girls will live in a glass house this winter.

At least they will go to school in one, for every class room in the new Eleanor McClain High School has 18 large windows, and the study hall has 70 windows.

There are so many casements that very little of the gray stucco of which the building is constructed, can be seen.

Racing Toad Cuts All Speed Records

LOVELAND, Col.—(I.N.S.)—Smashing all previous speed records, Gruen, owned by R. L. Brannon, of Loveland, recently dashed 10 feet in 30 seconds. Gruen is a horned toad. Gruen thus clipped 10 seconds from the record previously held by Plenty Grand, Lila Lee's horned speeder, who recently ran it in 40 flat. The race was held in connection with a recent American Legion celebration here. Sixty toads were entered.

Mexico to Pattern Columbia's Alumni

NEW YORK.—(INS.)—Latin America looks to Columbia University for leadership in educational affairs, according to J. B. Durand, of Valazquez de Leon, Mexico. He has appealed to Clarence E. Lovejoy, Columbia Alumni secretary, on behalf of the National University of Mexico, Mexico City, for help in founding a similar alumni association for his alma mater.

Air Patrol Sought To War on Liquor

FOSTER HEADS LEGION POST

Albert M. Foster, recently elected commander of the Homewood Post No. 35, American Legion, whose membership includes veterans from Homewood, Brushton, Penn Township, Regent Square, Wilkinsburg, Forest Hills and Edgewood, will be installed October 2 at the Legion's headquarters, 7212 Kelly street.

Foster has announced that the principal objective of his administration will be the construction of a permanent home for the post.

Senior Vice Commander, Frank E. France; junior vice commander, Jack A. Davis; finance officer, Clarence H. Dick; historian, Earl C. Potts, and the executive committee, comprised of all the newly-elected officers and F. A. Capone and Elmer F. Schaffer.

Elevator Awes Parachute Jumper

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(INS.)—Aerial stunts, such as leaping from a speeding plane thousands of feet above the ground, hold no terrors for Jimmy Donohue. In fact, Jimmy is well known throughout Colorado for his daring parachute stunts. But he is a bit timid about elevators. His curiosity got the better of him recently and he opened a door into an elevator shaft and peered down. The door closed on his neck and Donohue was pinned fast. After 30 minutes of struggle with the intricate mechanism workmen succeeded in freeing the imprisoned daredevil.

City Workers' Hope Of Raises Dashed

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(INS.)—City officials here have asked all municipal workers to give up any idea of getting pay raises this year. Teachers were due for a total of $65,000, and other workers were to be given raises in proportion. The Board of Finance has been asked to supply $700,000 to use for unemployed in the next winter, and to do it without issuing bonds. So the Board of Finance is seeking ways of getting the $700,000.

Wilkins Avenue Improvement Completed

At a cost of $45,350, shared by the city and state, repaving of Wilkins avenue, between Beechwood boulevard and South Dallas avenue, has been completed. Reinforced concrete has replaced the asphalt pavement. Work on the improvement was started in June.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

Mrs. Hattie MacBeth, newly elected president of the Homestead Park Community Club, presided at the initial meeting of the club's winter session last Thursday.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Bessie Natcher, vice president; Mrs. Thomas Platt, recording secretary; Mrs. Allan Hill, treasurer, and Mrs. Alice Neville, corresponding secretary.

Bicycles Become Popular in England

BIRMINGHAM, Eng.—(INS.)—Perhaps it's just a part of the general return to feathered bowlers, bustles, revivals of "Florodora," and other things Victorian, but the strong spurt in the popularity of the bicycle in England this summer is more soundly explained in the fact that most persons just can't afford motorcycles and automobiles. Then, too, the constantly growing "open air" movement has had something to do with it.

NEW MINISTER INSTALLED

The Rev. C. O. Bostrom was installed as pastor of Bethel Lutheran Church, Mills avenue and Fourth street, Braddock, Monday by the Rev. Dr. Felix Hanson, president of the New York Conference of the Augustana Synod and former pastor of the church.

Born in Connecticut, the Rev. Bostrom was graduated from Upsala College, East Orange, N. J., and the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Rock Island, Ill. He is married and has a daughter, Ruth, 11. He has served in the mission field in Canada and was pastor at Renovo, Pa., before coming to Braddock.

Former War Ship Sold 'Down River'

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—(INS.)—Once a gallant sea raider and a wartime mystery ship, the S. S. Chihuahua today had been "sold down the river" to the Tuna industry. The Chihuahua was in the British navy during the World War and ranged the seven seas as a free lance raider. Disguised as a slow freighter, she was powered to do 30 knots and carried a battery of heavy guns behind canvas camouflage. After the war, she was bought by a Mexican steamship company and placed on the coastwise trade.

Old Man River Sets Some Fresh Lows

QUINCY, Ill.—(INS.)—Old Man River has set some new records. For 18 days in August the Mississippi averaged one foot below low watermark. At St. Louis, the river was the lowest it has been for 70 years.

Braddock Women To Give Food To Needy

Under the leadership of Mrs. Alexander M. Scott, a group of Braddock women have undertaken to collect food and vegetables and fruits to conserve and distribute later to the needy in the Braddock district. The fruit and jelly will be conserved in the First Presbyterian, the United Presbyterian and the Methodist Episcopal churches.

DENTAL SCHOOL FOUNDER DIES

Funeral services were held last Thursday for Dr. Stewart LeRoy McCurdy, 72, organizer of the Pittsburgh Dental College, now the dental school of the University of Pittsburgh, who died Wednesday in his home, 432 Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg. Burial was in Uhrichsville, O., Saturday.

Dr. McCurdy was the author of "Orthopedic Surgery," "Manual of Oral Surgery," "Anatomy in Abstract," "Emergencies in Abstract," "Bone and Joint Surgery," "Oral Surgery" and "Dissector in Abstract." He contributed more than 100 scientific articles to medical journals and was proprietor and managing editor of the Medical Abstract Publishing Company.

Dr. McCurdy received degrees from Mt. Union College, Ohio State University and Ohio Medical University.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Sue Street McCurdy; two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Pilling, Coshocton, O., and Mrs. Amanda Sterling, Cleveland, and four brothers, W. D. McCurdy and James McCurdy, of Florida; Albert McCurdy, Rochester, N. Y., and Oscar McCurdy, Pittsburgh.

Funeral Services Held for W. F. Frank

Funeral services were held Saturday for William F. Frank, veteran engineer at the Homestead Steel Works, at his home, 121 Mifflin street, Whitaker. He was a member of the Whitaker Methodist Episcopal Church and the Whitaker Eagles. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Katie Hufnagle Frank.

BETHEL PASTOR INSTALLED

Succeeding the Rev. S. L. Hanson, who resigned to accept a charge in New England, the Rev. C. O. Bostrom has been formally installed as pastor of Bethel Lutheran Church, Mills avenue and Fourth street, Braddock. Dr. Felix Hanson, president of the New York Conference of the Augustana Synod, preached the sermon Monday and conducted the installation, assisted by pastors of the Braddock district. The service was in English.

Dr. Bostrom, who has been in Braddock for more than a month, comes to his new charge from Long Island. He is a graduate of Upsala College and of the Lutheran Theological Seminary. He is married and has a daughter, Ruth, 11.

W. M. A. of Brethren Congregation Meet

Mrs. T. Elliot was chairman of the meeting of the W. M. A. of the United Brethren Church of Braddock last Thursday night. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. E. V. White and Mrs. A. C. Truxall, chairman of the stewardship committee, directed the program.

3 East End Women On Club Committee

Three East End women have been appointed on the hostess' committee for the observance of President's Day by the Woman's Club of Pittsburgh, October 8. They are Mrs. William C. Kauffeld, Mrs. Sigmund Stunel and Mrs. Ada E. McWhinney.

Taxless City Seen In Power Earnings

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—This city, one of the new few in the United States which have had no general municipal tax for seven years, will have no city levy of any kind by 1934, Harry A. Hayward, City Finance Commissioner, predicts.

Earnings of the city's electric and water plants have taken care of the general tax, Hayward said, accrued surplus would make annual bond payments on outstanding bonded indebtedness.

New Oklahoma Gas Field Seen Likely

GUYMON, Okla. (AP)—A new gas field may be opened in Western Oklahoma. A well drilled in recently in Texas County is the largest gasser north of the Moore County, Texas, field. Three days after it blew in it was making 22,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Rubinoff, Violinist, Once Played in Cafe Here For $18 a Week

Dave Rubinoff, known years ago for his specialty violin numbers at Homer Lane's American cafe here, where he performed for $18 a week, came back to Pittsburgh this week for his first professional appearance here in five years, opening at the Stanley Theater tomorrow.

Rubinoff, who was also a music supervisor at Forbes School here and before that a newsboy, returned for an engagement at the theater, which will net him $3,000 for the week.

VISITS PARENTS

He came to town from New York, where this week he and Eddie Cantor took part in a radio broadcast that was sent throughout the country. Rubinoff went directly to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Rubinoff, 5600 Forbes street.

Prompted by his parents, Rubinoff recounted experiences of his life here. He said:

"I don't know of any other city that has more attraction to me than Pittsburgh has. It doesn't seem so long ago since I decided the Fourth Avenue Railroad Station was a good spot for a newsboy.

GOOD STAND

"In less than no time I remember selling all but two of my papers. Then somebody grabbed me by the seat of my pants and rushed me up to Forbes street. It seems that somebody else had a newsstand there."

Rubinoff eluded friends who gathered at the Pennsylvania Station to welcome him and went directly to his parents' home. While his breakfast was being prepared for him he played several violin selections for his mother.

Barcelona Plans Sea-Going Saloons

BARCELONA (Universal)—Tired business men in Spain's industrial capital will soon be able to welcome the opportunity to discuss long, cool drinks amid the sea breezes of the Mediterranean, once the necessary permission from the port authorities has been granted to the promoters of the scheme.

Shiny marine brasswork will vie with polished glassware, ranged along the back of mahogany bars fitted with every modern convenience as soon as the sea-going pubs are commissioned.

Dog Actor Wins Case for Owners

DENVER (INS)—Jerry, a trained Eskimo dog, was chief witness for the defense in the case of George Rovet and George and Lillian St. Leon, recently brought before Police Judge Alva H. Pickens on charges of cruelty to animals.

Jerry was called to the stand. His honor asked:

"How do they treat you?"

Spectacular Trail In National Park

Clinging to the mountainside at an elevation of 7,000 feet, 2,000 feet above the valley floor, the new Ptarmigan trail, completed July 1, will give horseback riders a thrill as well as a sweeping view of glaciers and peaks.

'LIGHT' DINNER ON SEPT. 21

An informal dinner in Hotel William Penn September 21 will mark the completion of Fifth avenue's "white way" lighting system, lights for which were designed by Mrs. Rebecca Howard Collins.

Among those invited to attend are Mayor Kline, Councilmen English and Herron, Benjamin Dancerfield Jr., Edward J. Kaufman, R. K. Mellon, James D. Calvin, I. Leonard Aronson, Charles F. Chubb, F. LeMoyne Page, Roy F. Cappe, John M. Houston, A. Seder, Lewis A. Park, Howard Arthur and Clarence R. Nesbit.

Officers Elected By Church Class

Mrs. C. Howells has been elected president of the Sunday school class taught by Mrs. Yon in the Fourth Street Methodist Episcopal Church, Brandock. Other new officers are Mrs. Florence Nesins, vice president; Mrs. F. F. Whitman, secretary; Mrs. Lillian Evans, treasurer. The "Look Out" committee are Mrs. Lillian Weber and Mrs. Whitman.

Westinghouse Glee Club to Open Year

The opening concert of the Westinghouse Glee Club, Wilkinsburg, will be given in the H. J. Heinz auditorium, North Side, Pittsburgh, it was announced this week. 400 TO SOLICIT WILKINSBURG NEEDY FUND

Contributions From Every Wage-Earner to Be Asked For Unemployment Relief

Every wage earner in Wilkinsburg will be asked to contribute regularly to the Wilkinsburg Relief Association which is preparing to launch a campaign to relieve unemployment suffering in the Borough.

The Rev. O. H. Sisson has been named general chairman of the drive committee and will be aided by John H. Rhodes. These men will direct the efforts of 400 volunteer workers who will solicit donations. A meeting of the entire organization is scheduled for tonight in the Allison school.

Preliminary plans have been made for the activities of the Swissvale Relief Association, with the first regular meeting of the emergency relief organization set for next Monday at 8 p. m. in the borough building. Dwight L. Bardes is president of the group.

Decision will be made Monday, according to Bardes, whether to join the Family Welfare Fund of Allegheny County or to establish a community chest in Swissvale.

Scout Commissioner Assumes New Duties

E. A. Borchers, former assistant scoutmaster of Troop 3, Wilkinsburg Boy Scouts, has assumed his duties as commissioner of District B in the East Boroughs Scout Council. He succeeds Glenn V. Jefferson, resigned.

Mother Nature's PRACTICAL JOKES!

Note the Ridiculous and Grotesque Nose of the Proboscis Monkey

SOME of the inconsistencies of Mother Nature seem impossible to explain. She often appears to be a rather heartless practical joker—and nobody knows why.

Even man has not escaped. Many features of the human body are inexplicable. Do you know of these contradictions of Nature which puzzle scientists? Most of them are pointed out in an entrancingly interesting article appearing in next Sunday's American Weekly. Don't miss it!

FIRST FOSTER AWARD GIVEN DESCENDANT

Great Grandson of Noted Composer Chosen for His Work in Field of Art

Dallas Clayland Rose, great-grandson of Stephen C. Foster, Pittsburgh's greatest composer, has been selected to receive the first award of the Stephen C. Foster Foundation for Music and Art.

But, unlike his famous ancestor, Rose's talent is in his use of brush and pencil. His most recent distinction in this field of art is "The Knight of Horseback" selected by the National Safety Council convention in Pittsburgh a year ago for first prize and chosen for the illustration on the cover of the Pittsburgh Book published as a convention souvenir.

Mrs. Marion Foster Welch, daughter of the composer, will be honor guest at a benefit musical recital Friday night in the auditorium of the Congress of Clubs to raise funds for the Foster foundation. Pupils of Matilda Orr Hays will present the recital. The program follows:

Weds Three Times; Name Still Stands

PITTSFIELD, Ill. — (INS) — Three times married without changing her name, is the record of Mrs. Rora Moorehead, of Eldara. Mrs. Moorehead, whose maiden name was Rosa Haskins, was first married to James Moorehead. After his death she married Led Moorehead, a brother, and he died last March. Recently she became the wife of Joe W. Moorehead, a third brother. He is 65 and she is 59.

Teaches 63 Years; Retires Amid Honor

'THE HOUSE OF LIFE'

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

Seventeen has been through the childish garden—the playhouse of Life. Half-field, half-wilderness, full of joys for the child, it leads up to the pink marble steps of the House of Life. Seventeen is apple-blossom-time for a young girl. She stands on the upper step and, joyfully, fearfully, peers within.

The House of Life is open to the sky, blazing with sun, glittering with stars, drenched with rain. Down its great corridor, lined with beautiful pillars, and vanishing, as she advances, always in a mist, the figure of 17 looks very small and very precious. Her father thinks so. And trembles for what might be behind every pillar, in wait. The wrong, the VERY WRONG young man, perhaps; and the right one may be columns on, too late. This bothers him more than all.

The good fairy is there, with her gift of wishes. The bad fairy hides her elongated nose across the way and sticks her tongue at the good fairy. That is why most of us have that famous mixture of good and bad, sun and rain, in our progress; the good fairy frantically works against the bad one, who is always just across the way. Adventure smiles and beckons behind another shaft, with his two faces, Tragedy and Joy. Time is there, in his place, just waiting. He is always there, with a hand holding his persistent hour-glass. Happiness is hidden, as well as Sorrow. With her golden apple, and the other with her veil gemmed with tears. Laughter, with his clown's ruff.

And LOVE, of course. He waits with his hand held out for hers. He, of all the lurkers, does not stay in one place, but dances pretty well all along the journey, in different guises; for women are much concerned with Love from 17 to 47. Sometimes he walks all the way, after stepping out from his appointed place, and through sun and rain and starlight, and through the buffetting and hustling and mummery, the gusty sighs, the serenades, the glitter and gladness and sadness, of the rest of the company she meets with, he never loses her hand, making all worth while. Sometimes he just touches her hand, and leaves. To come again.

Life is like that. Very beautiful, hidden from us, step by step. Beautiful, even when sad. But not beautiful when sordid. Not beautiful to the woman, 37, that was the girl, 17, and advances fearfully, in poverty, with children's hands tight to her skirt, hoping for the good fairy behind every hiding place along the way.

—NELL BRINKLEY.

CLUB'S WINTER WORK BEGINS

The formal opening of the winter season of the Aspinwall Woman's Club was to begin today with a reception for the president, Mrs. F. E. Sturgeon. The program includes ensemble music by Miss Virginia Wellman, harp; Miss Katherine Rickert, violin; Miss Alyce Martin, 'cello, and Frederick Lotz, piano.

A benefit musicale will be held next Thursday, featuring Mrs. Sidney Eckley, Jr., pianist; Miss Mary Jane Paul, reader, and Miss Margaret Leyda, contralto.

READING CIRCLE STARTS YEAR

The twenty-fifth year's season of the Pitcairn Ladies' Reading Circle opened last Thursday with "President's Day" being observed at the home of Mrs. John B. Kane, Kennedy avenue. Mrs. C. C. Pearsall was leader for the day.

Mrs. Charles E. Hild, retiring president, introduced the new president, Mrs. Maude Kerk. A musical program was given by Mrs. Ford B. Craig and Mrs. Percy V. Lontenfels. Mrs. Robert M. Elliott gave a reading, followed by a paper, "Along the Santa Fe Trail," by Mrs. Pearsall.

Woman Finds She Is 103 Instead of 100

If it hadn't been for them she would have celebrated it just as she planned, instead of her 103d.

Somewhere along the line Mrs. Holmes got mixed up in the count. Villagers, discussing her age, looked up the church records and found the three years she had forgotten.

Shore Boat Skipper Runs Bird Sanctuary

SAN DIEGO, Cal. — (INS.) — "Market street sanctuary" is the name given to a dumping grounds which has been turned into a home for infirm or injured sea gulls and pelicans. Jack Paynter, shore boat skipper, is responsible for the haven. Paynter brings disabled birds to the sanctuary. In the boat sea gull and pelican circles it is said Paynter is given credit for saving the lives of hundreds of birds.

Short Story -:- Desert Code

Dave Martin drew rein on the summit of the hill. Turning in the saddle he surveyed the wide sweep of valley that lay between him and the clattered shacks, slag heaps and derricks perched on the distant slope.

Randsburg and Johannesburg, twin mining towns on the edge of the Mohave, lay behind him. Ahead, freedom from the desert and his wild, wayward life.

A light mist was filling the basin and shrouding the slopes. Scrawny chapparal, palo verde and stunted Joshua trees, grotesque and indistinct in the dusk. Afar the eerie wailing of a lone coyote. Then silence.

Presently the canyon widened into another valley, some three or four miles in length and about a mile in width. Proceeding cautiously now, Martin held close to the southern wall of this valley, keeping as far distant as possible from the silica mine on the opposite slope.

The flicker of lights indicated the presence of the night shift at work. The rattle of silica dropping down the 800-foot wooden chute echoed noisily in the stillness of the night.

It was nearing midnight when Martin dismounted and led his horse out of the creek bed, up a trail in the sheer rock wall of the canyon. It was a trail that would have escaped detection even in broad daylight by all except those who were aware of its presence. The path ended abruptly where two giant boulders were lodged in a crevice.

Wrapping himself in his blanket, and using the saddle bags for pillow, Martin lay down on the flint-like surface of the floor and was soon fast asleep.

It was still dark when he arose, refreshed, fed his horse some oats and partook sparingly of the food and water that he carried for himself.

He shivered from the tang of the desert night air. Knowing that the heat of the day would soon be upon him he rode briskly, eager to place as many miles between himself and Randsburg before the Mohave succumbed to the torrid rays of an August sun.

His first impulse had been to reach civilization as quickly as possible. Discretion, however, overruled that urge.

"Better take things easy for a spell," he thought grimly. "Lot of time to spend this later on," patting the saddle bags.

For two days and nights he rode north, sparing neither the horse nor himself.

On the morning of the third day he rode boldly along a narrow trail that connects with the Kern Canyon road, secure that his doubling and back-tracking tactics had shaken off any possible pursuers. Along this trail he proceeded for upwards of a mile.

Here it skirted a protruding ledge of rock, doubling back at a right angle. Rounding this bend Dave Martin suddenly drew rein, pulling his horse back on its haunches.

There in the trail before him lay a slim-legged, tawny-coated horse . . . motionless. Beside the horse, and pinned by one leg, the figure of a young girl!

The figure moved, painfully it seemed. Then the girl opened her eyes and looked up at him, surveying him with a mixture of gladness and anguish in her glance.

"Alive!" he muttered, brightening. "I thought——"

"Of course, I'm alive!" retorted the girl lightly. "But no gentleman would stand there looking at me!"

"My leg is numb," she responded.

"I see." Martin nodded. "We'll have you free in a jiffy."

While he was tugging at the horse he noticed a tiny hole in its forehead where she had put the animal out of its misery. In a brief space, exercising a superhuman strength born of necessity, the girl was soon able to wriggle her leg free.

She stood up, swaying on her feet, and would have fallen had not Martin caught her firmly around the waist.

"Had you been lying there long?" he asked.

"Since last night," she replied, repressing a shudder.

"I was riding along this trail when the horse suddenly slipped and fell, breaking one of its forelegs. It threw me underneath, pinning me tight to the ground. I—I shot it, to put it out of its agony."

"By the way," he queried abruptly, "what were you doing up on this trail by yourself? You don't look as though—"

"As though I'm used to the mountains?" she finished, with a wry smile. "I'm not, I guess. I thought I was taking a short cut to Randsburg, and got lost somehow."

"To Randsburg?" he echoed, startled by the sound of the name. "Why were you going there?"

"To see dad. He's superintendent of the Golden Aster. James Evans is his name. Why, do you know him?" she broke off quickly, as Martin started as though he had been struck.

"Yes! That is, I mean I've heard of him," muttered Martin slowly. "And you're Natalie Evans?"

"How you're going to get there?" he offered.

She nodded again. He was wondering the self-same thing. Obviously he could not leave this girl alone in the mountains. She could neither walk back over the trail to the nearest habitation, nor could she continue to Randsburg by herself.

And yet . . . why not? What was this girl to him? He had robbed her father's mine. Why should he sacrifice his own freedom to help her?

It was a strange, inexplicable impulse that was forming in his mind. It meant the end of his freedom, giving up the gold in his saddlebags.

"Come!" he said crisply. "You mount my horse. I've . . . I've just come from Randsburg, but I'll take you back there."

"Oh!" she repeated, rising from the rock and laying a slim hand on his coat. He trembled at the softness of her touch. "Will you? That'll be just splendid!" she exclaimed.

Frogs Burn Alcohol Scientists Discover

PARIS—(INS)—Frogs and alcoholism were the subjects of a serious discussion recently held at the French Academy under the Cupola. Scientist Nuleux established the fact that the little frog burns alcohol in its organism in much the same manner as the rabbit or the dog and this combustion obeys the law of Vant Hoff.

Auto Violators Pay $220,000 in Fines

HARTFORD, Conn.—(INS.)—Motor vehicle law violators paid the state of Connecticut over $220,000 in the year 1930. Terms aggregating 111 years, 337 days were served by offenders who were sentenced to jail. For speeding $52,626 was paid to the state; for using liquor when driving $20,068 was paid.

Graduates Barred From Yale's Gym

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—INS.)—Yale graduates here were more than shocked when word went forth that they were to be barred from using the Yale University gymnasium. Equally perturbed were the heads of public schools who had been able to teach their swimming teams in the Carnegie pool.

Graphic Outlines of History
By M. A. HANLON

The Fountain of Youth

In 1513, Ponce de Leon, an old Spanish soldier, was thrilled by the marvelous story of a fountain of youth. Immediately he started out with two ships toward the Bahamas, and finally landed in what is now Florida. To the left is shown De Leon about to bathe in what he thought was his fountain of youth, only to realize later that the story was a myth.
